IDENTITY IS MYSTERY

Coroner Declares He Believes Victims Come From Good Family

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 24.—(AP)—William Kasparvich, of state police tonight announced the finding of a black leather bag, containing 15 girls' dresses of three sizes and a man's and woman's clothing near a road on which the bodies of three girls were found today.

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Three girls found dead today on a lonely mountainside near Huntsdale may have died from carbon monoxide poisoning, physicians said tonight at the conclusion of their autopsies.

An official statement by the coroner, A. E. Haegele, said:

"The autopsies on chest and abdomen showed everything normal.

"The case depends on an analysis of the stomachs and blood and on the confession of the person or persons who committed the crime."

W. Baird Stuart, autopsy physician, said: "No external or internal marks of violence were found. There has been some discussion of carbon monoxide poisoning."

Asked why he considered the poison theory, he said: "Lack of other evidence."

Haegele said one of the girls, about 10 or 11 years old, was "criminally attacked before death." Dr. Stuart said she had been attacked, but he did not know if it was a criminal case. The other two showed no signs of assault.

The other girls were between seven and eight and 15 and 16 years old.

Dr. Stuart said: "I would judge they had been dead from 24 to 48 hours."

Two men found the bodies huddled under a blanket today. A nation-wide check-up of missing children began at once.

RENOVIZE PLEDGES RAPIDLY REDEEMED

More Than Eighty Per Cent Of Promises Are Carried Out

Nearly 80 per cent of the pledges made in the "Renovize the Twin Cities" campaign have already been redeemed, it was announced Saturday at the campaign headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce. Up to date the redeemed pledges are represented by a total of $278,098.08 actually spent on repairs, alterations, remodeling and refurnishing homes in the two cities. The total amount pledged in the campaign was $357,019.63.

Classification of the various jobs comprised in the redemption of pledges was given as follows:

Forty electrical work, 64 plumbing, 399 painting, 137 paper hanging, 304 roofing, 171 general repairs, 54 new floors, 62 alterations and additions, 3 plaster, 9 new screens, 23 cement and brick, 7 store buildings repaired, 10 awnings, 4 shrubbery, 39 new construction, 1 plate glass window. Amount spent, $254,518.03.

New furnishings were as follows: Fifty bed room suites, 31 living room suites, 12 porch sets, 46 rugs, 9 bath room fixtures, 2 pianos, 1 chifforobe, 35 gas ranges and heaters, 25 refrigerators, 2 floor lamps, 10 radios, 1 canner and sealer, 1 bar fixtures, 13 mattresses, 8 kitchen cabinets, 21 dining room suites, 1 electric wash machine, 1 vacuum cleaner, 1 cooling system in store, 3 draperies, 1 electric fan, 2 restaurant fixtures, 1 office fixtures. Amount spent $23,580.05.

U. S. STANDS READY TO END AGREEMENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Japan's blunt announcement of its intention to denounce the Washington naval treaty today prompted the state department to be prepared to carry out its treaty-ordained duty to officially end the agreement.

Japanese spokesmen have said repeatedly that Japan would abrogate the treaty this year and Hirosi Saito, the Japanese ambassador, gave additional unofficial warning in his Philadelphia speech last night that he would serve notice of the treaty's death before December 31.

The treaty itself provides that any of the contracting powers may, on or after December 31, give notice of an intention to terminate the treaty two years from that date by formally notifying the United States, custodian of the original document.

AT LAST, the world has a real sea serpent, if scientists of British Columbia are not deceived. Prince Rupert, B. BIG SALES DAY SCHEDULED IN CITY TOMORROW

Monroe Merchants Arrange Exceptional Bargains For Monday

"All roads lead to Monroe, Monday, November 26," is the slogan of a merchandise sales program of noteworthy proportions sponsored by a large group of Monroe merchants.

Similar group offerings of unusual bargains have been made available to the public of northeast Louisiana on special days in past years, and on each of the special days shoppers come here from virtually every parish in the area to take advantage of the slashed prices of merchandise. Even during the depression, "Monroe Days" brought large numbers of shoppers to the city.

Now that economic conditions in the nation and this particular area are definitely on the upgrade, with local merchants reporting that their regular sales have greatly increased, tomorrow's "Monroe Day" is expected to be the most successful observed in several years.

Because of the variety of merchandise offered by the various business houses participating in the sale, the public may secure at a large price practically any desired article of staple and nationally advertised merchandise.

Local residents, accustomed to studying ads of newspapers and watching the ads for bargains in merchandise they anticipate buying, can easily go downtown and secure their merchandise. Out-of-town shoppers, to whom a trip to Monroe is an occasional or rare event, may perform a double service to themselves, their families or friends on "Monroe Day" by combining their shopping for immediate needs with their Christmas shopping.

Stocks of merchandise which will be on sale tomorrow may be sold out in the immediate future, and replaced with new merchandise priced higher because the trend of prices is upward.

A further advantage in shopping for Christmas goods on "Monroe Day" is avoiding the bustle and milling of Christmas shopping crowds and the possibility of raw, cold weather and rain.

AID SOUGHT IN HUNT FOR DUTCH SCHULTZ

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The treasury department today asked the cooperation of the department of justice in the search for Dutch Schultz, of New York, indicted in 1933 for violation of the federal income tax law.

This was announced today by J. Edgar Hoover, investigative chief of the department of justice.

Schultz, notorious New York character, has a criminal record showing twelve arrests for various charges ranging from homicide to assault.

He was acquitted on all the charges except one for unlawful entry, on which he received an indefinite sentence in 1919.

Schultz is reported to have conducted a flourishing beer business during the prohibition era.

Since his indictment on January 25, 1933, on the tax charge, he has been the objective of a far-flung treasury hunt but has so far eluded capture.

POLICE PUSHING EFFORT TO HALT AUTO THIEVERY

Negro Is Captured In Car After He Smashes Glass Window

Police here have been exerting special efforts to arrest thieves who have been taking a variety of articles from automobiles parked downtown, and with the arrest of a negro who is held to answer a charge of breaking the glass pane of a car and removing clothing from the car, L. V. Tarver, superintendent of police, Saturday issued a note of warning to the public.

Superintendent Tarver said that traveling men, especially, have been accustomed to leaving valuable articles in their automobiles when they park the cars overnight on the streets or parking lots. In most instances, there is no necessity for this, as hotel attendants, or the car owners themselves, can easily remove the articles to their rooms or some other place within the hotels, the superintendent said.

Local residents, similarly, may avoid the possibility of thefts from their automobiles by not leaving overcoats, bundles, sacks of groceries or other things unattended in their automobiles.

The extent to which thieves who take articles from automobiles will go in perpetrating their work is shown by the breaking of glass in automobiles, by the quickness with which they work immediately after cars are parked, and by a recent case in which a traveling man parked his automobile near a cafeteria, for the purpose of eating supper, and upon returning to the car 30 minutes later found that a thief had used tools to remove a steamer trunk from the rear of the car.

Many radiator caps have been reported stolen recently.

The negro now held by police for theft from automobiles, John Curry, 23, was arrested Friday night on the Hotel Alvis parking lot, where two thefts from cars took place recently.

More Persons Using City Service After New Machines Arrive

A material increase in the volume of passenger traffic handled by the municipal transportation system has been made since new buses were put into service two weeks ago, J. M. Brothers, superintendent, said Saturday. This increase was noticeable both in the north end of town, where bus service was partly substituted.

Many persons who formerly drove to work in their automobiles are now leaving their cars at home and riding to work on the buses, Mr. Brothers said. Buses are more convenient partly because the necessity of making some of the transfers has been eliminated, the transportation superintendent said. It is also easier to get on and off the buses than the street car. In the north end of town the bus line covers a larger area than did the street car line, as it is now being run on Third street, which allows traffic to come from both sides, whereas traffic could come from but one side to reach the street car line on Riverside.

In order to give the different vehicles of the transportation system a uniform appearance, the street cars are being painted to conform with the buses. It is planned to paint six of these cars, four of which are being used for regular service. Others are used during the peak traffic periods of the day.

New colors for the street cars will be green, trimmed in red and with light colors for the window frames and yellow letters. These are the colors with which the buses are now painted.

Monroe Man Is Held Up By Two Negroes

Pressing against the back of their victim an instrument he believed was a pistol, two negroes last night held up and robbed Gayle Stokes, 603 Louisville avenue, of $11 and a gold nugget valued at $13, he reported to police. The robbery took place in the 200 block of North Sixth street.

Stokes told police he was walking downtown from his residence when the robbery occurred. He described one of the negroes as being tall, slender, with small features, and wearing a dark corduroy jacket and dark corduroy trousers. The other negro was said to be short and to have worn overalls and a jumper.

WORK ON MONROE BRIDGE TO START IN NEXT 2 WEEKS

Ouachita Span Expected To Be Completed Within 8 Months

CONTRACTS AWARDED

Work of completing the bridge across the Ouachita river here at Louisville avenue probably will be started within a week or 10 days and may be completed within six to eight months, it was learned here Saturday. The work will be done under two contracts, one calling for completing the approaches, including the remaining concrete work, and the other for erecting the steel.

Meyer Greenwald of the Central Construction company of Monroe, the firm which was awarded the contract for the approaches, said Saturday his firm would start work as soon as a work order was received from the state highway department, which he expects will be within the next week or 10 days.

Contract for erecting the steel was awarded the Vincennes Bridge company of Vincennes, Ind., for $255,607.90. The contract price to Central Construction company was $73,371.23.

Mr. Greenwald estimated that his firm could complete the work called for in its contract within four months if the weather continues favorable. An extreme rise in the river would retard the work, he said, but a rise of at least four or five feet would be required to interfere seriously with the work.

Meyer Greenwald has been operating here for a number of years under the name of Meyer J. Greenwald Construction company. With two of his brothers, he has formed a new company and is now operating two concerns. The Central Construction company is composed of Meyer Greenwald, Vivian Greenwald and D. L. Greenwald, brothers and all residents of Monroe.

No work has been done on the bridge proper within the last two years, although mattresses were laid on the bed of the river to prevent washing around the piers. Piers were erected by Stevens Bros. and Shader, who had the full contract. This firm gave up the contract after the highway department had ordered a suspension lasting about two years on account of the financial situation.

During the time the depression was at its height traffic was lessened to a considerable extent and the need of the bridge was not so keenly felt, except by those who were obliged to pay toll for crossing the bridge maintained by the city of Monroe. During recent months, however, improved business and industrial conditions have caused a large increase in traffic, as was further evidenced Saturday, when the downtown section was unusually crowded with

Nation Joins Hungary In Demand For Probe Of Slav Charges

ROME, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Italy jumped square into the middle of the Balkan battle over international terrorism today, lining up with Hungary in demanding immediate investigation of Yugoslav charges linking Hungary with the Marseilles murders.

(A complaint Yugoslavia filed with the League of Nations this week alleged Hungarian "complicity" in the assassination of the Slav king, Alexander, last month, and charged Hungary harbored terrorists.)

"A nation cannot remain under accusations so grave as those advanced against Hungary by the Serb memorial," an official foreign office communique said.

"Therefore Italy has demanded that Yugoslavia be made to prosecute her case immediately and Hungary be permitted immediate defense."

"The situation engendered by Yugoslavia's action," the communique said, "is delicate," but it added that re-

The annual roll call of the Ouachita chapter of the Red Cross neared the $6,000 mark in its climb to a $10,000 goal when reports were received Saturday night at the campaign headquarters.

Incomplete figures showed that approximately 2,000 members had been enrolled in the chapter and nearly $3,900 pledged in contributions.

Indications are that the close of the campaign will witness the largest enrollment of Red Cross members at any time since the World war.

L. P. Abernathy, chairman of the Ouachita chapter, expressed gratification Saturday night over the progress of the campaign thus far and voiced appreciation of the efforts that have been put forth by the campaign workers under Chairman Joe Isaacman.

"We haven't reached our goal yet, of course," said Mr. Abernathy, "but the results achieved thus far are extremely encouraging, and we are counting on the support of the people of the parish to provide the means whereby we will be able to do a better job in relief work than has ever been possible in the past."

In the rural areas new interest has been manifest to a degree that has been most encouraging to the chapter

MONSTER'S BONES BEING UNEARTHED IN L'SALLE AREA

J. L. Sills Excavates Remains Of Animal 90 Feet In Length

Skeletal remains of a prehistoric creature, which information from the Smithsonian Institute, at Washington, D. C., reveals was a monster 90 feet in length, having 68 ribs and a head five feet in length, are being unearthed by J. L. Sills, of Clarks, at a location about 15 miles southeast of Clarks, in LaSalle parish.

The remains of the huge animal are the second such skeleton found in the United States, the first skeleton having been found in Caldwell parish about eight miles east of Columbia, 103 years ago, according to records of the Smithsonian Institute reported to Mr. Sills.

R. H. Murdaugh, Monroe naturalist, in charge of the natural history museum sponsored by the Ouachita Coca-Cola Bottling company, who reported to The World the presence of the skeleton Mr. Sills is excavating, said the area in which the two skeletons were found gives abundant and readily apparent proof that it was once covered by the sea. In the deep ravines of the area earth has been washed away from the former rock bottom of the sea and bared forth layers of fossil shells and coral as they were imbedded in the bottom of the sea, Mr. Murdaugh said.

The naturalist reported that pearl shells may be picked up in abundance in the area, a circumstance which he has not noted in explorations along the gulf coast. Small deposits resembling mica and sulphur have been found in the area by Mr. Murdaugh. He said that the area provides an interesting field of study for persons interested in natural history and geological formations.

Mr. Sills, in his excavation of the skeletal remains of the prehistoric creature, makes only occasional trips to its location to carry on the work. To date, he has excavated 14 vertebrae. Each of the vertebrae is about

PROBE KIDNAPING AT BATON ROUGE

Woman Found Bound And Unconscious Says She Was Abducted

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Police and parish authorities tonight pieced together fragments of a woman's story of abduction to determine definitely the motive and individuals responsible for her narrated experience of having been forced into a car and threatened with disfigurement.

Mrs. L. H. Williams, 40, found unconscious by police with her hands tied behind her on a residential thoroughfare, said she was abducted while walking from the home of one friend toward the residence of another.

She was taken to a sanitarium to recover from shock.

Mrs. Williams said her abductors included two men, one white and the other negro, and two women.

She told Assistant District Attorney Fred S. LeBlanc that she was compelled to enter an automobile, and to swallow something bitter, and that one of her captors threatened to throw something in her face.

Authorities said the woman was separated from her husband, who lived next door to the house of the friend Mrs. Williams said she had just left when compelled to enter the car.

SOLON PREDICTS NO 1935 COTTON LOANS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 24.—(AP)—U. S. Senator John H. Bankhead of Alabama, in a letter to the Commercial Appeal, predicts government loans to cotton farmers will not be possible next year.

"As one who secured the appropriation of $100,000,000 to finance the plow-up campaign last year," wrote Senator Bankhead, author of the Bankhead cotton control act, "and who arranged with the president for the 10-cent loan last year, and with the aid of Oscar Johnston (manager of the AAA cotton option pool) secured the 12-cent loan this year, I want to take this occasion to say to all concerned that as a result of my experience and contacts in these offices, and in view of the millions of bales of cotton now held by the government, it is my positive judgment that no loan plan can be expected next year."

The senator made clear that he "has no authority to speak for the administration."

ROOSEVELT HOLDS BUSINESS CONFAB WITH EDSEL FORD

Is Their First Meeting Since Row Over NRA Automobile Code

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 24.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and Edsel Ford, automobile manufacturer, got together today for a business talk which brought a "very hopeful and optimistic" report from Ford.

It was the first meeting of the two since the row between Henry Ford and the administration over subscribing to the NRA automobile code but there was no sign today of hard feelings.

"We are very hopeful and optimistic about business conditions," said Ford.

"It is certainly true in our industry and I hear favorable reports all over the country. In stepping up our production to 1,000,000 cars in 1935 we are confident we have come out of the trough and are headed for sustained recovery."

Ford, whose visit was to personal friends, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Pearson, of Detroit, met the president at the open air swimming pool where Mr. Roosevelt goes every day for a plunge and some water polo.

The meeting was most cordial. Ford was promptly invited to dinner tonight in the Little White House cottage high up on the hillside.

While stating he had no intention of signing the NRA compliance code he insisted to newspapermen that his company was "complying 100 per cent

ROGERS HAS HIS SAY

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 24.—(Special)—It's been hard for nations to start another war. Because they didn't have any particular reason, or alignment. But now it looks like the next war will be between the nations that were invited to the big English wedding and those that were not. The funny part about it is, the whole mess of 'em are all kinfolks and nobody can fall out and get as sore at each other as kinfolks. That Queen Marie strain seems to have run a more direct line and stayed longer in the ermine than any strain in Europe. Well, the whole thing makes good reading and that's about all society things are for.

Jury Deliberates Only Two Hours And Two Minutes At Chicago

LONG TRIAL IS ENDED

'This Is Start Of My Vindication,' Asserts Aged Defendant

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(AP)—In two hours and two minutes deliberation today, twelve federal court jurors shattered the government's charges of a $100,000,000 mail fraud against Samuel Insull and his 16 business associates with a verdict of acquittal.

Between lunch time and the dinner hour, the voluminous case, against the ruler of a one time two billion dollar utility system was put into the hands of a jury and decided in his favor.

The jury's decision, read in a hushed courtroom by Foreman John D. Lent, came with a rapidity startling to defense attorneys and prosecutors alike.

The case was developed from nearly five tons of business records, but when the jury men retired to their room they sent out only for three letters.

United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green, who had worked for nearly two years to attain a different result, took the verdict with rancor.

"The government presented its case "we gave everything that we had to it."

The case, in which the Chicago utilities builder and his aides were charged with bilking hundreds of investors of huge sum, went to the jury at 2:21 o'clock (central standard time) following a two hour charge by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

At 4:23 o'clock, the jurors sent out word they had agreed. Prosecutors, defendants and the judge had left the building, expecting no such speed. Bailiffs hurriedly set out to bring them back to court.

The courtroom quickly filled first with spectators who had lingered in the corridor, then with relatives of the 17 defendants. Insull came in,

STRANGE SLAYING CASE CONCLUDED

Wealthy Man Acquitted Of 'Mockery' Killing Of Osteopath

SEATTLE, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Charles Garfield Duke, wealthy property owner, was acquitted tonight of the "mockery slaying" of Dr. Leon W. Squier six weeks ago. The jury was out two hours and a half.

Duke had admitted shooting the osteopath because he had been "goaded beyond human endurance." For more than a year the two men had been at odds in a strange feud over a rent bill.

The strange quarrel which ended in the shooting when Dr. Squier and Dr. N. E. Nelson, dentist tenants of Duke's building, felt behind in their rent, and asked Duke to reduce it. He refused, and they moved away. He sued them, and the case was settled out of court.

Witnesses testified Duke then began a "campaign of public humiliation" against them, shouting at them in the streets:

"Why don't you pay your honest debts?"

Squier retorted by mimicking Duke, donning a grotesque costume and aping the elderly man until he was furious. Once before the fatal shooting they clashed in a bakery shop, witnesses testified, and on that occasion Duke was said to have struck Squier with a cane while the doctor retaliated by slapping Duke's eye.

When he fell mortally wounded in the street fronting Duke's home six weeks ago, Dr. Squier was masquerading in silk hat, spectacles, long black coat, and a broomstick cane.

U. S. STANDS READY TO END AGREEMENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Japan's blunt announcement of its intention to denounce the Washington naval treaty today prompted the state department to be prepared to carry out its treaty-ordained duty to officially end the agreement.

Japanese spokesmen have said repeatedly that Japan would abrogate the treaty this year and Hirosi Saito, the Japanese ambassador, gave additional unofficial warning in his Philadelphia speech last night that he would serve notice of the treaty's death before December 31.

The treaty itself provides that any of the contracting powers may, on or after December 31, give notice of an intention to terminate the treaty two years from that date by formally notifying the United States, custodian of the original document.

BIG SALES DAY SCHEDULED IN CITY TOMORROW

Monroe Merchants Arrange Exceptional Bargains For Monday

"All roads lead to Monroe, Monday, November 26," is the slogan of a merchandise sales program of noteworthy proportions sponsored by a large group of Monroe merchants.

Similar group offerings of unusual bargains have been made available to the public of northeast Louisiana on special days in past years, and on each of the special days shoppers come here from virtually every parish in the area to take advantage of the slashed prices of merchandise. Even during the depression, "Monroe Days" brought large numbers of shoppers to the city.

Now that economic conditions if the nation and this particular area are definitely on the upgrade, with local merchants reporting that their regular sales have greatly increased, tomorrow's "Monroe Day" is expected to be the most successful observed in several years.

Because of the variety of merchandise offered by the various business houses participating in the sale, the public may secure at a bargain price practically any desired article of staple and nationally advertised merchandise.

Local residents, accustomed to studying ads of newspapers and watching the ads for bargains in merchandise they anticipate buying, can easily go downtown and secure their merchandise. Out-of-town shoppers, to whom a trip to Monroe is an occasional or rare event, may perform a double service to themselves, their families or friends on "Monroe Day" by combining their shopping for immediate needs with their Christmas shopping.

Stocks of merchandise which will be on sale tomorrow may be sold out in the immediate future, and replaced with new merchandise priced higher because the trend of prices is upward.

A further advantage in shopping for Christmas goods on "Monroe Day" is avoiding the bustle and milling of Christmas shopping crowds and the possibility of raw, cold weather and rain.

AID SOUGHT IN HUNT FOR DUTCH SCHULTZ

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The treasury department today asked the cooperation of the department of justice in the search for Dutch Schultz, of New York, indicted in 1933 for violation of the federal income tax law.

This was announced today by J. Edgar Hoover, investigative chief of the department of justice.

Schultz, notorious New York character, has a criminal record showing twelve arrests for various charges ranging from homicide to assault.

He was acquitted on all the charges except one for unlawful entry, on which he received an indefinite sentence in 1919.

Schultz is reported to have conducted a flourishing beer business during the prohibition era.

Since his indictment on January 25, 1933, on the tax charge, he has been the objective of a far-flung treasury hunt but has so far eluded capture.

POLICE PUSHING EFFORT TO HALT AUTO THIEVERY

Negro Is Captured In Car After He Smashes Glass Window

Police here have been exerting special efforts to arrest thieves who have been taking a variety of articles from automobiles parked downtown, and with the arrest of a negro who is held to answer a charge of breaking the glass pane of a car and removing clothing from the car, L. V. Tarver, superintendent of police, Saturday issued a note of warning to the public.

Superintendent Tarver said that traveling men, especially, have been accustomed to leaving valuable articles in their automobiles when they park the cars overnight on the streets or parking lots. In most instances, there is no necessity for this, as hotel attendants, or the car owners themselves, can easily remove the articles to their rooms or some other place within the hotels, the superintendent said.

Local residents, similarly, may avoid the possibility of thefts from their automobiles by not leaving overcoats, bundles, sacks of grocrries or other things unattended in their automobiles.

The extent to which thieves who take articles from automobiles will go in perpetrating their work is shown by the breaking of glass in automobiles, by the quickness with which they work immediately after cars are parked, and by a recent case in which a traveling man parked his automobile near a cafeteria, for the purpose of eating supper, and upon returning to the car 30 minutes later found that a thief had used tools to remove a steamer trunk from the rear of the car.

Many radiator caps have been reported stolen recently.

The negro now held by police for theft from automobiles, John Curry, 23, was arrested Friday night on the Hotel Alvis parking lot, where two thefts from cars took place recently.

More Persons Using City Service After New Machines Arrive

A material increase in the volume of passenger traffic handled by the municipal transportation system has been made since new buses were put into service two weeks ago, J. M. Brothers, superintendent, said Saturday. This increase was noticeable both in the north end of town, where bus service was partly substituted.

Many persons who formerly drove to work in their automobiles are now leaving their cars at home and riding to work on the buses, Mr. Brothers said. Buses are more convenient partly because the necessity of making some of the transfers has been eliminated, the transportation superintendent said. It is also easier to get on and off the buses than the street car. In the north end of town the bus line covers a larger area than did the street car line, as it is now being run on Third street, which allows traffic to come from both sides, whereas traffic could come from but one side to reach the street car line on Riverside.

In order to give the different vehicles of the transportation system a uniform appearance, the street cars are being painted to conform with the buses. It is planned to paint six of these cars, four of which are being used for regular service. Others are used during the peak traffic periods of the day.

New colors for the street cars will be green, trimmed in red and with light colors for the window frames and yellow letters. These are the colors with which the buses are now painted.

Monroe Man Is Held Up By Two Negroes

Pressing against the back of their victim an instrument he believed was a pistol, two negroes last night held up and robbed Gayle Stokes, 603 Louisville avenue, of $11 and a gold nugget valued at $13, he reported to police. The robbery took place in the 200 block of North Sixth street.

Stokes told police he was walking downtown from his residence when the robbery occurred. He described one of the negroes as being tall, slender, with small features, and wearing a dark corduroy jacket and dark corduroy trousers. The other negro was said to be short and to have worn overalls and a jumper.

WORK ON MONROE BRIDGE TO START IN NEXT 2 WEEKS

CONTRACTS AWARDED

Work of completing the bridge across the Ouachita river here at Louisville avenue probably will be started within a week or 10 days and may be completed within six to eight months, it was learned here Saturday. The work will be done under two contracts, one calling for completing the necessary concrete work and the other for erecting the steel.

Meyer Greenwald of the Central Construction company of Monroe, the firm which was awarded the contract for the approaches, including the remaining concrete work, said Saturday his firm would start work as soon as a work order was received from the state highway department, which he expects will be within the next week or 10 days.

Contract for erecting the steel was awarded the Vincennes Bridge company of Vincennes, Ind., for $255,607.90. The contract price to Central Construction company was $73,371.23.

Mr. Greenwald estimated that his firm could complete the work called for in its contract within four months if the weather continues favorable. An extreme rise in the river would retard the work, he said, but a rise of at least four or five feet would be required to interfere seriously with the work.

Meyer Greenwald has been operating here for a number of years under the name of Meyer J. Greenwald Construction company. With two of his brothers, he has firmed a new company and is now operating two concerns. The Central Construction company is composed of Meyer Greenwald, Vivian Greenwald and D. L. Greenwald, brothers and all residents of Monroe.

No work has been done on the bridge proper within the last two years, although mattresses were laid on the bed of the river to prevent washing around the piers. Piers were erected by Stevens Bros. and Shafer, who had the full contract. This firm gave up the contract after the highway department had ordered a suspension lasting about two years on account of the financial situation.

During the time the depression was at its height traffic was lessened to a considerable extent and the need of the bridge was not so keenly felt, except by those who were obliged to pay toll for crossing the bridge maintained by the city of Monroe. During recent months, however, improved business and industrial conditions have caused a large increase in traffic, as was further evidenced Saturday, when the downtown section was unusually crowded with

ROME, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Italy jumped square into the middle of the Balkan battle over international terrorism today, lining up with Hungary in demanding immediate investigation of Yugoslav charges linking Hungary with the Marseilles murders.

(A complaint Yugoslavia filed with the League of Nations this week alleged Hungarian "complicity" in the assassination of the Slav king, Alexander, last month, and charged Hungary harbored terrorists.)

"A nation cannot remain under accusations so grave as those advanced Hungary by the Serb memorial," an official foreign office communique said.

"Theretore Italy has demanded that Yugoslavia be made to prosecute her case immediately and Hungary be permitted immediate defense."

"The situation engendered by Yugoslavia's action," the communique said, "is delicate," but it added that re-

The annual roll call of the Ouachita chapter of the Red Cross neared the $6,000 mark in its climb to a $10,000 goal when reports were received Saturday night at the campaign headquarters.

Incomplete figures showed that approximately 2,000 members had been enrolled in the chapter and nearly $3,900 pledged in contributions.

Indications are that the close of the campaign will witness the largest enrollment of Red Cross members at any time since the World war.

L. P. Abernathy, chairman of the Ouachita chapter, expressed gratification Saturday night over the progress of the campaign thus far and voiced appreciation of the efforts that have been put forth by the campaign workers under Chairman Joe Isaacman.

"We haven't reached our goal yet, of course," said Mr. Abernathy, "but the results achieved thus far are extremely encouraging, and we are counting on the support of the people of the parish to provide the means whereby we will be able to do a better job in relief work than has ever been possible in the past."

In the rural areas new interest has been manifest to a degree that has been most encouraging to the chapter

J. L. Sills Excavates Remains Of Animal 90 Feet In Length

Skeletal remains of a prehistoric creature, which information from the Smithsonian Institute, at Washington, D. C., reveals was a monster 90 feet in length, having 68 ribs and a head five feet in length, are being unearthed by J. L. Sills, of Clarks, at a location about 15 miles southeast of Clarks, in LaSalle parish.

The remains of the huge animal are the second such skeleton found in the United States, the first skeleton having been found in Caldwell parish about eight miles east of Columbia, 103 years ago, according to records of the Smithsonian Institute reported to Mr. Sills.

R. H. Murdaugh, Monroe naturalist, in charge of the natural history museum sponsored by the Ouachita Coca-Cola Bottling company, who reported to The World the presence of the skeleton Mr. Sills is excavating, said the area in which the two skeletons were found gives abundant and readily apparent proof that it was once covered by the sea. In the deep ravines of the area earth has been washed away from the former rock bottom of the sea and bared forth layers of fossil shells and coral as they were imbedded in the bottom of the sea, Mr. Murdaugh said.

The naturalist reported that pearl shells may be picked up in abundance in the area, a circumstance which he has not noted in explorations along the gulf coast. Small deposits resembling mica and sulphur have been found in the area by Mr. Murdaugh. He said that the area provides an interesting field of study for persons interested in natural history and geological formations.

Mr. Sills, in his excavation of the skeletal remains of the prehistoric creature, makes only occasional trips to its location to carry on the work. To date, he has excavated 14 vertebrae. Each of the vertebrae is about

PROBE KIDNAPING AT BATON ROUGE

Woman Found Bound And Unconscious Says She Was Abducted

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Police and parish authorities tonight pieced together fragments of a woman's story of abduction to determine definitely the motive and individuals responsible for her narrated experience of having been forced into a car and threatened with disfigurement.

Mrs. L. H. Williams, 40, found unconscious by police with her hands tied behind her on a residential thoroughfare, said she was abducted while walking from the home of one friend toward the residence of another.

She was taken to a sanitarium to recover from shock.

Mrs. Williams said her abductors included two men, one white and the other negro, and two women.

She told Assistant District Attorney Fred S. LeBlanc that she was compelled to enter an automobile, and to swallow something bitter, and that one of her captors threatened to throw something in her face.

Authorities said the woman was separated from her husband, who lived next door to the house of the friend Mrs. Williams said she had just left when compelled to enter the car.

SOLON PREDICTS NO 1935 COTTON LOANS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 24.—(AP)—U. S. Senator John H. Bankhead of Alabama, in a letter to the Commercial Appeal, predicts government loans to cotton farmers will not be possible next year.

"As one who secured the appropriation of $100,000,000 to finance the plow-up campaign last year," wrote Senator Bankhead, author of the Bankhead cotton control act, "and who arranged with the president for the 10-cent loan last year, and with the aid of Oscar Johnston (manager of the AAA cotton option pool) secured the 12-cent loan this year, I want to take this occasion to say to all concerned that as a result of my experience and contacts in these efforts, and in view of the millions of bales of cotton now held by the government, it is my positive judgment that no loan plan can be expected next year."

The senator made clear that he "has no authority to speak for the administration."

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 24.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and Edsel Ford, automobile manufacturer, got together today for a business talk which brought a "very hopeful and optimistic" report from Ford.

It was the first meeting of the two since the row between Henry Ford and the administration over subscribing to the NRA automobile code but there was no sign today of hard feelings.

"We are very hopeful and optimistic about business conditions," said Ford.

"It is certainly true in our industry and I hear favorable reports all over the country. In stepping up our production to 1,000,000 cars in 1935 we are confident we have come out of the trough and are headed for sustained recovery."

Ford, whose visit was to personal friends, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Pearson, of Detroit, met the president at the open air swimming pool where Mr. Roosevelt goes every day for a plunge and some water polo.

The meeting was most cordial. Ford was promptly invited to dinner tonight in the Little White House cottage high up on the hillside.

While stating he had no intention of signing the NRA compliance code he insisted to newspapermen that his company was "complying 100 per cent

ROGERS HAS HIS SAY

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 24.—(Special)—It's been hard for nations to start another war. Because they didn't have any particular reason, or alignment. But now it looks like the next war will be between the nations that were invited to the big English wedding and those that were not. The funny part about it is, the whole mess of 'em are all kinfolks and nobody can fall out and get as sore at each other as kinfolks. That Queen Marie strain seems to have run a more direct line and stayed longer in the ermine than any strain in Europe. Well, the whole thing makes good reading and that's about all society things are for.

Jury Deliberates Only Two Hours And Two Minutes At Chicago

LONG TRIAL IS ENDED

'This Is Start Of My Vindication,' Asserts Aged Defendant

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(AP)—In two hours and two minutes deliberation today, twelve federal court jurors shattered the government's charges of a $100,000,000 mail fraud against Samuel Insull and his 16 business associates with a verdict of acquittal.

Between lunch time and the dinner hour, the voluminous case, against the ruler of a one time two billion dollar utility system was put into the hands of a jury and decided in his favor.

"This is the start of my vindication."

The jury's decision, read in a hushed courtroom by Foreman John D. Lent, came with a rapidity startling to defense attorneys and prosecutors alike.

The case was developed from nearly five tons of business records, but when the jury men retired to their room they sent out only for three letters.

United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green, who had worked for nearly two years to attain a different result, took the verdict with rancor.

"The government presented its case "we gave everything that we had to it."

The case, in which the Chicago utilities builder and his aides were charged with bilking hundreds of investors of the huge sum, went to the jury at 2:21 o'clock (central standard time) following a two hour charge by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

At 4:23 o'clock, the jurors sent out word they had agreed. Prosecutors, defendants and the judge had left the building, expecting no such speed. Bailiffs hurriedly set out to bring them back to court.

The courtroom quickly filled first with spectators who had lingered in the corridor, then with relatives of the 17 defendants. Insull came in,

STRANGE SLAYING CASE CONCLUDED

Wealthy Man Acquitted Of 'Mockery' Killing Of Osteopath

SEATTLE, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Charles Garfield Duke, wealthy property owner, was acquitted tonight of the "mockery slaying" of Dr. Leon W. Squier six weeks ago. The jury was out two hours and a half.

Duke had admitted shooting the osteopath because he had been "goaded beyond human endurance." For more than a year the two men had been at odds in a strange feud over a rent bill.

The strange quarrel which ended in the shooting when Dr. Squier and Dr. N. E. Nelson, dentist tenants of Duke's building, fell behind in their rent, and asked Duke to reduce it. He refused, and they moved away. He sued them, and the case was settled out of court.

Witnesses testified Duke then began a "campaign of public humiliation" against them, shouting at them in the streets:

"Why don't you pay your honest debts?"

Squier retorted by mimicking Duke, donning a grotesque costume and aping the elderly man until he was furious. Once before the fatal shooting they clashed in a bakery shop, witnesses testified, and on that occasion Duke was said to have struck Squier with a cane while the doctor retaliated by blacking Duke's eye.

When he fell mortally wounded in the street fronting Duke's home six weeks ago, Dr. Squier was masquerading in silk hat, spectacles, long black coat, and a broomstick cane.

Two Suspects Are Held In Mississippi Slaying

McCOMB, Miss., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Two men were held for questioning tonight as officers pushed their investigation of the slaying of Jim Miller, 45, a neighbor of the two men, whose mutilated body was found near the town reservoir in Osyka this morning.

Those held gave the names of Brab Alford and Jim Brock, farmers living southeast of Osyka. Officers said they were seen with Miller late last night and that the three men were reported to have been drinking.

vehicles. This has again caused the need of the bridge to be felt strongly.

One of the contracts for the work on the bridge here bears the title, "state project No. 4604, contract No. 3, F. A. 114-A, re-opened and extended completion of the Ouachita river bridge at Monroe, Louisiana, on the Monroe-Shreveport highway, located in Ouachita parish, route No. 4." The other bears the same title except that it is contract No. 4.

Contract No. 3, which was awarded to the Central Construction company, calls for constructing the roadway approaches and concrete deck girder spans and bents on the approaches to the bridge. Mr. Greenwald said erection of several piers on the east side would be necessary. He will also lay about two blocks of paving on the west side to connect the end of the bridge with highway No. 80.

Contract No. 4 consists of furnishing and erecting the structural steel for six 100-foot deck trusses, one 160-foot Strauss bascule span and concrete and wood decks thereon, furnishing and installing machinery and electrical equipment and lighting and finishing piers and fenders.

The new bridge will be wide enough to accommodate four lanes of traffic and walks on the sides will be six feet wide, thus giving ample room for pedestrians and making it possible for them to pass each other walking single file, as is now necessary.

sponsible Italian circles did not believe it could lead to immediate more serious complications.

A government spokesman asserted one of the attributes of justice is swiftness, and declared it unfair to Hungary as well as dangerous to the peace of Europe to leave such serious charges hanging over her head until the league got ready to consider them in January.

The press agrees that Italy sympathized deeply with Yugoslavia in the loss of her assassinated king and understood her feeling of resentment, but Yugoslav's action in going outside the realm of ordinary law courts to the international tribunal at Geneva was disturbing to the peace of Europe.

Unsupported accusations against Hungary contained in the Yugoslav letter, the newspapers will say, are unjust unless they are presented immediately and accompanied by proof, with Hungary permitted an immediate answer.

16 inches long and 10 inches in diameter. "Knobs" are located at the top of each vertebrae, and underneath them are deep indentations of muscular attachments.

Ribs of the creature were not preserved as well as the vertebrae, and only six or eight inches of their length remain. Their width averages about three inches.

Pictures of the vertebrae were sent to the Smithsonian institute and from them the scientists there discovered that the creature is the second of its kind found in the United States.

Mr. Sills was requested by the institute to continue his excavations, and was requested to notify the institute when the excavation reaches the head of the creature. Workers of the institute will then be sent to remove the head, it was stated.

The scientific name of the creature was reported to Mr. Sills by the institute, but he was said to have lost or misplaced the paper on which the name was written.

In his work as a naturalist, Mr. Murdaugh has come in contact with the location of eight mastadon skeletons in Warren county, Mississippi, of which Vicksburg is the county seat.

UNKNOWN GIRLS ARE FOUND DEAD

they will endeavor to learn what retail stores handled the garments.

A thicket about 20 feet deep separated the damp, leaf-matted bier from a main highway. Coroner Haegele says he believes the little forms were carried there. They lay on an expensive green blanket with satin hems and were covered with a similar blanket. They wore new shoes, green coats with fur collars, and silk underwear.

"The girls all were vaccinated by the same physician," the coroner said. Each had a vaccination mark high on her left arm. He expressed the opinion they came from a "good family."

Sergeant Gene Wood of the Carlisle department voiced the slaying theory.

John E. Clark, and Clark Jardine, employed on the James M. Cameron estate at King's Gap, nearby, found the children and at first thought they were asleep, so cozily were they tucked in beneath the blanket.

Rain drenched the leaf-matted mountainside last night and Coroner Haegele says he believes the bodies were brought there after the rain. Leaves beneath the blanket were wet; the bodies were dry. He fixed the time of death at about 8:30 last night and said he believes the bodies were brought to the woods less than an hour later.

The faces of the children were swollen as if by exposure or poison. Blood smeared the faces of the oldest and youngest but the coroner says this might have come from a nose bleed caused by exposure or a hemorrhage at death.

The spot where the bodies were found is on South mountain, about 15 miles south of Carlisle and about the same distance north of Gettysburg.

It is heavily wooded and is rarely visited except by caretakers and huntsmen.

The coroner says he is inclined to believe the children were carried through the underbrush from a machine parked by the roadside during the night.

He says his belief that the children came from a distance is borne out by the fact that no set of three children have been reported missing in this region.

The investigation is in charge of District Attorney Fred J. Templeton and State Troopers William Kaspervitch and William B. Braddaich.

Although hundreds pressed through the briars to view the bodies, none could identify them and the coroner made preparations to remove them to Carlisle.

A Harrisburg woman, who said her two daughters have disappeared, rushed to the mountainside breathless and on the verge of hysteria, but the children were not hers.

Clark and Jardine were preparing to cut down a massive oak tree when they made the discovery.

Clark said he saw the blankets and walked over to them. He said there were no paths leading to the little clearing, about four feet square. He stooped over and lifted the blanket. At first, he thought the children were asleep.

Lieutenant H. E. McElroy of the state police shook his head gravely and said:

"It looks bad."

A further examination of the bodies showed all three girls had grey eyes. They were attractive, clean and well-nourished.

Elmer Hockley of Pine Grove Furnace, a forest ranger for 18 years, said "I think I have seen them but I don't remember where or when. I am trying to get it straightened out in my mind."

Worms
Threaten City's Children

Most mothers believe their children quite safe from Round Worms. Yet as many as 49 out of every 100 children in certain groups had worms, said U. S. Government experts who examined over 2,000 children in various schools.

Both city and country children are open to infection, because not only fruits and vegetables, but flies, water, pets and playgrounds are sources of infection. Prevention is almost impossible.

Many different signs point to Round Worms: —Loss of weight and appetite, paleness, irritability, itching of nose or fingers, grinding of teeth in sleep, vomiting, etc.

Try Jayne's Vermifuge

Children should begin to gain weight, strength and vigor at once as soon as the worms are gone and they are otherwise normal and healthy. Millions of mothers are grateful for this medicine; a doctor's prescription famous for 104 years. 36 million bottles have been used. Jayne's famous Vermifuge and Tonics can be had at any drug store.

Ancient Sugar Mill Still Used In Terrebonne Parish

HOUMA, La., Nov. 21.—(AP)—If the Frenchman de Bore, who gave south Louisiana its now great sugar industry a century and a half ago with his discoveries of syrup granulation, could return to Terrebonne parish today he would find on Bayou Du Large an old sugar mill still in operation not greatly changed from the one he set up in what is now Audubon Park in New Orleans about the year 1795.

Practically no improvements in equipment, nor modulation in methods, of cuite (syrup cooked a little beyond granulation point) refining and manufacture would find in the ancient, but thoroughly competent, mill operated by the Frederick Brothers, Alfred, Theodule, Alces, Ozeme and Antoile.

There has been one bit of "modernization" that might bewilder de Bore's ghost. It is a 25-horse-power steam engine which provides the power for the cane crusher. It was made by the Shakespeare Foundry in New Orleans in 1850.

There is no scientific regimentation of processes at the Frederick mill, center of an 850-acre plantation, where the brothers grow their own cane. Everything about the old mill is done by hand and intuition.

The brothers need no help from the hydrometer to tell when the syrup is near granulation as it makes its way by huge hand-powered dippers in progressive stages through the five large kettles, smelter-over wood fires.

"Bien," exclaims a Frederick at the fifth and last kettle as he dips in his paddle blade, examining the rich drip along its blade as he brings it out again. That is the signal for another of the brothers to bail out the kettle. In a thick, steaming stream the syrup runs through a wooden gutter to a cypress trough in the next room, where even before it begins to cool, the grains of forming sugar are visible.

The Frederick brothers' mill, which produces about 60 barrels of syrup annually, and enough cuite sugar to supply orders and their own demands, is not the only surviving hand-operated refinery in Louisiana that antedates the Civil war, but it is one of the dozen or more still in operation that has managed to make a profit for its owners. And that goes to prove, think the Frederick brothers, that it doesn't require intricate modern methods and means to wrest a living from south Louisiana's bayous where sugar cane grows for the planting.

The Frederick brothers, ranging in age from 40 to 60, did borrow $300 from the regional agricultural credit corporation last year but they have never actually been "in the red," and never expect to be as long as that 1850 steam-engine and those kettles hold out.

They're quite content with the knowledge and machinery handed down by their father. Even the same variety of cane that was grown on the old plantation in the early 80's is replanted without rotation each year despite the sales talk of a wide-away parish farm agent.

"What's good enough for pa is good enough for us," say the Fredericks, and you may as well let it go at that.

Emphasis was given to the plans by which memberships amongst farmers and their families may be obtained by donation of foodstuffs. The campaign committee regards gifts of food as equivalent to cash, as these can be utilized in supplying the needs of the beneficiaries of Red Cross activities.

On saturday groups of women workers in the city obtained nearly 100 memberships from downtown shoppers during the busy hours of the day. The workers were established at booths in the banks, hotels and post office building.

Additional "hundred per cent" enrollments were reported from three business houses of Monroe, making a total of nearly a score that have achieved a place in the honor roll this year, a larger number than has been reported in any recent year.

and more with the code requirements."

The president, who is conducting a very intensive study of national conditions, listened intently to Ford's business report and in all probability voiced his recently public assertion that when business is able to show some leadership federal emergency agencies for recovery can be related.

Coincidentally, Eugene Black, former governor of the federal reserve board and a special laison officer between the government and the banks, motored here today from Atlanta.

The joint meeting was regarded as significant and as relating to the president's policy to have industry and banking do more for itself in the recovery effort.

Ford heartily endorsed the president's program for cheaper power which was pushed forward in a conference here last night with the government aides.

"That's what we have been advocating," he said. "Cheap power will be a great boon to industry. We favor hydro-electric development."

As for his own industry, Ford said his company has under way $20,000,000 of new construction, $12,000,000 in contracts already made for new equipment.

A few minutes previously, the negro had broken open a pane of another car on the lot and had removed from the car a suit of clothes and a coat, which he placed on the ground, it was stated. The negro then entered the other car, either for the purpose of stealing other articles or hiding, as the officers approached, it was stated. The coat and suit of clothes were returned to their owner, M. G. Smylie, of Gulfport, Miss.

COTTON CHECKS ARE GIVEN TO FARMERS

A total of 575 cotton rental checks were delivered to farmers of Ouachita parish Friday and Saturday by E. R. Strahan, Ouachita parish agricultural agent, and 320 additional checks will be delivered to farmers Monday and Tuesday. The total amount of money represented by all of the checks is approximately $44,000.

Parity checks for farmers of the parish are expected to be sent here in the near future from Washington, D. C.

Mr. Strahan, as he delivered checks to farmers Friday and Saturday, asked each of them his opinion of the Bankhead cotton control act, and learned that they were unanimously in favor of the act.

Some of the farmers, however, were of the opinion that minor changes in the act should be made, and were confident that the changes will be made. Even if the minor changes may not be made, the farmers said they favor the act as it stands because it offers a generally favorable plan and is far better than no plan.

TREASURE HUNT IS CONDUCTED AT HOME

BROOKLYN, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A treasure hunt was conducted through the ramshackle Herle family home today, with $667,050 already turned up—and perhaps a million to come.

Ever since Miss Louisa Herle, 79-year-old recluse, died a month ago, workmen have been hunting the wealth she accumulated in real estate negotiations, with a tidy sum made in the flourishing family grocery store as a nucleus.

Beneath the kitchen linoleum, in her living quarters and in her safe, they found relatively small sums in cash and mortgages. But the rest defied discovery. Then they came to the cellar, littered with junk and plaster.

There, beneath the rubbish, $525,750.77 was found late yesterday in cash, bonds, mortgages, checks and bank books.

It is believed that Miss Herle possessed $1,500,000 at her death. The workers, seeking it at the direction of the executor of the estate, said the walls of the house will be ripped open; the floors lifted and the vents and flues explored.

WORK ON MONROE BRIDGE TO START IN NEXT 2 WEEKS

vehicles. This has again caused the need of the bridge to be felt strongly.

One of the contracts for the work on the bridge here bears the title, "state project No. 4604, contract No. 3, F. A. 114-A, re-opened and extended completion of the Ouachita river bridge at Monroe, Louisiana, on the Monroe-Shreveport highway, located in Ouachita parish, route No. 4." The other bears the same title except that it is contract No. 4.

Contract No. 3, which was awarded to the Central Construction company, calls for constructing the roadway approaches and concrete deck girder spans and bents on the approaches to the bridge. Mr. Greenwald said erection of several piers on the east side would be necessary. He will also lay about two blocks of paving on the west side to connect the end of the bridge with highway No. 80.

Contract No. 4 consists of furnishing and erecting the structural steel for six 100-foot deck trusses, one 160-foot Strauss bascule span and concrete and wood decks thereon, furnishing and installing machinery and electrical equipment and lighting and finishing piers and fenders.

The new bridge will be wide enough to accommodate four lanes of traffic and walks on the sides will be six feet wide, thus giving ample room for pedestrians and making it possible for them to pass each other walking single file, as is now necessary.

ITALIANS JUMP INTO SQUABBLE

sponsible Italian circles did not believe it could lead to immediate more serious complications.

A government spokesman asserted one of the attributes of justice is swiftness, and declared it unfair to Hungary as well as dangerous to the peace of Europe to leave such serious charges hanging over her head until the league got ready to cinsider them in January.

The press agrees that Italy sympathized deeply with Yugoslavia in the loss of her assassinated king and understood her feeling of resentment, but Yugoslav's action in going outside the realm of ordinary law courts to the international tribunal at Geneva was disturbing to the peace of Europe.

Unsupported accusations against Hungary contained in the Yugoslav letter, the newspapers will say, are unjust unless they are presented immediately and accompanied by proof, with Hungary permitted an immediate answer.

MONSTER'S BONES BEING UNEARTHED IN L'SALLE AREA

16 inches long and 10 inches in diameter. "Knobs" are located at the top of each vertebrae, and underneath them are deep indentations of muscular attachments.

Ribs of the creature were not preserved as well as the vertebrae, and only six or eight inches of their length remain. Their width averages about three inches.

Pictures of the vertebrae were sent to the Smithsonian institute and from them the scientists there discovered that the creature is the second of its kind found in the United States.

Mr. Sills was requested by the institute to continue his excavations, and was requested to notify the institute when the excavation reaches the head of the creature. Workers of the institute will then be sent to remove the head, it was stated.

The scientific name of the creature was reported to Mr. Sills by the institute, but he was said to have lost or misplaced the paper on which the name was written.

In his work as a naturalist, Mr. Murdaugh has come in contact with the location of eight mastadon skeletons in Warren county, Mississippi, of which Vicksburg is the county seat.

they will endeavor to learn what retail stores handled the garments.

A thicket about 20 feet deep separated the damp, leaf-matted bier from a main highway. Coroner Haegele says he believes the little forms were carried there. They lay on an expensive green blanket with satin hems and were covered with a similar blanket. They wore new shoes, green coats with fur collars, and silk underwear.

"The girls all were vaccinated by the same physician," the coroner said. Each had a vaccination mark high on her left arm. He expressed the opinion they came from a "good family."

Sergeant Gene Wood of the Carlisle department voiced the slaying theory.

John E. Clark, and Clark Jardine, employed on the James M. Cameron estate at King's Gap, nearby, found the children and at first thought they were asleep, so cozily were they tucked in beneath the blanket.

Rain drenched the leaf-matted mountainside last night and Coroner Haegele says he believes the bodies were brought there after the rain. Leaves beneath the blanket were wet; the bodies were dry. He fixed the time of death at about 8:30 last night and said he believes the bodies were brought to the woods less than an hour later.

The faces of the children were swollen as if by exposure or poison. Blood smeared the faces of the oldest and youngest but the coroner says this might have come from a nose bleed caused by exposure or a hemorrhage at death.

The spot where the bodies were found is on South mountain, about 15 miles south of Carlisle and about the same distance north of Gettysburg. It is heavily wooded and is rarely visited except by caretakers and huntsmen.

The coroner says he is inclined to believe the children were carried through the underbrush from a machine parked by the roadside during the night.

He says his belief that the children came from a distance is borne out by the fact that no set of three children have been reported missing in this region.

The investigation is in charge of District Attorney Fred J. Templeton and State Troopers William Kaspervitch and William B. Braddaich.

Although hundreds pressed through the briars to view the bodies, none could identify them and the coroner made preparations to remove them to Carlisle.

A Harrisburg woman, who said her two daughters have disappeared, rushed to the mountainside breathless and on the verge of hysteria, but the children were not hers.

Clark and Jardine were preparing to cut down a massive oak tree when they made the discovery.

Clark said he saw the blankets and walked over to them. He said there were no paths leading to the little clearing, about four feet square. He stooped over and lifted the blanket.

At first, he thought the children were asleep.

Lieutenant H. E. McElroy of the state police shook his head gravely and said:

"It looks bad."

A further examination of the bodies showed all three girls had grey eyes. They were attractive, clean and well-nourished.

Elmer Hockley of Pine Grove Furnace, a forest ranger for 18 years, said "I think I have seen them but I don't remember where or when. I am trying to get it straightened out in my mind."

Worms

Threaten City's Children

Most mothers believe their children quite safe from Round Worms. Yet as many as 49 out of every 100 children in certain groups had worms, said U. S. Government experts who examined over 2,000 children in various schools.

Both city and country children are open to infection, because not only fruits and vegetables, but flies, water, pets and playgrounds are sources of infection. Prevention is almost impossible.

Many different signs point to Round Worms: —Loss of weight and appetite, paleness, irritability, itching of nose or fingers, grinding of teeth in sleep, vomiting, etc.

Try Jayne's Vermifuge

Children should begin to gain weight, strength and vigor at once as soon as the worms are gone and they are otherwise normal and healthy. Millions of mothers are grateful for this medicine; a doctor's prescription famous for 104 years. 36 million bottles have been used. Jayne's famous Vermifuge and Tonics can be had at any drug store.

Ancient Sugar Mill Still Used In Terrebonne Parish

HOUMA, La., Nov. 21.—(AP)—If the Frenchman de Bore, who gave south Louisiana its now great sugar industry a century and a half ago with his discoveries of syrup granulation, could return to Terrebonne parish today he would find on Bayou Du Lage an old sugar mill still in operation not greatly changed from the one he set up in what is now Audubon Park in New Orleans about the year 1795.

Practically no improvements in equipment, nor modulation in methods, of cuite (syrup cooked a little beyond granulation point) refining and manufacture would find in the ancient, but thoroughly competent, mill operated by the Frederick Brothers, Alfred, Thodule, Alces, Ozeme and Antole.

There has been one bit of "modernization" that might bewilder de Bore's ghost. It is a 25-horse-power steam engine which provides the power for the cane crusher. It was made by the Shakespeare Foundry in New Orleans in 1850.

There is no scientific regimentation of processes at the Frederick mill, center of an 850-acre plantation, where the brothers grow their own cane. Everything about the old mill is done by hand and intuition.

The brothers need no help from the hydrometer to tell when the syrup is near granulation as it makes its way by huge hand-powered dippers in progressive stages through the five large kettles, smelter-over wood fires.

"Bien," exclaims a Frederick at the fifth and last kettle as he dips in his paddle blade, examining the rich drip along its blade as he brings it out again. That is the signal for another of the brothers to bail out the kettle. In a thick, steaming stream the syrup runs through a wooden gutter to a cypress trough in the next room, where even before it begins to cool, the grains of forming sugar are visible.

The Frederick brothers' mill, which produces about 60 barrels of syrup annually, and enough cuite sugar to supply orders and their own demands, is not the only surviving hand-operated refinery in Louisiana that antedates the Civil war, but it is one of the dozen or more still in operation that has managed to make a profit for its owners. And that goes to prove, think the Frederick brothers, that it doesn't require intricate modern methods and means to wrest a living from south Louisiana's bayous where sugar cane grows for the planting.

The Frederick brothers, ranging in age from 40 to 60, did borrow $300 from the regional agricultural credit corporation last year but they have never actually been "in the red," and never expect to be as long as that 1850 steam-engine and those kettles hold out.

They're quite content with the knowledge and machinery handed down by their father. Even the same variety of cane that was grown on the old plantation in the early 80's is replanted without rotation each year despite the sales talk of a wide-away parish farm agent.

"What's good enough for pa is good enough for us," say the Fredericks, and you may as well let it go at that.

COURT PONDERING INJUNCTION MOVE

Pipeline Firm Seeks To Ban Coverdale From Selling Property

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A federal three-judge court today has under advisement a petition by the Louisiana-Arkansas Pipeline company and the Union Sulphur company seeking to enjoin collection by the state of a power tax upon compression stations used to pump natural gas to other states.

The attorneys for the companies asserted that the pumps were used in interstate commerce and were not subject to the special power tax of $1 per horsepower levied by legislative act 6 of 1932. They argued that the tax constituted a burden on interstate commerce and was violative of the federal and state constitutions.

The Louisiana-Arkansas Pipeline company asked for an injunction to restrain Sheriff Milton Coverdale of Ouachita parish from selling its property to satisfy power tax amounting to $10,500.

The Union Sulphur company sought a similar restraining order to prevent Sheriff Henry A. Reid, of Calcasieu, from attempting to sell its property for payment of power tax and penalties amounting to $9,601.

The state asked dismissal of the suit on the grounds that the state supervisor of public accounts had not been made a party of the suit.

Cap'n Axel Haaland Relates Story On Visit At Orleans

By Norman Walker
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24.—Sit upon this barrel head with Cap'n Axel Haaland and hear a story of the sea, a story of Chinese pirates, of murder, kidnaping, ruthless treatment to an old man—of adventure.

Cap'n Haaland was here a few days ago and he related a startling tale of his experiences in the China sea.

"I've been at sea for 50 years," the Cap'n will say, "and I've held a master's license for 29 years. But I never had any other experience like that one, and one was enough, I can tell you that."

He spat in the river lustily and—but let the Cap'n tell his story.

"I was master of the Norwegian freighter, Botnia, at the time," Cap'n Haaland says. "It was on September 12, 1929, and we were bound out for Haichow, China, with a cargo of salt for Shiherduwei, near Chinkiang.

"This section for many years had been famous as one of the pirate nests along the Chinese coast. For some years the salt company where we had loaded our cargo had been paying tribute annually to the pirates to leave their shipping trade alone.

"But the chief of the pirates had died only a few months before," the Cap'n explains, "and his successor had renewed attacks upon shipping in that section.

"Not knowing that such was the case, we sailed out of the harbor, but had only gone a short distance when we ran aground. It seems that the pirates while we were loading in the dead of night had changed the location of the signal buoys in the harbor.

"Before we could do anything about it the pirate boat hove into sight," Cap'n Haaland continues. He stopped to light up his pipe and look over the peaceful Mississippi river shipping scene.

"It was a Chinese junk with sails. As it came close we were greeted with rifle fire which swept our decks and forced us below.

"Soon the junk was alongside and tied up next to us. There were at least 20 of them and they stripped the ship of its stores, confiscated all the valuables and many of the clothes from the members of the crew, and took me and my first mate, Arthur Westreim, prisoners. They left the rest of the crew to shift for themselves.

"For five days we sailed. Westreim and I were locked up in a small room about four feet high while armed guards watched over us. From the open porthole I could see by the sun in which direction we were sailing. For a couple of days we were headed south and then we turned and started north again.

"The fourth day we were brought up on deck. We were in some desolate harbor. Through sign language, the chief of the pirates made us understand we were to be fed. We had eaten nothing since our imprisonment. They fed us some kind of cakes and we set sail again.

"We sailed on until the middle of the next afternoon. Then we dropped anchor. The pirates made us get into a small boat and they rowed us as far as the boat would float. Then we waded in mud up to our knees for about a mile until we reached shore.

"An amusing thing happened in connection with that part of the journey," the captain laughed. "While it was aboard the Botnia and the pirates were firing on us I had forethought to conceal more than $300 I had in bills in my shoes. They had never thought to search there and when we began wading I removed my shoes and, when the pirates were not looking, slipped the money into my pocket so it wouldn't get wet. They never discovered what I had done."

"We walked through rice fields under irrigation for six hours," Cap'n Axel continues his story, "and a stiff north wind was blowing that chilled us through the bone.

"We came within sight of a hill by that time and met with two Chinese boys, one about 15 and the other around 19. Horrified, Westreim and I were forced to look upon a terrible scene.

"The pirate chief seized the smaller boy, threw him to the ground, placed his knee on his chest and with his large hands strangled the boy to death. With this gruesome job done, we continued our journey towards a house on top of the hill, with the larger boy a prisoner.

"By this time, at my age (60 then), as you can well imagine, I was beginning to weaken from that long journey," Cap'n explained, "and it was this which saved me: I began to lag behind more and more and finally I was left behind the rest of the crowd with an armed pirate as guard.

"We were getting close to the house when we heard shooting from a wood nearby. The pirates began to run and my pirate guard motioned for me to do likewise. I fell to the ground and pretended I could not go any further. First the pirate kicked me and then he got raving mad and picked up a big stone and threw it at my head."

Lowering his head, Cap'n Haaland will show you a narrow furrow about four inches long which runs from his right ear part of the way across the top of his skull.

"That's what the stone did and I'm only lucky that I wasn't killed. After giving me another blow on the head with the butt of his rifle, the pirate left me for dead. If he had thought to use one of the long knives he carried in his belt I wouldn't be here to tell the story at all.

"The people who were chasing the pirates," explained the captain, "were Chinese militia summoned by the people in the house on the hill, where the pirates were planning to attack."

The Cap'n goes on to say how the

Mariner Was Captured, Kidnaped, Badly Treated By Buccaneers

Chinese soldiers picked him up and brought him to a hospital in Shanghai where he lay in bed six weeks.

"Shortly after that," Cap'n Haaland winds up his yarn, "I met the mate, Westreim, in Shanghai. From him I learned that he had been rescued by the soldiers, who had finally located the pirates' den and killed not only the pirates who captured us, but many more, about 110 in all."

The ancient mariner, 65 now, can't be kept aport. As captain of the S. S. Eviva, Cap'n Haaland sailed recently for the West Indies and South America.

Diets Should Include Iron, Nutritionist Tells Women

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Housewives may not know it, but their task of choosing foods furnishing 15 milligrams of iron a day is as important as it is difficult, says Miss Aneta Beadle, Purdue university nutritionist.

Fifteen milligrams amount to approximately one two-thousandth of an ounce, so small it defies comprehension. But because iron is important as a blood builder, it is deemed a necessary part of the daily diet.

Among Miss Beadle's suggestions for sources of iron are meat, eggs, some vegetables, some fruits and cereals.

She pointed out, however, that variety is more important than quantity, asserting, for instance, that it would be necessary to eat more than a pound of baked beans or 2 1-2 cups of cooked spinach to get the necessary quota.

Alviso, Cal., oldest chartered town in the state, recently began construction of the first town hall it has ever had. Council meetings previously were held in a school.

S. M. McReynolds Of Monroe Reelected Conference Lay Leader

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The First Methodist church of New Orleans was selected as the place for the 1935 session of the Louisiana conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, at the conference meeting here Saturday. New Orleans won the selection over Minden by a vote of 118 to 70.

The invitation to hold the conference in New Orleans was extended by the pastor of the First church, Dr. W. H. Wallace. And those joining him were Dr. W. W. Holmes, New Orleans; Dr. W. L. Duren, presiding elder of the New Orleans district, and Dr. R. H. Harper of Lafayette. The invitation to Minden was extended by Dr. A. M. Serex, pastor of the Minden church; Tom Connell, a lay member and Dr. George S. Sexton, presiding elder of the Shreveport district.

S. M. McReynolds, of Monroe, was unanimously reelected conference lay leader.

The eighty-ninth annual session of the conference will close here Sunday with the announcement of pastor assignments by Bishop Hoyt M. Dobbs. Ordination ceremonies for deacons and elders will also be held Sunday.

The sessions Sunday will bring to a close one of the largest attended and successful conferences of the church in many years. Throughout the sessions a note of optimism and revived spiritual and financial activities has been sounded.

Saturday afternoon all of the visiting ministers of the conference were guests of Centenary college and Mississippi university at the Centenary-Ole Miss football game.

Friday evening memorial services for ministers who died during the conference year were held. Tributes were paid as follows: F. S. Parker for Thomas Carter; Guy M. Hicks for S. A. Steele; S. A. Seegers for L. I. McCain; K. W. Dodson for H. C. Murphy.

Friday afternoon religious services were held with the Rev. W. H. Wallace of New Orleans delivering the sermon. His text was "Love."

Four ministerial students who have completed their courses were received into full connection of the conference and will be ordained Sunday. They were Otis Wesley Spinks, Carl Frederick Lueg, Alvin Percy Smith and Alton Ausborn McKnight.

In his talk to the young ministers, Bishop Dobbs advised them on many matters. "My advice to you is to stay out of politics," Bishop Dobbs said. "Of course you must stand at all times on moral issues but there is no place with us for partisan politics." He also urged the young men to be prompt in payment of debts, or if impossible to meet their debts, to frankly appear before their creditors with the facts.

COURT PONDERING INJUNCTION MOVE

Pipeline Firm Seeks To Ban Coverdale From Selling Property

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A federal three-judge court today has under advisement a petition by the Louisiana-Arkansas Pipeline company and the Union Sulphur company seeking to enjoin collection by the state of a power tax upon compression stations used to pump natural gas to other states.

The attorneys for the companies asserted that the pumps were used in interstate commerce and were not subject to the special power tax of $1 per horsepower levied by legislative act 6 of 1932. They argued that the tax constituted a burden on interstate commerce and was violative of the federal and state constitutions.

The Louisiana-Arkansas Pipeline company asked for an injunction to restrain Sheriff Milton Coverdale of Ouachita parish from selling its property to satisfy power tax amounting to $10,500.

The Union Sulphur company sought a similar restraining order to prevent Sheriff Henry A. Reid, of Calcasieu, from attempting to sell its property for payment of power tax and penalties amounting to $9,601.

The state asked dismissal of the suit on the grounds that the state supervisor of public accounts had not been made a party of the suit.

Cap'n Axel Haaland Relates Story On Visit At Orleans

By Norman Walker
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24.—Sit upon this barrel head with Cap'n Axel Haaland and hear a story of the sea, a story of Chinese pirates, of murder, kidnaping, ruthless treatment to an old man—of adventure.

Cap'n Haaland was here a few days ago and he related a startling tale of his experiences in the China sea.

"I've been at sea for 50 years," the Cap'n will say, "and I've held a master's license for 29 years. But I never had any other experience like that one, and one was enough, I can tell you that."

He spat in the river lustily and—but let the Cap'n tell his story.

"I was master of the Norwegian freighter, Botnia, at the time," Cap'n Haaland says. "It was on September 12, 1929, and we were bound out for Haichow, China, with a cargo of salt for Shiherduwei, near Chinkiang.

"This section for many years had been famous as one of the pirate nests along the Chinese coast. For some years the salt company where we had loaded our cargo had been paying tribute annually to the pirates to leave their shipping trade alone.

"But the chief of the pirates had died only a few months before," the Cap'n explains, "and his successor had renewed attacks upon shipping in that section.

"Not knowing that such was the case, we sailed out of the harbor, but had only gone a short distance when we ran aground. It seems that the pirates while we were loading in the dead of night had changed the location of the signal buoys in the harbor.

"Before we could do anything about it the pirate boat hove into sight," Cap'n Haaland continues. He stopped to light up his pipe and look over the peaceful Mississippi river shipping scene.

"It was a Chinese junk with sails. As it came close we were greeted with rifle fire which swept our decks and forced us below.

"Soon the junk was alongside and tied up next to us. There were at least 20 of them and they stripped the ship of its stores, confiscated all the valuables and many of the clothes from the members of the crew, and took me and my first mate, Arthur Westreim, prisoners. They left the rest of the crew to shift for themselves.

"For five days we sailed. Westreim and I were locked up in a small room about four feet high while armed guards watched over us. From the open porthole I could see by the sun in which direction we were sailing. For a couple of days we were headed south and then we turned and started north again.

"The fourth day we were brought up on deck. We were in some desolate harbor. Through sign language, the chief of the pirates made us understand we were to be fed. We had eaten nothing since our imprisonment. They fed us some kind of cakes and we set sail again.

"We sailed on until the middle of the next afternoon. Then we dropped anchor. The pirates made us get into a small boat and they rowed us as far as the boat would float. Then we waded in mud up to our knees for about a mile until we reached shore.

"An amusing thing happened in connection with that part of the journey," the captain laughed. "While it was aboard the Botnia and the pirates were firing on us I had forethought to conceal more than $300 I had in bills in my shoes. They had never thought to search there and when we began wading I removed my shoes and, when the pirates were not looking, slipped the money into my pocket so it wouldn't get wet. They never discovered what I had done."

"We walked through rice fields under irrigation for six hours," Cap'n Axel continues his story, "and a stiff north wind was blowing that chilled us through the bone.

"We came within sight of a hill by that time and met with two Chinese boys, one about 15 and the other around 19. Horrified, Westreim and I were forced to look upon a terrible scene.

"The pirate chief seized the smaller boy, threw him to the ground, placed his knee on his chest and with his large hands strangled the boy to death. With this gruesome job done, we continued our journey towards a house on top of the hill, with the larger boy a prisoner.

"By this time, at my age (60 then), as you can well imagine, I was beginning to weaken from that long journey," Cap'n explained, "and it was this which saved me: I began to lag behind more and more and finally I was left behind the rest of the crowd with an armed pirate as guard.

The Beauty Doctor

Well, that all depends on what you call beauty and what kind of beauty you want. If you are satisfied with the beauty that comes from the bloom of youth, then Time is certainly no beauty doctor; for Time destroys that kind of beauty. But if you are attracted by the beauty that comes from character, then Time is not only a doctor of beauty, but a creator of beauty.

It is Time alone that ripens character. It is the developing experiences and the enriching years which bring out character. Young persons fundamentally may have good characters; but they do not have developed, fortified characters. An immature good character may easily go entirely wrong; while a mature good character rarely goes wrong. Frightful results have come from subjecting immature good characters to too much strain.

Wavy, glossy hair, sparkling eyes, blooming cheeks, ruby lips, pearly teeth are good to look at. Not only are they not permanent, but often they do not indicate anything worth while; very often those alluring specifications are possessed by persons with unlovely characters. Physical beauty is no evidence of a fine soul. Physical beauty may in fact house a very sorry soul.

Real beauty is that beauty which makes a homely person beautiful. Have you not seen some gnarled, withered old person who looked beautiful to you? Haven't you ever met a man or a woman as ugly physically as a mud fence, who seemed altogether charming, wholesome and in the best sense of the word lovely after you became acquainted with the character of that person?

One of the homeliest of men was Abraham Lincoln; one of the best looking was "Pretty Boy" Floyd, the vicious gangster shot to death recently by federal officers. Which of the two, Abraham Lincoln or "Pretty Boy" Floyd, do you consider was the one who could properly be called beautiful?

A beautiful person with an evil soul will grow into hideous old age, while a homely person with a fine spirit will grow into beautiful old age.

There is an old saying, "Beauty is skin deep; ugly is to the bone; when beauty fades away, ugly holds its own." A fine spirit will illuminate and make beautiful any kind of face, white or black, brown, yellow or red, young or old.

Time is honest. It will not fool us. It writes in the features what goes on in the heart. For awhile this writing may not show, but eventually it becomes clear to all. Then is the time to say whether Time is a beauty doctor or beauty wrecker.

RAILROAD HISTORY

Railroad history was made when a Union Pacific streamline diesel-powered train pulled into New York city two and one-third days after leaving Los Angeles.

Railroading is entering upon a new era which may prove the most prosperous in the history of this form of travel. Charges that the railroads were laggard in adopting modern methods to combat new and faster competition are bearing fruit in the appearance of a new tempo in the offices of the big roads.

The Union Pacific train, which now holds all transcontinental records for speed, is constructed of aluminum and has a gross weight of four tons per passenger, as contrasted to 160 tons per passenger gross weight of the old trains. This is making progress with a vengeance. Its electric motors, using current made by a 900-horsepower diesel engine, cut fuel costs to a fraction of those run up by a bulky, smoky, slow coal-burning locomotive.

Will the day come when transcontinental air pilots will watch streamline trains pulling away from them? This is a possibility, though it may now seem remote. The train which has just covered the distance from Los Angeles to New York in little more than two days, attained a speed of 120 miles an hour in Nebraska. Such speed would be possible on the entire coast-to-coast run were the tracks straight, the grades easy.

Will the entire new roadbeds be necessary to modernize the railroads? The stimulus to employment such a program would unleash is incalculable.

Dumb animals are the ones that never drift helplessly into a war when they wish to live in peace.

More Truth Than Poetry

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

ALMOST A WINNER

Last year, when I went to my broker,
He told me, right straight off the bat,
With a confident smile,
"Just wait for a while
Before you buy this, or buy that.
There are things going on in the market
Which I cannot, at present, explain;
But before very long
When things get going strong
You can purchase a castle in Spain."

But something went wrong with the system;
My broker, with dew on his brow,
Observed, with a frown,
"The market is down,
I wouldn't buy anything—now—
But drop in a week or two later,
By then I shall have all the dope;
Things will break pretty soon,
Say along about June,
And you'll make a big killing—I hope."

Last week, when I called in to ask him
Which direction the market would go,
He looked at his list,
Slammed his desk with his fist
And told me, "I really don't know."
So today I'm serene and untroubled
Instead of dismayed and upset;
I am just where I was
When I started, because

The district attorney of New York says that it is greed that motivates crime. And here we've been thinking all the time that it was brotherly love.

NOT SO HOT

There is nothing in the reports about the South Pole to encourage any boosters to send a board of immigration down there.

WHY WORRY?

Science has failed to harness the sun. But judging from the discomfort it can cause along in July, we wouldn't want it to come down and eat out of our hands.

Italy's 'Corporative State'

By BRUCE CATTON

It is always easier to figure out what is going on in a foreign country if we translate the action there into local terms. By imagining how some European program would look if it were being followed in America, with American actors in the leading roles, we can usually get a pretty fair idea of its nature.

So it is with the latest development of Mussolini's "corporative state" in Italy. It is worth while to picture this in America—not only because that gives us a better idea of Italian conditions, but also because it shows, by contrast, how far from Fascism our own set-up really is.

Suppose, then, that we have this Mussolini system in operation in America, and that you are a business man anxious to open a new factory to make, let us say, clothes-pins.

First of all, you must go to Washington and satisfy Mr. Roosevelt that the clothes-pin industry needs a new factory and that you will be able to sell clothes-pins if you make them. You must also permit the minister of corporations—Secretary Roper, for instance—to put a man on your board of directors and examine your books.

Getting the necessary approval, you open up. You automatically become a member of a vast corporation which embraces all the wood-cutters, clothes-pin makers and clothes-pin sellers in the United States; your employes, likewise, become members of an allied corporation including all other such employes.

The wages you pay are fixed by law; you pay no more and no less. Your workers can't strike, and you can't fire them. Any dispute must go before the labor relations board, whose decision is final.

Suppose you don't like this, and want to appeal to congress for a change. Congress, as it previously existed, is gone. Instead, you find a group of congressmen representing, not the various states, but the industries of steel, oil, auto-manufacture, farming, railroads, and so on.

Each of these industries is grouped in a gigantic corportaion—whose head is Mr. Roosevelt, assisted by three of Jim Farley's boys.

This being the case, Messrs. Roosevelt and Farley hold the upper hand in congress. Congress does exactly what these two wish, and no more.

Meanwhile Mr. Farley's men are forever inspecting your factory to see if you are efficient. If you aren't, they can shut you up or make any change in your method of operations they see fit.

A fantastic picture? To be sure. But it is nothing more than a translation into American terms of the actual situation in Italy oday.

New Deal In Washington

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON.—Between elections and the opening of congress, your nation's capital is enjoying one of its so-called crime waves.

It's rather a weak effort—the kind of crime wave where people call mass meetings of indignant citizens and nobody comes except a few officials anxious to call names or defend themselves.

But there's been some slight clamor for ousting the police chief, who is known as "Duck Legs," and the gamblers have been seriously inconvenienced. Also, the capital is finding out what became of its many ex-bootleggers who couldn't be crowded into the legitimate liquor business.

The crime wave really didn't consist of much except the murder of a newspaper vendor whom gunmen mistook for a gambling house operator.

It was revealed that nearly all the surplus bootleggers had gone into the gambling racket and that resultant overcrowding had led to bitter strife.

So the police have raided many of the gambling joints and the bookies and "numbers game" operators are leading miserable lives. Some of the small-time boys, according to a direct tip I get from the underworld, have now been driven back to bootlegging, because it's temporarily much safer. There must be a moral somewhere in this.

Vacancies Exist In Army For Musicians

Information has been received here from the United States army recruiting office at New Orleans that a number of vacancies exist for army musicians. Applications will be received to fill vacancies for one trombone player, one cornet player, one saxophone player and one clarinet player.

Qualified applicants should communicate direct with the commanding officer,, Fort Moultrie, S. C., giving name, age, marital status, qualifications, experience and instrument played.

Applicants receiving favorable consideration will be advised by the commanding officer as to when they can be enlisted. Those accepted will be required to report at Fort Moultrie at their own expenses for enlistment.

Louisiana Attorneys To Convene At Alexandria

The annual convention of the Louisiana State Bar association for 1935 will be held in Alexandria, according to announcement received here from W. W. Young, secretary of the organization. Exact date for the meeting has not yet been fixed, but it was stated that it would be the latter part of May or early part of April.

U. A. Bell, president of the association, will appoint within a short time committees to take charge of the meeting.

Ivey A. Faulk Purchases Interest In Warehouse

Announcement was made Saturday that Ivey A. Faulk has bought the interest of E. N. Faulk, former president of Faulk-Collier Bonded Warehouses, Inc.

Officers of the new organization are Ivey A. Faulk, president; W. C. Faulk, vice president; W. G. Faulk, secretary-treasurer. These men also constitute the board of directors.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE HOUDINI OF HOUDINIS—Salvador, whose real name was Jean Ferrey, was a famous thief and malefactor who was remarkable for his education, courage and strength. He escaped from prison 82 and from the galleys 14 times. His last escape was from the Force prison in Paris in 1805. He was not recaptured until 1807, when a court martial in Toulon sentenced him to death by the guillotine, on the conclusion that "no prison could be constructed that could hold him." While in jail Salvador played Lord Bountiful to his fellow prisoners, distributing money to each one of them whose crime was one of ingenuity.

Lights of New York

By Paul Harrison

NEW YORK.—Where food's concerned, no nation in the world is more than a few minutes' subway ride for any epicurean New Yorker.

Even in the Times Square district of Broadway there are foreign restaurants which strive mightily for authenticity in their dishes. But the curries are not as hot as the folk of India would have them, and Spanish recipes become almost pepperless to please the placid palates of Americans.

At the Wivel, which is Swedish, there's the most marvelous selection of smorgasbord in all New York. Smorgasbord is hors d'oeuvres, and there are exactly 73 items for selection. The Russian places are all right, with plenty of borsch, red caviar and balalaika music, but they haven't quite the flavor of the Second avenue restaurants which are patronized by Russians. You may find sukiyaki in half a dozen Broadway spots, but it isn't the same flavorsome mess of meat, bamboo sprouts, bean curds, onions, mushrooms and strange condiments that's cooked right on your table at Miyako's, on West 58th street.

Broadway is dotted with Chinese restaurants under Semitic ownership which specialize in such Oriental delicacies as roast beef with French-fried potatoes. There is one, and just one, which pretends to bring to the Main Stem all the finest dishes you could find in Canton. It has an eight page menu listing 207 items. You can get Tim Sun Gai Kow, which is "sweet, pungent chicken"; Lun Gai Sung Chee, or "Chicken Juice with Valuable Fish Wings Mixed Together"; or a $3.50 specialty called "One Chicken in Three Styles."

I would like this place a lot better if its name were not quite so indigestible. It is identified, so help me, as the Chew Chow Palace.

Down in Chinatown, fortunately, it is possible to find viands just as rare, and rice and rose wines quite as tasty. And it's much more reassuring to sit in the company of Chinese diners who know what's what.

It's fun to wander among the shops of the foreign quarters, asking questions about the strange foods displayed there. Almost always the proprietors seem pleased to explain, as best they can, the varied virtues of their wares. Chinese groceries are cleanest, but smell the worst because of the dried fish and fowl they sell. Shark fins, I can promise you, are a treat. Birds'-nest soup is palatable too, if one doesn't know at the time just what it is.

Have Some Octopus

Only a step from Chinatown is Little Italy, where east and west meet in a mutual passion for octopus, devil fish, cuttle fish and squid, which are all pretty much the same thing. I am one who can take a devil fish or leave it alone, but it seems that others feel differently about them. Mr. Louis Arbucci, a Mulberry street merchant, becomes quite inarticulate in trying to describe the succulence of his smaller calamai (another name for them) when they're dipped in batter and broiled in olive oil.

When you get into the adult class of octopi, only the tenacles are eaten and they must be boiled until they lose the consistency of hose. The Chinese prepare them better than the Italians, Spanish or Syrians. Syrian and Armenian cooking—as much as I've had of it—seems to be mostly mutton, cabbages and grease, which may account for the look of faint distress worn by some of those people.

Greek quarters are scattered through many sections of Manhattan, but I like the one on West 40th street, where there are 37 shops within a block. Nearly all of these folk are from Cyprus and many of them came in as British immigrants after Great Britain annexed the island in 1914.

In the old days they had no sugar, and even now they sweeten everything with honey. Honey in scores of flavors and vintages. Pistachio nuts, fruits, even rose petals, are packed in honey, too. . . . The national confection is helva, a paste made of honey and ground sesame seeds. Those seeds, incidentally, have been used for centuries from the Orient to central Europe and only now are winning some recognition in American confectionery. . . . Another staple we ought to get acquainted with is the fava bean. They're as large as oysters, and half a dozen are enough for lunch.

GIBBS REMOVED HOME

Henry Gibbs, superintendent of the maintenance department of the city schools, who underwent an operation for appendicitis October 15, has been removed from the hospital to his home, where it has been reported, he will be confined for about a month more. Mr. Gibbs has an extension telephone line to his bedside and is conducting his business from his home.

The Beauty Doctor

Well, that all depends on what you call beauty and what kind of beauty you want. If you are satisfied with the beauty that comes from the bloom of youth, then Time is certainly no beauty doctor; for Time destroys that kind of beauty. But if you are attracted by the beauty that comes from character, then Time is not only a doctor of beauty, but a creator of beauty.

It is Time alone that ripens character. It is the developing experiences and the enriching years which bring out character. Young persons fundamentally may have good characters; but they do not have developed, fortified characters. An immature good character may easily go entirely wrong; while a mature good character rarely goes wrong. Frightful results have come from subjecting immature good characters to too much strain.

Wavy, glossy hair, sparkling eyes, blooming cheeks, ruby lips, pearly teeth are good to look at. Not only are they not permanent, but often they do not indicate anything worth while; very often those alluring specifications are possessed by persons with unlovely characters. Physical beauty is no evidence of a fine soul. Physical beauty may in fact house a very sorry soul.

Real beauty is that beauty which makes a homely person beautiful. Have you not seen some gnarled, withered old person who looked beautiful to you? Haven't you ever met a man or a woman as ugly physically as a mud fence, who seemed altogether charming, wholesome and in the best sense of the word lovely after you became acquainted with the character of that person?

One of the homeliest of men was Abraham Lincoln; one of the best looking was "Pretty Boy" Floyd, the vicious gangster shot to death recently by federal officers. Which of the two, Abraham Lincoln or "Pretty Boy" Floyd, do you consider was the one who could properly be called beautiful?

A beautiful person with an evil soul will grow into hideous old age, while a homely person with a fine spirit will grow into beautiful old age.

There is an old saying, "Beauty is skin deep; ugly is to the bone; when beauty fades away, ugly holds its own." A fine spirit will illuminate and make beautiful any kind of face, white or black, brown, yellow or red, young or old.

Time is honest. It will not fool us. It writes in the features what goes on in the heart. For awhile this writing may not show, but eventually it becomes clear to all. Then is the time to say whether Time is a beauty doctor or beauty wrecker.

RAILROAD HISTORY

Railroad history was made when a Union Pacific streamline diesel-powered train pulled into New York city two and one-third days after leaving Los Angeles.

Railroading is entering upon a new era which may prove the most prosperous in the history of this form of travel. Charges that the railroads were laggard in adopting modern methods to combat new and faster competition are bearing fruit in the appearance of a new tempo in the offices of the big roads.

The Union Pacific train, which now holds all transcontinental records for speed, is constructed of aluminum and has a gross weight of four tons per passenger, as contrasted to 160 tons per passenger gross weight of the old trains. This is making progress with a vengeance. Its electric motors, using current made by a 900-horsepower diesel engine, cut fuel costs to a fraction of those run up by a bulky, smoky, slow coal-burning locomotive.

Will the day come when transcontinental air pilots will watch streamline trains pulling away from them? This is a possibility, though it may now seem remote. The train which has just covered the distance from Los Angeles to New York in little more than two days, attained a speed of 120 miles an hour in Nebraska. Such speed would be possible on the entire coast-to-coast run were the tracks straight, the grades easy.

Will the entire new roadbeds be necessary to modernize the railroads? The stimulus to employment such a program would unleash is incalculable.

Dumb animals are the ones that never drift helplessly into a war when they wish to live in peace.

More Truth Than Poetry

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

ALMOST A WINNER

Last year, when I went to my broker,
He told me, right straight off the bat,
With a confident smile,
"Just wait for a while
Before you buy this, or buy that.
There are things going on in the market
Which I cannot, at present, explain;
But before very long
When things get going strong
You can purchase a castle in Spain."

But something went wrong with the system;
My broker, with dew on his brow,
Observed, with a frown,
"The market is down,
I wouldn't buy anything—now—
But drop in a week or two later,
By then I shall have all the dope;
Things will break pretty soon,
Say along about June,
And you'll make a big killing—I hope."

Last week, when I called in to ask him
Which direction the market would go,
He looked at his list,
Slammed his desk with his fist
And told me, "I really don't know."
So today I'm serene and untroubled
Instead of dismayed and upset;
I am just where I was
When I started, because

The district attorney of New York says that it is greed that motivates crime. And here we've been thinking all the time that it was brotherly love.

NOT SO HOT

There is nothing in the reports about the South Pole to encourage any boosters to send a board of immigration down there.

WHY WORRY?

Science has failed to harness the sun. But judging from the discomfort it can cause along in July, we wouldn't want it to come down and eat out of our hands.

Italy's 'Corporative State'

By BRUCE CATTON

It is always easier to figure out what is going on in a foreign country if we translate the action there into local terms. By imagining how some European program would look if it were being followed in America, with American actors in the leading roles, we can usually get a pretty fair idea of its nature.

So it is with the latest development of Mussolini's "corporative state" in Italy. It is worth while to picture this in America—not only because that gives us a better idea of Italian conditions, but also because it shows, by contrast, how far from Fascism our own set-up really is.

Suppose, then, that we have this Mussolini system in operation in America, and that you are a business man anxious to open a new factory to make, let us say, clothes-pins.

First of all, you must go to Washington and satisfy Mr. Roosevelt that the clothes-pin industry needs a new factory and that you will be able to sell clothes-pins if you make them. You must also permit the minister of corporations—Secretary Roper, for instance—to put a man on your board of directors and examine your books.

Getting the necessary approval, you open up. You automatically become a member of a vast corporation which embraces all the wood-cutters, clothes-pin makers and clothes-pin sellers in the United States; your employes, likewise, become members of an allied corporation including all other such employes.

The wages you pay are fixed by law; you pay no more and no less. Your workers can't strike, and you can't fire them. Any dispute must go before the labor relations board, whose decision is final.

Suppose you don't like this, and want to appeal to congress for a change. Congress, as it previously existed, is gone. Instead, you find a group of congressmen representing, not the various states, but the industries of steel, oil, auto-manufacture, farming, railroads, and so on.

Each of these industries is grouped in a gigantic corportaion—whose head is Mr. Roosevelt, assisted by three of Jim Farley's boys.

This being the case, Messrs. Roosevelt and Farley hold the upper hand in congress. Congress does exactly what these two wish, and no more.

Meanwhile Mr. Farley's men are forever inspecting your factory to see if you are efficient. If you aren't, they can shut you up or make any change in your method of operations they see fit.

A fantastic picture? To be sure. But it is nothing more than a translation into American terms of the actual situation in Italy oday.

New Deal In Washington

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON.—Between elections and the opening of congress, your nation's capital is enjoying one of its so-called crime waves.

It's rather a weak effort—the kind of crime wave where people call mass meetings of indignant citizens and nobody comes except a few officials anxious to call names or defend themselves.

But there's been some slight clamor for ousting the police chief, who is known as "Duck Legs," and the gamblers have been seriously inconvenienced. Also, the capital is finding out what became of its many ex-bootleggers who couldn't be crowded into the legitimate liquor business.

The crime wave really didn't consist of much except the murder of a newspaper vendor whom gunmen mistook for a gambling house operator.

It was revealed that nearly all the surplus bootleggers had gone into the gambling racket and that resultant overcrowding had led to bitter strife.

So the police have raided many of the gambling joints and the bookies and "numbers game" operators are leading miserable lives. Some of the small-time boys, according to a direct tip I get from the underworld, have now been driven back to bootlegging, because it's temporarily much safer. There must be a moral somewhere in this.

Vacancies Exist In Army For Musicians

Information has been received here from the United States army recruiting office at New Orleans that a number of vacancies exist for army musicians. Applications will be received to fill vacancies for one trombone player, one cornet player, one saxophone player and one clarinet player.

Qualified applicants should communicate direct with the commanding officer,, Fort Moultrie, S. C., giving name, age, marital status, qualifications, experience and instrument played.

Applicants receiving favorable consideration will be advised by the commanding officer as to when they can be enlisted. Those accepted will be required to report at Fort Moultrie at their own expenses for enlistment.

Louisiana Attorneys To Convene At Alexandria

The annual convention of the Louisiana State Bar association for 1935 will be held in Alexandria, according to announcement received here from W. W. Young, secretary of the organization. Exact date for the meeting has not yet been fixed, but it was stated that it would be the latter part of May or early part of April.

U. A. Bell, president of the association, will appoint within a short time committees to take charge of the meeting.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE HOUDINI OF HOUDINIS—Salvador, whose real name was Jean Ferrey, was a famous thief and malefactor who was remarkable for his education, courage and strength. He escaped from prison 82 and from the galleys 14 times. His last escape was from the Force prison in Paris in 1805. He was not recaptured until 1807, when a court martial in Toulon sentenced him to death by the guillotine, on the conclusion that "no prison could be constructed that could hold him." While in jail Salvador played Lord Bountiful to his fellow prisoners, distributing money to each one of them whose crime was one of ingenuity.

HAMBONE'S MEDITATIONS

By Paul Harrison

NEW YORK.—Where food's concerned, no nation in the world is more than a few minutes' subway ride for any epicurean New Yorker.

Even in the Times Square district of Broadway there are foreign restaurants which strive mightily for authenticity in their dishes. But the curries are not as hot as the folk of India would have them, and Spanish recipes become almost pepperless to please the placid palates of Americans.

At the Wivel, which is Swedish, there's the most marvelous selection of smorgasbord in all New York. Smorgasbord is hors d'oeuvres, and there are exactly 73 items for selection. The Russian places are all right, with plenty of borsch, red caviar and balalaika music, but they haven't quite the flavor of the Second avenue restaurants which are patronized by Russians. You may find sukiyaki in half a dozen Broadway spots, but it isn't the same flavorsome mess of meat, bamboo sprouts, bean curds, onions, mushrooms and strange condiments that's cooked right on your table at Miyako's, on West 58th street.

Broadway is dotted with Chinese restaurants under Semitic ownership which specialize in such Oriental delicacies as roast beef with French-fried potatoes. There is one, and just one, which pretends to bring to the Main Stem all the finest dishes you could find in Canton. It has an eight page menu listing 207 items. You can get Tim Sun Gai Kow, which is "sweet, pungent chicken"; Lun Gai Sung Chee, or "Chicken Juice with Valuable Fish Wings Mixed Together"; or a $3.50 specialty called "One Chicken in Three Styles."

I would like this place a lot better if its name were not quite so indigestible. It is identified, so help me, as the Chew Chow Palace.

Down in Chinatown, fortunately, it is possible to find viands just as rare, and rice and rose wines quite as tasty. And it's much more reassuring to sit in the company of Chinese diners who know what's what.

It's fun to wander among the shops of the foreign quarters, asking questions about the strange foods displayed there. Almost always the proprietors seem pleased to explain, as best they can, the varied virtues of their wares. Chinese groceries are cleanest, but smell the worst because of the dried fish and fowl they sell. Shark fins, I can promise you, are a treat. Birds'-nest soup is palatable too, if one doesn't know at the time just what it is.

Have Some Octopus

Only a step from Chinatown is Little Italy, where east and west meet in a mutual passion for octopus, devil fish, cuttle fish and squid, which are all pretty much the same thing. I am one who can take a devil fish or leave it alone, but it seems that others feel differently about them. Mr. Louis Arbucci, a Mulberry street merchant, becomes quite inarticulate in trying to describe the succulence of his smaller calamai (another name for them) when they're dipped in batter and broiled in olive oil.

When you get into the adult class of octopi, only the tenacles are eaten and they must be boiled until they lose the consistency of hose. The Chinese prepare them better than the Italians, Spanish or Syrians. Syrian and Armenian cooking—as much as I've had of it—seems to be mostly mutton, cabbages and grease, which may account for the look of faint distress worn by some of those people.

Greek quarters are scattered through many sections of Manhattan, but I like the one on West 40th street, where there are 37 shops within a block. Nearly all of these folk are from Cyprus and many of them came in as British immigrants after Great Britain annexed the island in 1914.

In the old days they had no sugar, and even now they sweeten everything with honey. Honey in scores of flavors and vintages. Pistachio nuts, fruits, even rose petals, are packed in honey, too. . . . The national confection is helva, a paste made of honey and ground sesame seeds. Those seeds, incidentally, have been used for centuries from the Orient to central Europe and only now are winning some recognition in American confectionery. . . . Another staple we ought to get acquainted with is the fava bean. They're as large as oysters, and half a dozen are enough for lunch.

GIBBS REMOVED HOME

Henry Gibbs, superintendent of the maintenance department of the city schools, who underwent an operation for appendicitis October 15, has been removed from the hospital to his home, where it has been reported, he will be confined for about a month more. Mr. Gibbs has an extension telephone line to his bedside and is conducting his business from his home.

HOMICIDE THEORY IS WORKED ON IN POISONING CASES

Little Rock Officers Doubt Man's Story Of Accidental Deaths

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 24.—(AP)—An announcement that he was working on a homicide theory" was made late today by James A. Pitcock, chief of detectives for the Little Rock police department, after investigation had been opened into the poison deaths of three children of Charles Jenkins, 39, relief worker, and the critical illness of Jenkins, who said he had apparently poisoned his children and himself by mistake.

Pitcock said a 26-year-old man, a friend of the family, had been taken into custody for questioning and that "others are being questioned."

"In my opinion, the poisonings were no accident," said Pitcock.

Jenkins condition was too grave today to permit further examination following his statement in a moment of consciousness that he had prepared capsules of what he believed to be a cold and malaria medicine and had administered them to his children and himself last night.

Within an hour, his eldest daughter, Sybil, 11, died in convulsions and a physician who had been called rushed Jenkins and the other two children, Alta Fern, 9, and Obelee, 7, to a hospital. Jenkins lost consciousness before arriving there. Obelee died shortly afterward and Alta Fern suffered a fatal convulsion early today.

Mrs. Jenkins and the four year old baby of the family, "T. L." did not take the capsules, but the mother already was ill at the time and was later reported in a state of prostration.

"Jenkins told the coroner that he made up the capsules Thursday night and gave one each to the children and took one himself," said Detective Pitcock late today. "He placed the remainder in an envelope. Last night, he took out four more and gave them to the children, taking one himself. The latter dose resulted in the poisoning."

He said investigation at the home disclosed two bottles, one containing the cold and malaria remedy and the other the poison which proved fatal to the three children. He said both were in powder form, similar in appearance.

Local Man's Grandmother Dies At Age Of 100 Years

News of the death of his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Rondeau, 100, of Mobile, Ala., was received here Saturday by J. W. Worthington, manager of the Monroe division of the Louisiana State Re-Employment service. Mrs. Rondeau died Friday and funeral services were held Saturday.

Mrs. Rondeau celebrated her 100th birthday about six months ago and was given considerable publicity by the newspapers in the vicinity of her home. At that time she was in good health and was able to take an active part in household duties, although she had been blind for several years. Her death was attributed to an attack of malaria and extreme old age.

P. S. C. Approves Sale Of Property To TVA

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Leaving the subject of jurisdiction an open question, the Alabama Public Service Commission today approved the Alabama Power Company's sale of $2,200,000 worth of property to the Tennessee Valley Authority.

In approving the sale, the commission indicated that private utilities in Alabama might be called upon to reduce their rates in conformity with the lower rates proposed by TVA.

"This experiment by the national government constitutes a challenge to the private utility industry," the commission said. "This commission has the right, in its view, to call upon the private utilities to make every effort to extend comparable benefits to the public served by them."

POLICE ARREST EXTORTIONIST

Mississippian Attempts To Get $500 From Wealthy Banker

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Sharp Ware was arrested by police here today and turned over to federal agents on a charge of attempting to extort $500 from A. D. Breeland, wealthy banker and wholesale grocer of Crystal Springs, Miss.

So far as could be learned the arrest of Ware is the first case to arise in Mississippi since the "Lindbergh Law" became operative in 1932. The "Lindbergh Law" embraces the extortion statute under which Ware is being held.

The demand for $500 was made upon Breeland on October 12, when he received a note printed in pencil demanding that he throw the money from his automobile in front of the Harmony Baptist church, six miles out of Crystal Springs. Breeland was instructed in the note to drive past the church at a speed of 45 miles per hour. He was threatened with death if he failed to comply with the instructions.

Breeland received the note through the mail. He immediately communicated with Sheriff Hester of Copiah county. The sheriff enlisted the aid of Jackson police and an agent for the bureau of investigation of the department of justice. The note, described as a very crude job of penciled lettering in which the author sought a combination of old English and modernistic styles of letters, was sent to Washington. The writing was traced by federal agents to Ware and his arrest followed.

HOMICIDE THEORY IS WORKED ON IN POISONING CASES

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 24.—(AP)—An announcement that he was working on a homicide theory" was made late today by James A. Pitcock, chief of detectives for the Little Rock police department, after investigation had been opened into the poison deaths of three children of Charles Jenkins, 39, relief worker, and the critical illness of Jenkins, who said he had apparently poisoned his children and himself by mistake.

Pitcock said a 26-year-old man, a friend of the family, had been taken into custody for questioning and that "others are being questioned."

"In my opinion, the poisonings were no accident," said Pitcock.

Jenkins condition was too grave today to permit further examination following his statement in a moment of consciousness that he had prepared capsules of what he believed to be a cold and malaria medicine and had administered them to his children and himself last night.

Within an hour, his eldest daughter, Sybil, 11, died in convulsions and a physician who had been called rushed Jenkins and the other two children, Alta Fern, 9, and Obelee, 7, to a hospital. Jenkins lost consciousness before arriving there. Obelee died shortly afterward and Alta Fern suffered a fatal convulsion early today.

Mrs. Jenkins and the four year old baby of the family, "T. L." did not take the capsules, but the mother already was ill at the time and was later reported in a state of prostration.

"Jenkins told the coroner that he made up the capsules Thursday night and gave one each to the children and took one himself," said Detective Pitcock late today. "He placed the remainder in an envelope. Last night, he took out four more and gave them to the children, taking one himself. The latter dose resulted in the poisoning."

He said investigation at the home disclosed two bottles, one containing the cold and malaria remedy and the other the poison which proved fatal to the three children. He said both were in powder form, similar in appearance.

News of the death of his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Rondeau, 100, of Mobile, Ala., was received here Saturday by J. W. Worthington, manager of the Monroe division of the Louisiana State Re-Employment service. Mrs. Rondeau died Friday and funeral services were held Saturday.

Mrs. Rondeau celebrated her 100th birthday about six months ago and was given considerable publicity by the newspapers in the vicinity of her home. At that time she was in good health and was able to take an active part in household duties, although she had been blind for several years. Her death was attributed to an attack of malaria and extreme old age.

P. S. C. Approves Sale Of Property To TVA

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Leaving the subject of jurisdiction an open question, the Alabama Public Service Commission today approved the Alabama Power Company's sale of $2,200,000 worth of property to the Tennessee Valley Authority.

In approving the sale, the commission indicated that private utilities in Alabama might be called upon to reduce their rates in conformity with the lower rates proposed by TVA.

"This experiment by the national government constitutes a challenge to the private utility industry," the commission said. "This commission has the right, in its view, to call upon the private utilities to make every effort to extend comparable benefits to the public served by them."

SCORES HIT

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Sharp Ware was arrested by police here today and turned over to federal agents on a charge of attempting to extort $500 from A. D. Breeland, wealthy banker and wholesale grocer of Crystal Springs, Miss.

So far as could be learned the arrest of Ware is the first case to arise in Mississippi since the "Lindbergh Law" became operative in 1932. The "Lindbergh Law" embraces the extortion statute under which Ware is being held.

The demand for $500 was made upon Breeland on October 12, when he received a note printed in pencil demanding that he throw the money from his automobile in front of the Harmony Baptist church, six miles out of Crystal Springs. Breeland was instructed in the note to drive past the church at a speed of 45 miles per hour. He was threatened with death if he failed to comply with the instructions.

Breeland received the note through the mail. He immediately communicated with Sheriff Hester of Copiah county. The sheriff enlisted the aid of Jackson police and an agent for the bureau of investigation of the department of justice. The note, described as a very crude job of penciled lettering in which the author sought a combination of old English and modernistic styles of letters, was sent to Washington. The writing was traced by federal agents to Ware and his arrest followed.

FORMER OFFICIALS FOUND NOT GUILTY

Federal Court Frees Three Men In Bribe Conspiracy Case

TEXARKANA, Ark., Nov. 24—(AP) Former U. S. District Attorney W. N. Ivie and two former federal prohibition officials, S. M. Gurley and Owen R. Wilson, were acquitted today on an instructed verdict in their trial on charges of conspiracy to accept bribes.

Federal Judge Andrew Miller of North Dakota, presiding in the trial in place of Judge Heartsill Ragon of the western Arkansas district, instructed the not guilty verdict on the ground that circumstantial evidence failed to show guilt of the three former officials beyond a reasonable doubt.

"All of Ivie's actions in the matter were susceptible of innocent interpretations," the jurist said, "and there was no direct evidence of any kind linking him with the alleged illicit agreement to solicit bribes from a number of liquor case defendants."

Judge Miller declared that since the conspiracy was based on alleged violation of a statute dealing with corruption of a United States official, and since neither Gurley nor Wilson was an official at the time of the alleged offense, the court could have no jurisdiction as against them either.

Gurley and Wilson were convicted last May and sentenced to two years each on charges of accepting bribes with intent to influence Wilson's testimony as a government witness. Their cases are on appeal. The testimony concerning alleged payments to Gurley and conversations with Gurley and Wilson relative to alleged "fixing" of cases was substantially the same as recorded in the first trial, when Gurley claimed he was acting in the capacity of an attorney in seeking to represent federal case defendants.

Vicksburg Movie House Employe Fatally Hurt

Stevens was picked up alive from the wreck, but died shortly after being taken to the hospital. He came to Vicksburg several years ago from Utica, Miss. He is survived by his widow and parents there.

Lotteries were legal in Georgia until 1877 and included some operated by the state government.

IT'S GORGEOUS ENTERTAINMENT

George Barbier, Jeanette MacDonald and Maurice Chevalier in a scene from the Ernst Lubitsch production, "The Merry Widow," the attraction at the Paramount theater for today and Monday. It is without doubt one of the most beautiful and most lavish musical and laugh events ever presented on the Paramount screen. It is a new and modern version.

AT LOCAL THEATERS

AT THE PARAMOUNT.—Continental romance and glamour, the classic music of Franz Lehar, the famous "Merry Widow Waltz" and the reunion of Ernst Lubitsch, Maurice Chevalier and Jeanette MacDonald; spectacular settings, whimsical humor, and the world's most popular musical romance brought with its full flavor to the talking screen, mark "The Merry Widow," Lubitsch's glamorous Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, which is playing at the Paramount theater.

With Chevalier as the debonair Danilo and Miss MacDonald as Sonia, the Franz Lehar masterpiece was staged by Irving G. Thalberg on an ambitious scale unprecedented in musical romances. The filming was regarded in Hollywood as one of the most important milestones in the history of the screen.

Laid in Paris and the mythical kingdom of Marshovia, the original Lehar operetta was adapted, with many deft "Lubitsch touches" by Ernest Vajda and Samson Raphaelson, while the original Lehar music (the entire score was used) was adapted by Herbert Stothart, of "Rogue Song" fame. Lubitsch directed.

The cast supporting the popular team of Chevalier and Miss MacDonald who scored in other Lubitsch productions, includes Edward Everett Horton, Una Merkel, George Barbier, Minna Gombell, Ruth Channing, Sterling Holloway, Donald Meek, Herman Bing and hundreds of minor players.

The settings include the great Embassy, largest set ever constructed at the studio, the amazing "White Set," the gorgeous set representing the king's palace, the huge staircase set, and the glamorous replica of Maxim's celebrated resort in Paris, in which the daring "Can-Can" is danced by Albertina Rasch coryphees, and where the romantic interlude between Chevalier and Miss MacDonald, and the waltz episode has its beginning.

The lilting Viennese romance deals with a debonair captain of the guard and a charming banker's widow in the mythical shepherd's kingdom of Marshovia. She goes to Paris, and the ruler, afraid she will take her money out of the country, sends the debonair captain, whose exploits among the fair sex have been the talk of the palace, to woo her and bring her back.

There are gay nights in Maxim's and the great Embassy Ball. In the haunting charm of the "Merry Widow Waltz" he woos and wins her. Then she discovers that he was sent on a mission and loses faith in him. They part, he is arrested, and then a whimsical denouement, rich in comedy, solves their problem and all is well.

"Caravan," a Fox Film, tells its entire tale through the eye of just one camera, regardless of the importance of the sequence or the size of the set.

With its scenes laid in the famous Tokay district of Europe, and all the action taking place during the annual three-day grape harvest, many of the backgrounds in the village, the vineyards and in the huge "Chateau Tokay" are said to be among the largest and most impressive created since the screen turned vocal.

Yet in no case did Charrell follow the American practice of using several cameras to record various angles simultaneously, and combining these viewpoints in the finished picture.

Instead, he put his instrument on a crane or a traveling carriage, and strolled through the set, following or preceding his players in a completely natural manner through a long sequence that flows smoothly without the interruption of a series of "close-ups" and scenes from different angles.

Charell, who proved his theories of camera handling with his direction of the remarkably successful "Congress Dances," after a meteoric career as one of the leading impressarios of Europe, is making his American debut as a director-producer with "Caravan," in which some 3,000 extra players were used in addition to an impressive cast of principals.

The picturesque costuming and the settings were designed by William Darling, who won the recent Academy award for his work on "Cavalcade."

Real Estate Transfers

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Platt yesterday sold to H. & S. Masur, Inc., lots 1 to 6, inclusive, of square 12 of Terminal Heights addition for the consideration of $500, it was learned at the office of the clerk of parish court.

When appetite fails—
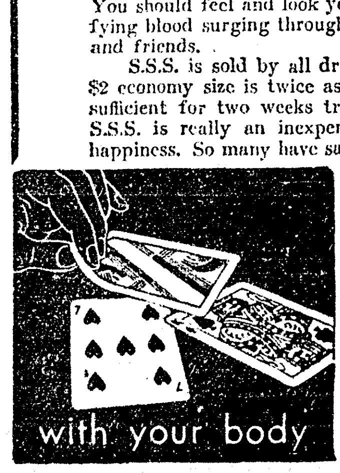
Life insurance companies tell us that the gradual breakdown of the human body causes more deaths every year than disease germs
1 If your physical let-down is evidenced by lack of appetite . . . loss of weight . . . nervousness . . . sleeplessness . . . paleness . . . a tired feeling or lassitude caused by a lowered red-blood-cell and hemo-glo-bin content in the blood—then S.S.S. is waiting to help you . . . though, if you suspect an organic trouble, you will, of course, want to consult a physician or surgeon.
Make S.S.S. your health safeguard and, unless your case is exceptional, you should soon enjoy again the satisfaction of appetizing food . . . sound sleep . . . and renewed strength.
2 Take a course of S.S.S. Remember, your present run-down condition may have been a slow, gradual process. Likewise, a reasonable time is required to rebuild full strength. S.S.S. is not a miracle worker—no rebuilding tonic is—but it is a scientifically proven and time-tested medicine. This is your guarantee of satisfaction. Its benefits are progressive . . . accumulative . . . and enduring.
3 Moreover, S.S.S. is not just a so-called tonic. It is a tonic specially designed to stimulate gastric secretions, and also has the mineral elements so very, very necessary in rebuilding the oxygen-carrying hemo-glo-bin of the blood. This two-fold purpose is important. Digestion is improved . . . food is better utilized . . . and thus you are enabled to better "carry on" without exhaustion—as you should naturally.
If your condition suggests a tonic . . . if your appetite is not keen . . . get a bottle of S.S.S. . . . take an appetizing portion just before meals. You will find it is truly a blood and body tonic. You should feel and look years younger with life giving and purifying blood surging through your body. You owe this to yourself and friends.
S.S.S. is sold by all drug stores in two convenient sizes. The $2 economy size is twice as large as the $1.25 regular size and is sufficient for two weeks treatment. Begin on the uproad today. S.S.S. is really an inexpensive way to better health and more happiness. So many have said— "S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again"



Do not be blinded by the efforts of a few unethical dealers who may suggest that you gamble with substitutes. You have a right to insist that S.S.S. be supplied you on request. Its long years of preference is your guarantee of satisfaction.

MAYORS OFFER WORK PROGRAM

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A huge public works program providing jobs for all the unemployed was laid on the government's doorstep today by the United States conference of mayors.

The chiefs of 96 big cities pledged co-operation with President Roosevelt and asked congress to enlarge the scope of its housing and slum clearance undertakings and to advance loans to the municipalities at low interest to speed local improvements.

Resolutions containing their plan were adopted unanimously and Mayor Daniel W. Hoan of Milwaukee, Wis., newly elected president of the organization, announced the American Municipal association with members in 33 states had agreed to support the program.

Pointing to the shortage in housing and the desirability of slum reconstruction, the documents stated:

"We suggest enlarging the present program of the federal government as one of the best means of employing labor and stimulating business."

The mayors demanded they be loaned funds for self liquidating public works in their communities for constructing schools, public buildings, and grade and street crossings.

Such a program could be effective only if carried out on a large scale throughout the country, the executives declared, and the money must come from Uncle Sam's coffers because the municipalities cannot assume additional burdens.

REAL ESTATE GROUP AGREES TO SUPPORT HOUSING PROGRAM

ATLANTA, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The National Association of Real Estate boards was definitely committed to the support of the national housing program today by its president, Hugh Potter of Houston, Texas.

In a statement issued here after he described the national real estate picture as showing "evidence of improved conditions," President Potter declared:

"The National Association of Real Estate Boards places itself squarely behind the national housing act and the efforts of Administrator Moffett and Deputy Administrator Ardery in their efforts to set this instrumentality up on a basis that will put a foundation under the entire mortgage structure of the nation as it relates to homes."

"And the association urges," he continued, "that all realtors and those engaged in mortgage financing study the act and its regulations sympathetically and give them a fair chance to work. This is far preferable to having the government enter into the business of lending money for housing of any sort."

'Rain Makers' Of Germany Use Dry Ice Effectively

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. — (AP) — Drouth sufferers and meteorologists in the United States will be interested in rain-making experiments to be conducted in southern Germany by "the society for dry ice research."

Attempts will be made to produce rain artificially by scattering ground dry ice from airplanes above the clouds, according to a report to the commerce department from the American consul at Frankfort-on-Main.

It is alleged tht copious rainfall was produced over the Zuider Zee by this method a year ago when two tons of dry ice were discharged over clouds.

A many-year- record was set in the vicinity of St. Johnsbury, Vt., when there was no frost for the entire month of September. However, the second day in October, ice formed on brooks.

OBITUARY

CHARLES H. MALLORY

CLARKS, La., Nov. 24.—(Special)—Funeral services for Charles R. Mallory, 70, who died at his home here Friday morning at 5 o'clock, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Clarks Baptist church with Rev. Paul Jones in charge of the services, assisted by Rev. Charles Riser. Interment was made in the old Bethel cemetery.

Mr. Mallory, who was born in Springfield, Ill., in 1864, came to Clarks in 1918 where he was employed by the Louisiana Central Lumber company until 1931. Since that time he had been confined to his home because of ill health.

He is survived by his widow; three daughters, Mrs. Myrtis George of Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. Frankie Kinney and Mrs. Mannie Gilbert of Clarks; one son, Leroy Mallory of Clarks; one brother, Frank Mallory of Kansas City, Kans., and five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

CUTTER SPEEDS TO AID YACHT

Ship Is Thought To Be Treasure Hunter Drifting In The Gulf

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 24.—(AP)—A ship believed to be the yacht White Cloud engaged in a West Indian treasure hunt with about 10 men aboard drifted helplessly with disabled steering gear in Gulf of Mexico water today while the United States coast guard cutter, Unalga, sped to its rescue from San Juan, Puerto Rico. The Unalga's message of its departure was intercepted here.

The ship's position in a call for aid was given as 550 miles northeast of St. Thomas, the Virgin Islands, in the mouth of the Gulf of Mexico. The Unalga left for the scene late yesterday and was expected to reach the disabled vessel tonight or early tomorrow.

At first reported as the schooner White Cloud, the ship was later identified by Mrs. Alice Robins Cooper at Pittsfield, Mass., as a yacht owned by her husband, G. Proctor Cooper, 3rd, who has been on a search for treasure on a West Indies island since November 3.

The treasure hunt was organized by George Harris of New York City, Mrs. Cooper said, and the party was expected to reach St. Thomas November 27, and return to Miami some time in January.

Cooper, a graduate of the school of forestry of Yale university, is no stranger to the tropics, having made numerous trips in search of rare tropical woods.

Poland has a population of 32,000,000, of whom 1,200,000 are residents of Warsaw.

NATION PROTESTS NAZI TREATMENT

U. S. Charges Discrimination Against American Bond Holders

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The United States revealed a fourth formal protest to the Hitler government today, charging "discrimination" and continued "unsatisfactory treatment" of American holders of German bonds.

The note, delivered to the German foreign office yesterday by Ambassador William E. Dodd, asserted the reich was attempting to "establish a new principle" in regard to debts. This government labeled it "inacceptable and dangerous."

An extended controversy with Berlin has centered upon the treatment accorded American holders of German medium and long-term obligations, including Dawes and Young bonds.

The German government has concluded agreements with Great Britain, Switzerland and the Netherlands, giving the nationals of those countries full payment on obligations held by them, because of promises that these nations would increase their purchases from Germany.

The United States has not entered into any such agreement and American bond holders, have, therefore, been offered only the equivalent of 75 per cent of the total amount due them in interest. By far the largest block of the German obligations is held in the United States.

Conner Seeks Sentiment About Special Session

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Governor Sennett Conner tonight released results received thus far in his poll of the Mississippi legislature to determine the attitude of the solons toward his constitutional convention program. It showed a large majority of the lawmakers who have responded favor the proposal.

The chief executive, however, said that those solons who have answered his poll were made up largely of convention advocates, and conceded that the result would be close.

The governor has said that he will immediately call the legislature into special session in the event that a majority of the two houses express favor for the convention proposition.

FORMER OFFICIALS FOUND NOT GUILTY

TEXARKANA, Ark., Nov. 24—(AP) Former U. S. District Attorney W. N. Ivie and two former federal prohibition officials, S. M. Gurley and Owen R. Wilson, were acquitted today on an instructed verdict in their trial on charges of conspiracy to accept bribes.

Federal Judge Andrew Miller of North Dakota, presiding in the trial in place of Judge Heartsill Ragon of the western Arkansas district, instructed the not guilty verdict on the ground that circumstantial evidence failed to show guilt of the three former officials beyond a reasonable doubt.

"All of Ivie's actions in the matter were susceptible of innocent interpretations," the jurist said, "and there was no direct evidence of any kind linking him with the alleged illicit agreement to solicit bribes from a number of liquor case defendants."

Judge Miller declared that since the conspiracy was based on alleged violation of a statute dealing with corruption of a United States official, and since neither Gurley nor Wilson was an official at the time of the alleged offense, the court could have no jurisdiction as against them either.

Gurley and Wilson were convicted last May and sentenced to two years each on charges of accepting bribes with intent to influence Wilson's testimony as a government witness. Their cases are on appeal. The testimony concerning alleged payments to Gurley and conversations with Gurley and Wilson relative to alleged "fixing" of cases was substantially the same as recorded in the first trial, when Gurley claimed he was acting in the capacity of an attorney in seeking to represent federal case defendants.

Vicksburg Movie House Employe Fatally Hurt

Stevens was picked up alive from the wreck, but died shortly after being taken to the hospital. He came to Vicksburg several years ago from Utica, Miss. He is survived by his widow and parents there.

Lotteries were legal in Georgia until 1877 and included some operated by the state government.

IT'S GORGEOUS ENTERTAINMENT

George Barbier, Jeanette MacDonald and Maurice Chevalier in a scene from the Ernst Lubitsch production, "The Merry Widow," the attraction at the Paramount theater for today and Monday. It is without doubt one of the most beautiful and most lavish musical and laugh events ever presented on the Paramount screen. It is a new and modern version.

AT LOCAL THEATERS

AT THE PARAMOUNT.—Continental romance and glamour, the classic music of Franz Lehar, the famous "Merry Widow Waltz" and the reunion of Ernst Lubitsch, Maurice Chevalier and Jeanette MacDonald; spectacular settings, whimsical humor, and the world's most popular musical romance brought with its full flavor to the talking screen, mark "The Merry Widow," Lubitsch's glamorous Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer production, which is playing at the Paramount theater.

With Chevalier as the debonair Danilo and Miss MacDonald as Sonia, the Franz Lehar masterpiece was staged by Irving G. Thalberg on an ambitious scale unprecedented in musical romances. The filming was regarded in Hollywood as one of the most important milestones in the history of the screen.

Laid in Paris and the mythical kingdom of Marshovia, the original Lehar operetta was adapted, with many deft "Lubitsch touches" by Ernest Vajda and Samson Raphaelson, while the original Lehar music (the entire score was used) was adapted by Herbert Stothart, of "Rogue Song" fame. Lubitsch directed.

The settings include the great Embassy, largest set ever constructed at the studio, the amazing "White Set," the gorgeous set representing the king's palace, the huge staircase set, and the glamorous replica of Maxim's celebrated resort in Paris, in which the daring "Can-Can" is danced by Albertina Rasch coryphees, and where the romantic interlude between Chevalier and Miss MacDonald, and the waltz episode has its beginning.

The lilting Viennese romance deals with a debonair captain of the guard and a charming banker's widow in the mythical shepherd's kingdom of Marshovia. She goes to Paris, and the ruler, afraid she will take her money out of the country, sends the debonair captain, whose exploits among the fair sex have been the talk of the palace, to woo her and bring her back.

There are gay nights in Maxim's and the great Embassy Ball. In the haunting charm of the "Merry Widow Waltz" he woos and wins her. Then she discovers that he was sent on a mission and loses faith in him. They part, he is arrested, and then a whimsical denouement, rich in comedy, solves their problem and all is well.

With its scenes laid in the famous Tokay district of Europe, and all the action taking place during the annual three-day grape harvest, many of the backgrounds in the village, the vineyards and in the huge "Chateau Tokay" are said to be among the largest and most impressive created since the screen turned vocal.

Yet in no case did Charrell follow the American practice of using several cameras to record various angles simultaneously, and combining these viewpoints in the finished picture.

Instead, he put his instrument on a crane or a traveling carriage, and strolled through the set, following or preceding his players in a completely natural manner through a long sequence that flows smoothly without the interruption of a series of "close-ups" and scenes from different angles.

Charell, who proved his theories of camera handling with his direction of the remarkably successful "Congress Dances," after a meteoric career as one of the leading impressarios of Europe, is making his American debut as a director-producer with "Caravan," in which some 3,000 extra players were used in addition to an impressive cast of principals.

Charles Boyer, idol of the Continental screen, plays his first starring role in this country, a romantic songmaker, with Loretta Young and Jean Parker as his leading ladies and a supporting cast that includes Louise Fazenda, Phillips Holmes, C. Aubrey Smith, Noah Beery, Eugene Fallette, Dudley Digges, Charley Grapewin, Richard Carle and other celebrities.

Life insurance companies tell us that the gradual breakdown of the human body causes more deaths every year than disease germs

1. If your physical let-down is evidenced by lack of appetite . . . loss of weight . . . nervousness . . . sleeplessness . . . paleness . . . a tired feeling or lassitude caused by a lowered red-blood-cell and hemo-glo-bin content in the blood—then S.S.S. is waiting to help you . . . though, if you suspect an organic trouble, you will, of course, want to consult a physician or surgeon.

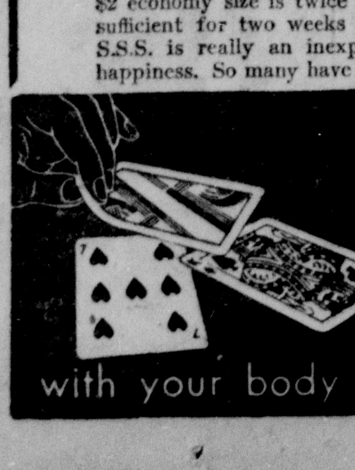
Make S.S.S. your health safeguard and, unless your case is exceptional, you should soon enjoy again the satisfaction of appetizing food . . . sound sleep . . . and renewed strength.

2. Take a course of S.S.S. Remember, your present run-down condition may have been a slow, gradual process. Likewise, a reasonable time is required to rebuild full strength. S.S.S. is not a miracle worker—no rebuilding tonic is—but it is a scientifically proven and time-tested medicine. This is your guarantee of satisfaction. Its benefits are progressive . . . accumulative . . . and enduring.

3. Moreover, S.S.S. is not just a so-called tonic. It is a tonic specially designed to stimulate gastric secretions, and also has the mineral elements so very, very necessary in rebuilding the oxygen-carrying hemo-glo-bin of the blood. This two-fold purpose is important. Digestion is improved . . . food is better utilized . . . and thus you are enabled to better "carry on" without exhaustion—as you should naturally.

If your condition suggests a tonic . . . if your appetite is not keen . . . get a bottle of S.S.S. . . . take an appetizing portion just before meals. You will find it is truly a blood and body tonic. You should feel and look years younger with life giving and purifying blood surging through your body. You owe this to yourself and friends.

S.S.S. is sold by all drug stores in two convenient sizes. The $2 economy size is twice as large as the $1.25 regular size and is sufficient for two weeks treatment. Begin on the uproad today. S.S.S. is really an inexpensive way to better health and more happiness. So many have said— "S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again"



Do not be blinded by the efforts of a few unethical dealers who may suggest that you gamble with substitutes. You have a right to insist that S.S.S. be supplied you on request. Its long years of preference is your guarantee of satisfaction.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A huge public works program providing jobs for all the unemployed was laid on the government's doorstep today by the United States conference of mayors.

The chiefs of 96 big cities pledged co-operation with President Roosevelt and asked congress to enlarge the scope of its housing and slum clearance undertakings and to advance loans to the municipalities at low interest to speed local improvements.

Resolutions containing their plan were adopted unanimously and Mayor Daniel W. Hoan of Milwaukee, Wis., newly elected president of the organization, announced the American Municipal association with members in 33 states had agreed to support the program.

Pointing to the shortage in housing and the desirability of slum reconstruction, the documents stated:

"We suggest enlarging the present program of the federal government as one of the best means of employing labor and stimulating business."

The mayors demanded they be loaned funds for self liquidating public works in their communities for constructing schools, public buildings, and grade and street crossings.

Such a program could be effective only if carried out on a large scale throughout the country, the executives declared, and the money must come from Uncle Sam's coffers because the municipalities cannot assume additional burdens.

GUEST PREACHER

Dr. W. W. Hamilton, president of the Baptist Bible institute of New Orleans, is the guest preacher at the First Baptist church today. In the absence of the pastor, Rev. L. T. Hastings, who is at the bedside of his father in Lewisberg, Tenn., Dr. Hamilton will preach at both morning and evening services.

Dr. Hamilton has been a successful pastor. He was for several years pastor of the St. Charles Avenue Baptist church of New Orleans, having built the present beautiful and commodious church building. He was for a number of years director of the department of evangelism of the Southern Baptist convention. He has been successful through the years. For the past ten years he has been president of the Baptist Bible institute. The institute is a Southern Baptist institution, with valuable property and a large student body of preachers and missionaries and other church workers.

Clarks

The Baptist Woman's Missionary union met at the church on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. John D. Stuart, Royal Service program chairman, in charge of the meeting. The topic, "Clasping Hands With Our Southern Neighbors," was developed in a most interesting manner. The opening hymn was, "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow." Mrs. J. J. Ivey conducted the Bible study on "His Benefits," from Psalm 103, first through 13th verses. She concluded her lesson with a prayer. Mrs. Stuart presented the program topic in her talk on, "Our Southern Neighbors." Others taking part were, Mrs. J. W. McDonald, who gave, "Clasping Hands With Cuba"; Mrs. Dyke Stringer, who gave, "Clasping Hands With Panama," and Mrs. Paul Jones who contributed, "Clasping Hands With Mexico." A hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus," was sung by the union members, and a prayer followed by Mrs. Z. L. Buffington. A very pretty number of the program was, "A Vision of Hands," given by Mrs. S. H. Albritton accompanied by Mrs. Paul Jones at the piano, who played, "The Touch of His Hand on Mine." Mrs. Stuart then told an experience of Alexander Woollcott during the World war. The business session followed during which Mrs. Stuart read a letter from the Monroe Baptist Children's home saying the Clarks church had been given a child in the home to clothe. A list of the necessary garments was enclosed and the society voted to purchase and send these to the home. The meeting closed with a prayer by Mrs. J. W. McDonald.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Edward Christman are the parents of a son, David Eugene Christman, born Nov. 10th. The maternal grandparents are, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Loflin of Clarks, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McInnis of Sulphur.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Robinson are the parents of a daughter, Beverly Joe, born Nov. 16th.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Bratten are the parents of a son born Nov. 19th.

STATE TEACHERS RETURN TO HOMES

Election Is Held Of Sectional And Departmental Officers

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Thousands of teachers who attended the Louisiana Teachers association convention here returned home today after election of sectional and departmental officers that came as the assembly finale together with the installation of association officials for the coming year.

Adjournment came after the naming of the following group presidents:

State health and physical education—Mrs. Thelma S. Kyser, Louisiana Normal college.

High school mathematics—Mrs. H. L. Garrett, Baton Rouge.

Home economics—Miss Lois Stafford, New Orleans.

L. P. Terrebonne, superintendent of Iberville parish schools, was installed as president of the Teachers' association following his election over J. B. Myers, principal of Baton Rouge junior high school in a close contest.

Miss Elise Alleman of Welsh was elected vice president, and R. H. Agate of Southwestern Louisiana institute was reelected treasurer.

State Bar Examinations Scheduled In February

Fred G. Hudson, Jr., of Monroe, secretary of the supreme court examining committee for admission to the bar of Louisiana, announced Saturday that the committee will hold its next examinations on February 11, 12 and 13 at Tulane university, New Orleans.

Applications on the required form must be delivered to the clerk of the supreme court at least 30 days prior to the dates fixed for the examination.

Those desiring blanks and further information are requested to apply to Stephen A. Mascaro, assistant secretary, 411 New Orleans court building, New Orleans.

A polar bear in the London zoo collected walking sticks and umbrellas by placing a fish on a ledge near the bars and pretended he could not reach it. When onlookers offered to push the food toward him, he would grab the umbrellas or canes.

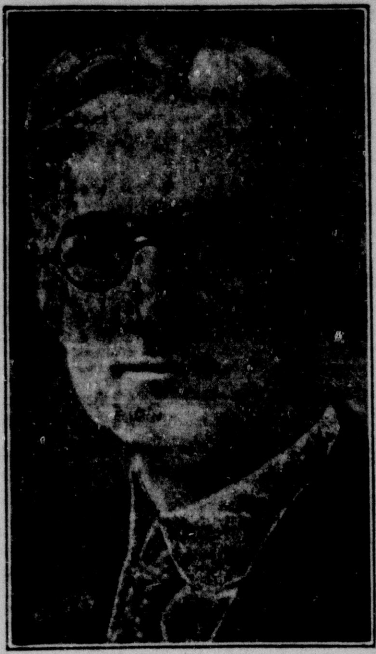
GUEST PREACHER



Dr. W. W. Hamilton, president of the Baptist Bible institute of New Orleans, is the guest preacher at the First Baptist church today. In the absence of the pastor, Rev. L. T. Hastings, who is at the bedside of his father in Lewisberg, Tenn., Dr. Hamilton will preach at both morning and evening services.

Dr. Hamilton has been a successful pastor. He was for several years pastor of the St. Charles Avenue Baptist church of New Orleans, having built the present beautiful and commodious church building. He was for a number of years director of the department of evangelism of the Southern Baptist convention. He has been successful through the years. For the past ten years he has been president of the Baptist Bible institute. The institute is a Southern Baptist institution, with valuable property and a large student body of preachers and missionaries and other church workers.

Clarks

The Baptist Woman's Missionary union met at the church on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. John D. Stuart, Royal Service program chairman, in charge of the meeting. The topic, "Clasping Hands With Our Southern Neighbors," was developed in a most interesting manner. The opening hymn was, "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow." Mrs. J. J. Ivey conducted the Bible study on "His Benefits," from Psalm 103, first through 13th verses. She concluded her lesson with a prayer. Mrs. Stuart presented the program topic in her talk on, "Our Southern Neighbors." Others taking part were, Mrs. J. W. McDonald, who gave, "Clasping Hands With Cuba"; Mrs. Dyke Stringer, who gave, "Clasping Hands With Panama," and Mrs. Paul Jones who contributed, "Clasping Hands With Mexico." A hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus," was sung by the union members, and a prayer followed by Mrs. Z. L. Buffington. A very pretty number of the program was, "A Vision of Hands," given by Mrs. S. H. Albritton accompanied by Mrs. Paul Jones at the piano, who played, "The Touch of His Hand on Mine." Mrs. Stuart then told an experience of Alexander Woollcott during the World war. The business session followed during which Mrs. Stuart read a letter from the Monroe Baptist Children's home saying the Clarks church had been given a child in the home to clothe. A list of the necessary garments was enclosed and the society voted to purchase and send these to the home. The meeting closed with a prayer by Mrs. J. W. McDonald.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Edward Christman are the parents of a son, David Eugene Christman, born Nov. 10th. The maternal grandparents are, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Loflin of Clarks, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McInnis of Sulphur.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Robinson are the parents of a daughter, Beverly Joe, born Nov. 16th.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Bratten are the parents of a son born Nov. 19th.

RECEIVER NAMED IN TRAPPER WAR

Judge Dawkins Acts To Bring Peace Between Two Factions

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Under the threat of open warfare between two rival trapper groups, Judge Ben C. Dawkins, of federal district court here today ordered appointment of a sequestrator, or receiver, of 90,000 acres of contested trapping lands in St. Bernard parish below New Orleans.

The order was issued at a hearing for 41 trappers who had been cited to appear to answer to contempt charges for violating an injunction from federal court protecting the Violet Trapping company, Inc., on the land.

The Violet company and the St. Bernard syndicate, another trapping organization, both claim rights to the land, scene of periodical clashes in warfare between rival trapping folk.

The sequestrator is expected to be appointed within a few days and he will be given authority to administer the trapping rights and supervise the sale of furs from the current season during the controversy.

Counsel for the syndicate claimed that the 1934 legislature vested the land rights in their organization and alleged that the Violet company was no longer in control and had tried to obtain lease on the property from the syndicate.

Tin cans are made mostly of sheet steel and only a little tin.

Chamber Of Commerce Sees Improving Business Outlook

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—As the nation headed today into its period of holiday trade, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States produced statistics to show "improving business sentiment."

This and other pronouncements, leading many business men to hope that the Christmas trade might be the best since 1929, were keyed to a note of quiet optimism.

The chamber said the improving sentiment, seen in October, continued in November. It cited "a six per cent rise in the volume of check payments, steady retail sales, stable wholesale prices, favorable car loading reports and increasing steel production."

Although the chamber's position is that the government should take no steps to diminish business confidence and create uncertainty, it indicated a belief that "less in the way of reassurance" is required now than at any time in the past several months.

"In responsible modern enterprise," the statement said, "there is such a long interval between origination of additional undertakings and accomplishment, with so large outlays for labor and materials and so small a margin for profit or loss, that a feeling of freedom from the danger of unpredictable outside influences is necessary to released initiative.

"To give this feeling in many directions it will now require less in the way of reassurance than at any time since last spring."

Like the chamber, the department of commerce finds encouraging business factors. It is preparing for its forthcoming monthly review a statement reporting increased industrial production, employment, payrolls and construction.

The chamber, enlarging on last month's signs of better sentiment, said:

"Such a broad index of national activity as the volume of payments by checks in the commercial and industrial centers of the country is running six per cent over the level of last year, and 20 per cent over the year before."

TIBET THEATER SEASON ENDS

One of the most successful theatrical seasons in Tibet has just come to an end. The drama was composed of discussions and dialogues, a prologue being spoken by a narrator. The female parts were taken by boys, the male roles by monks. Nobles and monks traveled long distances on horseback to the monastery where the performances were given. There tents were raised in which spectators of importance lived during the season and from which, as from boxes, they viewed the productions.

RICHBERG ORDERS STUDY TO UNITE RELIEF AGENCIES

Plan Is To Weave Together Activities Into One Strong Unit

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A study aimed at knitting public works, emergency work relief and other widespread work weaving activities of the government into a cohesive unit was disclosed today to have been ordered by the administration.

Donald R. Richberg ordered the study first as one of his efforts at coordination but the matter also has been taken up by President Roosevelt's committee on economic security. There has arisen the possibility that when the committee's full report goes to the president in December, a section may be devoted to recommendations on how to prune the tankle of work activities into one strong unit.

Back of the order is a desire to get into one agency the public works, the wide range of emergency work relief, the several other works of separately conducted emergency employment, and possibly the civilian conservation corps.

The study is being conducted by an expert in the relief administration.

There has been some talk of broadening one of the divisions of the labor department, perhaps the employment unit, to embrace these activities. Others have expressed the view that a separate, public welfare department should be set up.

Under the latter plan, unemployment insurance, old age pensions and the wide scoped social benefits program would all be put into one department.

Under the present system several different emergency divisions are conducting work programs, some of them conflicting.

The civilian conservation corps comes under a slightly different category and might be omitted from consideration in the final plans. This work is regarded as purely of a non-competitive character.

INSULL IS GIVEN QUICK ACQUITTAL

The jury's speed had hinted they had decided upon blanket acquittal.

But the court crowd waited in high, nervous tension.

There was a pause, electric with suspense.

Insull, 75 years old a few days ago, took his seat beneath the judge's bench in the front row of the defendants. Defense counsel filed in, followed by prosecutors. Insull's ordinarily ruddy face was almost as white as his drooping mustache.

He looked nervously about the courtroom, turning to converse shortly with the others behind him.

Mrs. Insull was not in court but wives of the other defendants were behind the court rail. Mrs. Robert W. Waite, wife of an officer in the Utility Securities company, held a handkerchief to her eyes.

Judge Wilkerson entered and took his place in black robes. His clerk stopped the excited whispering with three raps on the desk.

"Bring in the jury," said the judge.

The courtroom fell silent. The jurors filed in, led by Foreman Lent.

"Have you reached a verdict?" asked the judge.

The response was inaudible.

A bailiff took the paper Lent handed him. He read:

It was a blanket acquittal. A cheer went up from the crowd of spectators, only faintly quieted by the banging of the clerk's gavel.

Some of the defendants broke out with "hurrahs." Some of the crowd rushed to congratulate the defendants. Papers were thrown into the air. The turmoil pervaded the sedate trial room.

But the senior Insull heard the words acquitting him with no change of expression. It had been feared that the verdict would be too great a strain for a heart ailment he suffers.

Still unsmiling, he arose and pushed through the jubilant defendants and attorneys to the rail of the jury box. He shook hands with each of the jurors as, released after 54 days of imprisonment, they marched out of the box.

Another charge involving the same company—Insull's Corporation Securities company—is pending against him. U. S. District Attorney Green declined to say what plans the goverment had for pressing it.

Before they retired to the Chicago club for a celebration the defendants made brief comments on the verdict.

Said H. L. Stuart, head of the investment banking house of Halsey, Stuart and company, close associate of Insull, Jr., 30 years old:

"This verdict reaffirms my faith in American institutions. I am more happy that my firm's name has been cleared than I am about my own."

Mrs. Insull, waiting in her hotel for the verdict, heard the verdict by telephone. She said:

"I am tremendously happy over the acquittal of my husband and son."

Stanley Field, the famous Chicago philanthropist and an Insull director, was brief. He said "I am very much appreciative of this verdict."

Only one of the jurors would comment.

"After the first two weeks, we had no doubt that the defendants were innocent."

Samuel Insull, Jr., his father's "chief of staff" and once vice president of three Insull concerns, said:

"I appreciate the vindication of the motives of my father and myself and our associates."

No Protests Are Received Against Play Once Banned

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Ushered in with not a single murmur of protest on the part of censors, Broadway viewed a new play this week which would have caused—and did—a hurry call for the police eight years ago.

Briefly, it is "The Children's Hour," a finely written drama about an almost forbidden subject from the adept pen of Lillian Hellman.

Looking past its earned niche as one of the most erudite and worth plays of the season, it has a definite social significance in that it indicates Broadway has become more tolerant, more liberal and more sophisticated.

Eight years ago Helen Menken appeared as the tragic, tortured heroine of Edouard Bourdet's play, "The Captive," which dealt with a similar delicate theme of abnormal affection. It was a tremendous hit for the few nights it played before being hustled into oblivion by the police censors.

But, where Bourdet veiled his topic behind insinuation, Miss Hellman is forthright and downright outspoken. "The Captive" is almost an innocent case history when compared with the irresistable frankness of "The Children's Hour."

The principals are Karen and Martha, two girl graduates who are running a boarding school for girls in their 'teens. Their school is a success and Karen is preparing for her wedding to the young doctor of the town when tragedy descends.

One of the pupils is Mary Tilford, granddaughter of the school's wealthiest patron. But, Mary is about the contrariest, meanest youngtser ever created in fiction. She lies, cheats, blackmails, threatens and engineers countless other nefarious acts to escape punishment for her own misdeeds.

Finally, to escape detection of one of her major sins, this young imp makes accusations that Karen and Martha are abnormal. From then on all the fine and decent characters of the play must face the inevitable, that a sinful child's prattling has wrecked all their lives.

It is, the critics agree, one of the most sincere and artful examples of dramaturgy that has come to Broadway this year. Not only has Miss Hellman, and this is her first play, written a moving, intelligent tragedy, but it has also been staged with sympathetic understanding by Herman Shumlin, the quiet spoken maestro who was responsible for "Grand Hotel."

Katharine Emergy and Anne Revere, as the two school teachers are excellent, but the memorable performance of the evening is given by Florence McGee as that cantankerous youngster whose careless tongue smashed the lives of a half dozen innocent people.

Miss Essie M. Culver To Attend P.-T. A. Meet

Miss Essie M. Culver, executive secretary of the Louisiana Library commission and state chairman of children's reading, will attend a regular meeting of the Parent-Teacher association of the Claiborne school Wednesday afternoon at 2:40 o'clock at the school. Miss Culver will give a talk in connection with "national book month."

A report on the district meeting of Parent-Teacher associations will be given by Mrs. M. L. DeFreese. Mrs. J. O. Hastings will read the state president's message and Mrs. Ivey Wallace will read the national president's message.

Judge Decides To Insist On Cash For All Fines

PRESTON, Minn., Nov. 24.—(AP)—B. R. Fraser, justice of the peace, is going to insist on cash payment of all fines in future.

The day before the banking moratorium in March, 1933, he accepted a $50 check from a company he had fined for violating a state food law. When he attempted to cash the check the next day payment was refused.

By the time Fraser sought to cash the check again, the firm he had fined had changed its name. Again payment was refused.

Then the state food commission ruled the justice himself was liable for the fine. The state attorney general upheld this opinion.

Farmer Finds Leghorn Crossed With Pheasant

HALEY, Minn., Nov. 24. — (AP) — Poultry is poultry and pheasants are pheasants, but what puzzled Fred Gruhl was that on his farm this order of life became a trifle mixed up.

Discovering 150 leghorn chicks missing from his flock, Gruhl decided to investigate. He caught a queer looking leghorn specimen that remained in his yard and found it crossed with a Chinese pheasant. it was a leghorn pheasant.

Gruhl figured that the pheasant predominated in the 150 hybrid chicks and that they had left the farmyard to join their half-brethren in the wild.

Employe Of Newspaper Suffers Injury To Hand

B. F. Bryant, press room employe of the News-Star—World, suffered an injury to his right hand last night when the heavy metal lid of a casting box flew open and struck his hand. He was carried to the Clinic, where it was learned he probably did not suffer a fracture. An X-ray picture of the hand will be made today, however.

Bryant was working at the casting box at the time he was injured. The lid, which is closed against the pressure of a spring, sprang open because it was insecurely fastened, it was said.

Resident Of Transient Bureau Hurt In Brawl

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 24.—(AP)—A drunken brawl involving three transient bureau residents here today resulted in critical injuries for Jeff Whitt, 28, arrest of two other transients, both of whom were also injured, and the injury of two purported bystanders, one a negro woman.

Whitt is suffering from a possible fracture of the skull.

Lacerations and bruises were the portion of the fight dealt out to Arthur White, 22, and George Martin, about 30, transients, held in city jail as suspects.

ANOTHER BURGLARY REPORT RECEIVED BY MONROE POLICE

Another of a series of house and office burglaries in Monroe during the past week had been reported to police Saturday from the residence of Miss Irene Richbourg, 704 Hudson Lane, who reported that articles of jewelry had been stolen from a pocket of a woman's coat hanging in a closet of the home.

The articles stolen were a gold bracelet, two gold rings, a white gold wrist watch and a gold brooch.

Miss Richbourg reported that earlier in the week her residence was entered by a burglar who stole $15.

Office and house entries and thefts were reported to police during the week as follows:

W. F. Cooper, about $19 stolen during the night from his room at 206 Walnut street.

J. C. Dollar, 1809 North Fifth street, house ransacked by burglar, but nothing discovered stolen.

THEFT REPORTED

Theft of articles of clothing from his automobile while it was parked at 811 DeSiard street last night was reported to police by R. D. Faar, 309 Moore street. Articles stolen included a woman's suit, hose and slippers.

Gruhl figured that the pheasant predominated in the 150 hybrid chicks and that they had left the farmyard to join their half-brethren in the wild.

Employe Of Newspaper Suffers Injury To Hand

B. F. Bryant, press room employe of the News-Star—World, suffered an injury to his right hand last night when the heavy metal lid of a casting box flew open and struck his hand. He was carried to the Clinic, where it was learned he probably did not suffer a fracture. An X-ray picture of the hand will be made today, however.

Bryant was working at the casting box at the time he was injured. The lid, which is closed against the pressure of a spring, sprang open because it was insecurely fastened, it was said.

Resident Of Transient Bureau Hurt In Brawl

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 24.—(AP)—A drunken brawl involving three transient bureau residents here today resulted in critical injuries for Jeff Whitt, 28, arrest of two other transients, both of whom were also injured, and the injury of two purported bystanders, one a negro woman.

Whitt is suffering from a possible fracture of the skull.

Lacerations and bruises were the portion of the fight dealt out to Arthur White, 22, and George Martin, about 30, transients, held in city jail as suspects.

ANOTHER BURGLARY REPORT RECEIVED BY MONROE POLICE

Another of a series of house and office burglaries in Monroe during the past week had been reported to police Saturday from the residence of Miss Irene Richbourg, 704 Hudson Lane, who reported that articles of jewelry had been stolen from a pocket of a woman's coat hanging in a closet of the home.

The articles stolen were a gold bracelet, two gold rings, a white gold wrist watch and a gold brooch.

Miss Richbourg reported that earlier in the week her residence was entered by a burglar who stole $15.

Office and house entries and thefts were reported to police during the week as follows:

W. F. Cooper, about $19 stolen during the night from his room at 206 Walnut street.

J. C. Dollar, 1809 North Fifth street, house ransacked by burglar, but nothing discovered stolen.

THEFT REPORTED

Theft of articles of clothing from his automobile while it was parked at 811 DeSiard street last night was reported to police by R. D. Faar, 309 Moore street. Articles stolen included a woman's suit, hose and slippers.

ROOSEVELT ACTS TO SMOOTH OVER HOUSING DISPUTE

Ickes And Moffett Meet At White House, Disclaim Trouble

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Hurried long-distance intervention by President Roosevelt today was found necessary to smooth some of the outer rough edges off a bitter infernal dispute between his housing and public works administrations, but the intra-administration storm clouds tonight had not been completely dispelled.

James A. Moffett, housing chief, and Secretary Ickes, public works administrator, who had differed over a government financed housing plan, were closeted at the White House for two hours. They emerged with a formal disclaimer there was any trouble between them.

Moffett yesterday asserted publicly that a portion of the Ickes program, if carried into effect, would wreck the national housing act. He said that for the government to begin building small houses and selling them would mean competition with private business and consequent flight of capital and a reduction of property values overnight. Ickes, the day before, had suggested private capital should take over the housing job, but that since it appeared unwilling, the government should build low cost homes and sell them to the public at 3 per cent interest.

Wide publicity attended Moffett's' criticism of this idea. The former Standard Oil official is ranked as a conservative. Ickes is labeled as one of the administration's liberals. Moffett's' job has been to bring private capital back into the housing field, and he has been stern in defending the necessity for this.

The first thing this morning, Ickes, Michael Straus, PWA publicity director, and Moffett rushed to the White House. Their statement afterward said each had requested a conference with the other. There were signs, nevertheless, that President Roosevelt had communicated with them.

Ickes arrived at the executive offices shortly after 10 a. m. He literally ran through the lobby to the office of Stephen Early, one of the presidential secretaries. Thirty minutes later Moffett entered Early's office.

When the conference broke up, Ickes and Straus were the first to leave. Moffett, his florid complexion almost gray, left a moment later. They met again on the front porch of the White House and rode away in the same automobile.

There have been indications in recent days that Ickes and Harry Hopkins, the relief administrator, did not see completely eye to eye on all points. Recently in a magazine article Ickes contended that enlargement of the PWA program might result in the disappearance of the need for relief from other agencies. This assertion is known to be contrary to the belief of Hopkins and his aides that even though every construction worker were taken off relief rolls, it would not remove several classes of persons, including women and so-called white collar workers.

There are twice as many airplane pilots as there are planes in this country.

PRIZE WINNER

This happy youngster is John Earl Taylor, prize-winning son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Taylor of Farmerville. He was named as winner in a national baby contest in which 100,000 babies participated. An engraved silver trophy was awarded as a prize. Grandparents of John Earl, who is six months old, are Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Taylor of Farmerville and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Clark of Farmerville.

MAN INJURED AS DEAD TREE FALLS

Trunk Topples Over On Dilworth When Automobile Is Backed

Injured when a decayed tree fell upon him in woods about 15 miles north of Monroe Friday night, B. F. Dilworth, 29, was reported to be recovering satisfactorily late Saturday at St. Francis sanitarium, and will be removed today or tomorrow to his home, 2704 Gordon avenue.

Dilworth was struck by the tree when an automobile which had become stuck in a dirt road was driven backward against the tree, causing the tree to break and fall upon him. He was knocked unconscious by a blow on his head, and suffered an injury to his back over his right kidney, and general bruises and sprains.

The injured man said that he was one of a group of employes of Barlow Inabnet, drilling contractor, en route to a drilling location at the time of the accident. The automobile in which they were riding became stuck in the mud, and Dilworth and others of the group left the car to push and pry the machine from the mud. It was while he was standing behind the car that it was backed into the tree, which was said to have been about a foot thick.

S. N. Camp, 610 North Third street, West Monroe, was said to have been the driver of the car.

MANX J. P.'S WANT MORE WORK

Magistrates of Douglas, Isle of Man, are complaining that they do not have enough work because the stipendiary magistrate likes to keep busy, even to handling petty cases. The magistrates have made a request that such cases as chimneys on fire should be assigned to them and "heavier" cases in which points of law are involved be left to the stipendiary.

OUACHITA GIRLS WIN CLUB HONORS

Two Ouachita parish 4-H club girls have won state honors for their work in activities of the organization during the past year. One of the girls will receive a gold metal and the other will be given a free trip to Chicago.

Mary Ella Sims, who resides at the Liberty community and who is a member of the Calhoun 4-H club, will be awarded a gold medal for winning first place in the home economics division of state 4-H club work.

LaVerne Kent, of the Drew 4-H club, will be given a trip to Chicago for winning state honors as an outstanding club member. About 16 other girls won similar honors and a trip to Chicago. The young people will leave the state next Saturday, in charge of W. C. Abbott, state club leader, and Miss Estelle Fournet, state canning specialist, and at Chicago will attend the national congress of 4-H clubs.

Miss Sims has been a 4-H club member for four years. This year she attended a state 4-H club short course at Baton Rouge. She also attended a parish 4-H club leadership school at Camp Ki-Ro-Li, and a district school or camp at Sicily Island. She won several places for canning and cooking in the Louisiana State fair and the Ouachita Valley Free fair.

Miss Kent has been a 4-H club member for several years. She attended the short course at Baton Rouge, served as leader of her club and filled an important role in "all-round" activities. Her essay on the subject, "How 4-H Club Work Has Helped me," was judged one of the best submitted to the state headquarters of 4-H clubs.

war. And that is unpleasant news for Germany, enemy of France, since the days of Louis the Fourteenth, hated by Russia, because of Hitler's denunciation of Russian policies, and Russia's idols, Karl Marx and Lenin.

Alliance with Russia means that France would have back of her ten million Russian soldiers, and what will soon be the biggest airplane fleet in the world. And those soldiers and airplanes would be commanded by the really powerful men of Russia, not by favorites of a feeble czar, as in the Russian-Japanese war.

ALL THE 65,000 inhabitants of Kiryu, in Japan observed, one minute of silen prayer to express their grief at inconvenience caused the Emperor Hirohito last Friday.

By mistake, the Mikado was caused to make a small detour from the regular road, with only two police sergeants as escort. One of the sergeants, in his remorse, attempted suicide, and the 65,000 inhabitants of Kiryu prayed in silence for one minute to show how badly they felt.

Imagine all the inhabitants of Milwaukee on their knees in prayer, repenting because President Roosevelt had been sent the wrong way to Oconomowoc. The Oriental character is beyond our comprehension, but it is a serious character.

DONALD R. RICHBERG, called "assistant president," or managing editor for Chief Editor Roosevelt, says the new era wants a "self-governed industry." Mr. Richberg does not believe that "our new economic structure should be based on a new form of government," or "its foundations laid in a political control of private enterprise."

Well said. May it be remembered.

When the Frenchman, Lahire, armed only with a small knife met the giant bear in a narrow mountain pass prayed: "God, I do not ask you to help Lahire. I only ask you not to help this bear." Lahire won.

American industry only asks the administration to observe neutrality in its fight with foreign industry, for control of the world's markets.

FREDERIC C. HOWE, consumers' counsel for the department of agriculture, advises mayors gathered in Chicago to experiment in public ownership and distribution of milk. He thinks the retail price could be cut in two. He would have city pasteurization and distribution of milk, possibly even city ownership of cows.

All interesting, but public ownership in other directions will probably come first. Municipal raising and weaning calves and the milk business generally is as yet outside of municipal ownership probabilities.

NEW JERSEY'S Governor Moore, devoted to his state, is worried by the suggestion that Postmaster General Farley may move the Eastern Air Mail terminus from Newark to Floyd Bennett field in New York.

New Jersey deserves an air mail field and should have one. New York also deserves such a field, as Mayor LaGuardia points out, if only because ninety per cent of the country's air mail starts from New York or is addressed to New York. Possibly before the discussion ends airplanes will be settling down gently with their mail loads on the roof of every important postoffice in the country, with no need of any special air mail landing fields. All that birds can do, flying men will do, and more.

SNAKE CAUSES 17 DEATHS

When a crowded ferry boat crossing the Chambar river at Gwalior, India, struck a thatched roof, which had been washed into the water during a flood, it caused a large snake to fall from the roof to the deck. Panic stricken passengers fled to the opposite side of the vessel, causing it to collapse. Seventeen persons were drowned.

INDUSTRIAL--REVIEW OF THE TWIN CITIES

NURSES MAINTAIN NEEDED SERVICE

District Association And Registry Available At All Hours

The official registry of the Monroe District Nurses Association was formed in March, 1929 and has been functioning without interruption since that time. There have been from forty to fifty graduate nurses registered and in good standing during this time.

In 1931 it was felt that an advisory board should be formed to govern the policies of the registry. This board is composed of nurses and physicians. Two nurses who graduated from the St. Francis Sanitarium, two who graduated from other institutions, one from the district association and one who is chairman of the private duty section, and two Monroe physicians.

The diversified representation on this board assures a conservative and fair control to all members of the registry. The board also acts as an assurance to the public that only competent nurses can become and remain members of the registry.

Two years ago in connection with the Nurses Central Registry a Physicians Exchange was formed. This exchange provides a means for locating a physician when he is out of touch with his office or home. The service rendered to the physicians and the public is very necessary and has facilitated medical service to a great extent.

Hourly appointment nursing is intermittent nursing service given to those individuals needing graduate nursing care. It is furnished at a stated time and is sold on a time basis rather than on a visit basis which fact particularly differentiates it from what we ordinarily understand as visiting nurses. There are a large number of cases who need this nursing service.

The patient ill in his home or hotel may not need continuous service, but is greatly benefited by one, two, three or more hours of nursing care daily or weekly. This is particularly applicable to post-operative convalescents, after the patient has returned home.

Maternity cases, either those delivered in the home or those newly discharged from the hospital also require this service.

Acutely ill cases such as influenza, etc., where the condition of the patient does not require continuous care and supervision also are benefitted. Chronic cases, a large number of bed ridden or house bound chronically ill patients who need some nursing care daily or weekly are in need of the service, also.

The name of Hourly Nursing Service is self-explanatory, but what you are interested in knowing is that you will receive skilled nursing care by a graduate nurse for a reasonable charge which you can well afford at the hour you need her and for as long as you need her. She will follow the doctor's instructions and make you comfortable and return daily or as often as necessary to carry out these instructions at the appointed time.

Of course hourly nursing or visiting nursing has been done by private individuals for some time, but without the supervision of an organized body, the public does not have the protection which is so necessary to assure high grade service.

The fundamental principle of offering hourly appointment nursing by the Nurses Central Registry is to provide organized protection to the patient, the nurse and the community with the approval of the physician in charge. This principle of a fixed responsibility recognizes the distinction between the "free lance" in hourly nursing service and that launched by a definite organization. The registry has as its objective providing sound nursing service to the community whereas an individual establishes this service largely from the view point of personal convenience and personal gain.

The community anticipates and has a right to expect stability both in duration and in quality of service from an organization which it cannot require from an individual.

While it is recognized that many nurses working on a "free lance" basis give service of excellent quality, it is also apparent that they cannot assure the quality of work of that of an association, nor can they assure the community that the service will be available at all times.

The Nurses Central Registry of the Monroe District Nurses Association is striving to insure a uniformly high standard of work through the continued education of the nurses, further study and development of the community needs, establishing a working relationship with the medical profession and other community groups concerned. It is hoped that a better understanding of this organization will enable it to go further forward in its valuable service to the community.

The Gila monster, of Southwestern United States and Mexico, is the only poisonous lizard in the world. Its poison comes from lipglands, which open near the bases of the teeth of the lower jaw.

Rush Work on Nation's Biggest Dam

Hoover Dam, the nation's gigantic engineering project, viewed from "Garage Landing" halfway down the walls of Black Canyon. In the right foreground can be seen the outlets of the giant diversion tunnels through which the Colorado River flows while construction is in progress. Although dwarfed by the canyon's sheer, rock walls, the Dam is at present over 650 feet high, reports a Nash owner who recently visited the site. With a crew of 2700 men working 24 hours a day, another fifteen months will see the enormous task completed.

TEN MILLIONTH CHEVROLET CAR

Employes Celebrate Occasion With Appropriate Ceremonies

The 10,000,000th Chevrolet car came off the assembly line at Flint, Mich., Nov. 13, as Chevrolet workers all over the United States joined in a celebration marking the 23rd anniversary of the founding of the Chevrolet Motor company.

Ceremonies were held at each of the nine Chevrolet assembly plants throughout the country, at which company officials were hosts to civic leaders and persons prominent in state and local government.

The building of the 10,000,000th Chevrolet was observed with ceremonies participated in by M. E. Coyle, president and general manager of the company, and the principal members of his staff.

The 10,000,000th Chevrolet was presented to the police department of the city of Flint, and officially accepted by Mayor Howard Clifford and Chief of Police James V. Wills. This car, a standard four-door sedan, was placed on display in the lobby of the General Motors building in Detroit for the remainder of the week. When equipped with radio and loud-speaker systems, it will be used as a safety patrol car in Flint.

Following the completion of the car and its presentation, Chevrolet No. 10,000,000 accompanied a caravan of cars bearing members of the official party from Flint to the General Motors building in Detroit, where a huge birthday cake was displayed in the Chevrolet retail store in the building. The cake, more than seven feet high, was made in ten layers, each representing 1,000,000 Chevrolets, and was crowned with 23 candles, one for each year in Chevrolet history.

Mr. Coyle pointed out, in his remarks to the guests, that one of the significant points in Chevrolet history is the fact that it required 11 years to build the first million cars, and only 12 years to build the subsequent nine million. According to registration figures, he said, approximately 5,000,000 Chevrolets—50 per cent of the total output in the company's history—are licensed and in operation today.

Mr. Coyle, whose connection with the company covers the period in which 9,882,856 of the 10,000,000 cars were built, paid tribute to Charles E. Wetherald, vice president and general manufacturing manager, now completing his 23rd year with the company. Mr. Coyle spoke highly of the loyalty and faithfulness of the thousands of Chevrolet employes, and alluded briefly to the fact that registration figures show Chevrolet to have registered more cars and trucks this year than any other manufacturer. This marks the sixth year in the last eight in which Chevrolet has led the industry, he said.

Among those accompanying Mr. Coyle during the ceremonies were Mr. Wetherald and his staff; H. B. Hatch and Felix Doran, Jr., assistant general sales managers of Chevrolet; C. P. Fisken, advertising manager, and his staff; and newspaper representatives.

The Chevrolet Motor company of Michigan was organized in November, 1911, and a factory was acquired shortly afterward in Detroit. During the first full year of operation, the output totaled 2,999 cars, a heavy schedule for those days. The 1912 model was a six-cylinder, five-passenger touring car known as the "Classic 6," and listing at $2,150 at the factory.

The six-cylinder car gave way to a four-cylinder model in 1914, and the four-cylinder line was continued until November, 1928, when the first of the modern six-cylinder Chevrolet line was announced. Since then, Chevrolet has built 4,825,202 six-cylinder cars.

OLDSMOBILE SEES BIG YEAR AHEAD

Plant At Lansing Doubled In Anticipation Of Record Sales

In anticipation of the biggest year in Oldsmobile history the production capacity of the plant at Lansing is being doubled.

Almost $2,500,000 is being spent to make possible the production of 1,000 cars a day during 1935, according to announcement today by C. L. McCuen, president and general manager.

Almost 2,000 men have been kept constantly at work for the past month on the expansion program alone, installing new machines, enlarging the assembly lines and rearranging the factory equipment.

Giant presses have been installed to help care for the anticipated increase in volume. One of these, one of the two largest fender presses in the country, weighs 250 tons and has a pressure of 750 tons.

New machines are being installed in the axle plant to step up the production of the "knee-action" suspension units.

Crank shaft equipment is being improved to meet the 1935 requirements.

New equipment and machinery is being added to give a new and finer lapping to cylinder bores and piston pins.

New provisions are being made for welding the rear axle housing.

New conveyors are being put in to carry motors to the final assembly line and to carry bodies from the Fisher Body plant to the final assembly line.

Another improvement is the enlargement of the export dock to care for the increased demand for Oldsmobiles from foreign countries. Oldsmobile export shipments in 1934 were several times larger than shipments for the previous year. Already export commitments for 1935 indicate a substantial increase over this year.

All this work is being done, Mr. McCuen points out, because Olds anticipates the biggest year in history. So far in 1934 more than twice as many Oldsmobiles have been sold at retail as during the same period in 1933.

Pointing toward 1935 it is the aim of Oldsmobile to have automobiles for dealers from the day of announcement and to be able to fill all demands for cars as fast as they come in.

The quota set for 1935 is far in excess of the biggest year in Oldsmobile history, 1929, Mr. McCuen said.

GIRL MAKES 41 SUICIDE TRYS

Japan's suicide attempt record has been broken by twenty-one-year-old Yuiriko Yamaguchi, who jumped 41 times within a month from a bridge into the Arakawa river near Tokyo. It is believed she leaped with the expectation of being saved by some gallant rescuer. Yuiriko says there is always someone nearby to help her back to safety and give her sympathetic advice. She was saved with great difficulty after her last jump so her enthusiasm over the idea has cooled somewhat.

Recently in a magazine article Ickes contended that enlargement of the PWA program might result in the disappearance of the need for relief from other agencies. This assertion is known to be contrary to the belief of Hopkins and his aides that even though every construction worker were taken off relief rolls, it would not remove several classes of persons, including women and so-called white collar workers.

This happy youngster is John Earl Taylor, prize-winning son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Taylor of Farmerville. He was named as winner in a national baby contest in which 100,000 babies participated. An engraved silver trophy was awarded as a prize. Grandparents of John Earl, who is six months old, are Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Taylor of Farmerville and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Clark of Farmerville.

MAN INJURED AS DEAD TREE FALLS

Trunk Topples Over On Dilworth When Automobile Is Backed

Injured when a decayed tree fell upon him in woods about 15 miles north of Monroe Friday night, B. F. Dilworth, 29, was reported to be recovering satisfactorily late Saturday at St. Francis sanitarium, and will be removed today or tomorrow to his home, 2704 Gordon avenue.

Dilworth was struck by the tree when an automobile which had become stuck in a dirt road was driven backward against the tree, causing the tree to break and fall upon him. He was knocked unconscious by a blow on his head, and suffered an injury to his back over his right kidney, and general bruises and sprains.

The injured man said that he was one of a group of employes of Barlow Inabnet, drilling contractor, en route to a drilling location at the time of the accident. The automobile in which they were riding became stuck in the mud, and Dilworth and others of the group left the car to push and pry the machine from the mud. It was while he was standing behind the car that it was backed into the tree, which was said to have been about a foot thick.

S. N. Camp, 610 North Third street, West Monroe, was said to have been the driver of the car.

MANX J. P.'S WANT MORE WORK

Magistrates of Douglas, Isle of Man, are complaining that they do not have enough work because the stipendiary magistrate likes to keep busy, even to handling petty cases. The magistrates have made a request that such cases as chimneys on fire should be assigned to them and "heavier" cases in which points of law are involved be left to the stipendiary.

OUACHITA GIRLS WIN CLUB HONORS

Two Ouachita parish 4-H club girls have won state honors for their work in activities of the organization during the past year. One of the girls will receive a gold metal and the other will be given a free trip to Chicago.

Mary Ella Sims, who resides at the Liberty community and who is a member of the Calhoun 4-H club, will be awarded a gold medal for winning first place in the home economics division of state 4-H club work.

LaVerne Kent, of the Drew 4-H club, will be given a trip to Chicago for winning state honors as an outstanding club member. About 16 other girls won similar honors and a trip to Chicago. The young people will leave the state next Saturday, in charge of W. C. Abbott, state club leader, and Miss Estelle Fournet, state canning specialist, and at Chicago will attend the national congress of 4-H clubs.

Miss Sims has been a 4-H club member for four years. This year she attended a state 4-H club short course at Baton Rouge. She also attended a parish 4-H club leadership school at Camp Ki-Ro-Li, and a district school or camp at Sicily Island. She won several places for canning and cooking in the Louisiana State fair and the Ouachita Valley Free fair.

Miss Kent has been a 4-H club member for several years. She attended the short course at Baton Rouge, served as leader of her club and filled an important role in "all-round" activities. Her essay on the subject, "How 4-H Club Work Has Helped me," was judged one of the best submitted to the state headquarters of 4-H clubs.

war. And that is unpleasant news for Germany, enemy of France, since the days of Louis the Fourteenth, hated by Russia, because of Hitler's denunciation of Russian policies, and Russia's idols, Karl Marx and Lenin.

Alliance with Russia means that France would have back of her ten million Russian soldiers, and what will soon be the biggest airplane fleet in the world. And those soldiers and airplanes would be commanded by the really powerful men of Russia, not by favorites of a feeble czar, as in the Russian-Japanese war.

ALL THE 65,000 inhabitants of Kiryu, in Japan observed, one minute of silen prayer to express their grief at inconvenience caused the Emperor Hirohito last Friday.

By mistake, the Mikado was caused to make a small detour from the regular road, with only two police sergeants as escort. One of the sergeants, in his remorse, attempted suicide, and the 65,000 inhabitants of Kiryu prayed in silence for one minute to show how badly they felt.

Imagine all the inhabitants of Milwaukee on their knees in prayer, repenting because President Roosevelt had been sent the wrong way to Oconomowoc. The Oriental character is beyond our comprehension, but it is a serious character.

DONALD R. RICHBERG, called "assistant president," or managing editor for Chief Editor Roosevelt, says the new era wants a "self-governed industry." Mr. Richberg does not believe that "our new economic structure should be based on a new form of government," or "its foundations laid in a political control of private enterprise."

Well said. May it be remembered. When the Frenchman, Lahire, armed only with a small knife met the giant bear in a narrow mountain pass prayed: "God, I do not ask you to help Lahire. I only ask you not to help this bear." Lahire won.

American industry only asks the administration to observe neutrality in its fight with foreign industry, for control of the world's markets.

FREDERIC C. HOWE, consumers' counsel for the department of agriculture, advises mayors gathered in Chicago to experiment in public ownership and distribution of milk. He thinks the retail price could be cut in two. He would have city pasteurization and distribution of milk, possibly even city ownership of cows.

All interesting, but public ownership in other directions will probably come first. Municipal raising and weaning calves and the milk business generally is as yet outside of municipal ownership probabilities.

NEW JERSEY'S Governor Moore, devoted to his state, is worried by the suggestion that Postmaster General Farley may move the Eastern Air Mail terminus from Newark to Floyd Bennett field in New York.

New Jersey deserves an air mail field and should have one. New York also deserves such a field, as Mayor LaGuardia points out, if only because ninety per cent of the country's air mail starts from New York or is addressed to New York. Possibly before the discussion ends airplanes will be settling down gently with their mail loads on the roof of every important postoffice in the country, with no need of any special air mail landing fields. All that birds can do, flying men will do, and more.

SNAKE CAUSES 17 DEATHS

When a crowded ferry boat crossing the Chambar river at Gwalior, India, struck a thatched roof, which had been washed into the water during a flood, it caused a large snake to fall from the roof to the deck. Panic stricken passengers fled to the opposite side of the vessel, causing it to collapse. Seventeen persons were drowned.

INDUSTRIAL--REVIEW OF THE TWIN CITIES

District Association And Registry Available At All Hours

The official registry of the Monroe District Nurses Association was formed in March, 1929 and has been functioning without interruption since that time. There have been from forty to fifty graduate nurses registered and in good standing during this time.

In 1931 it was felt that an advisory board should be formed to govern the policies of the registry. This board is composed of nurses and physicians. Two nurses who graduated from the St. Francis Sanitarium, two who graduated from other institutions, one from the district association and one who is chairman of the private duty section, and two Monroe physicians.

The diversified representation on this board assures a conservative and fair control to all members of the registry. The board also acts as an assurance to the public that only competent nurses can become and remain members of the registry.

Two years ago in connection with the Nurses Central Registry a Physicians Exchange was formed. This exchange provides a means for locating a physician when he is out of touch with his office or home. The service rendered to the physicians and the public is very necessary and has facilitated medical service to a great extent.

Hourly appointment nursing is intermittent nursing service given to those individuals needing graduate nursing care. It is furnished at a stated time and is sold on a time basis rather than on a visit basis which fact particularly differentiates it from what we ordinarily understand as visiting nurses. There are a large number of cases who need this nursing service.

The patient ill in his home or hotel may not need continuous service, but is greatly benefited by one, two, three or more hours of nursing care daily or weekly. This is particularly applicable to post-operative convalescents, after the patient has returned home.

Maternity cases, either those delivered in the home or those newly discharged from the hospital also require this service.

Acutely ill cases such as influenza, etc., where the condition of the patient does not require continuous care and supervision also are benefitted. Chronic cases, a large number of bed ridden or house bound chronically ill patients who need some nursing care daily or weekly are in need of the service, also.

The name of Hourly Nursing Service is self-explanatory, but what you are interested in knowing is that you will receive skilled nursing care by a graduate nurse for a reasonable charge which you can well afford at the hour you need her and for as long as you need her. She will follow the doctor's instructions and make you comfortable and return daily or as often as necessary to carry out these instructions at the appointed time.

Of course hourly nursing or visiting nursing has been done by private individuals for some time, but without the supervision of an organized body, the public does not have the protection which is so necessary to assure high grade service.

The fundamental principle of offering hourly appointment nursing by the Nurses Central Registry is to provide organized protection to the patient, the nurse and the community with the approval of the physician in charge. This principle of a fixed responsibility recognizes the distinction between the "free lance" in hourly nursing service and that launched by a definite organization. The registry has as its objective providing sound nursing service to the community whereas an individual establishes this service largely from the view point of personal convenience and personal gain.

The community anticipates and has a right to expect stability both in duration and in quality of service from an organization which it cannot require from an individual.

While it is recognized that many nurses working on a "free lance" basis give service of excellent quality, it is also apparent that they cannot assure the quality of work of that of an association, nor can they assure the community that the service will be available at all times.

The Nurses Central Registry of the Monroe District Nurses Association is striving to insure a uniformly high standard of work through the continued education of the nurses, further study and development of the community needs, establishing a working relationship with the medical profession and other community groups concerned. It is hoped that a better understanding of this organization will enable it to go further forward in its valuable service to the community.

Rush Work on Nation's Biggest Dam

TEN MILLIONTH CHEVROLET CAR

Employes Celebrate Occasion With Appropriate Ceremonies

The 10,000,000th Chevrolet car came off the assembly line at Flint, Mich., Nov. 13, as Chevrolet workers all over the United States joined in a celebration marking the 23rd anniversary of the founding of the Chevrolet Motor company.

Ceremonies were held at each of the nine Chevrolet assembly plants throughout the country, at which company officials were hosts to civic leaders and persons prominent in state and local government.

The building of the 10,000,000th Chevrolet was observed with ceremonies participated in by M. E. Coyle, president and general manager of the company, and the principal members of his staff.

The 10,000,000th Chevrolet was presented to the police department of the city of Flint, and officially accepted by Mayor Howard Clifford and Chief of Police James V. Wills. This car, a standard four-door sedan, was placed on display in the lobby of the General Motors building in Detroit for the remainder of the week. When equipped with radio and loud-speaker systems, it will be used as a safety patrol car in Flint.

Following the completion of the car and its presentation, Chevrolet No. 10,000,000 accompanied a caravan of cars bearing members of the official party from Flint to the General Motors building in Detroit, where a huge birthday cake was displayed in the Chevrolet retail store in the building. The cake, more than seven feet high, was made in ten layers, each representing 1,000,000 Chevrolets, and was crowned with 23 candles, one for each year in Chevrolet history.

Mr. Coyle pointed out, in his remarks to the guests, that one of the significant points in Chevrolet history is the fact that it required 11 years to build the first million cars, and only 12 years to build the subsequent nine million. According to registration figures, he said, approximately 5,000,000 Chevrolets—50 per cent of the total output in the company's history—are licensed and in operation today.

Mr. Coyle, whose connection with the company covers the period in which 9,882,856 of the 10,000,000 cars were built, paid tribute to Charles E. Wetherald, vice president and general manufacturing manager, now completing his 23rd year with the company. Mr. Coyle spoke highly of the loyalty and faithfulness of the thousands of Chevrolet employes, and alluded briefly to the fact that registration figures show Chevrolet to have registered more cars and trucks this year than any other manufacturer. This marks the sixth year in the last eight in which Chevrolet has led the industry, he said.

Among those accompanying Mr. Coyle during the ceremonies were Mr. Wetherald and his staff; H. B. Hatch and Felix Doran, Jr., assistant general sales managers of Chevrolet; C. P. Fisken, advertising manager, and his staff; and newspaper representatives.

The Chevrolet Motor company of Michigan was organized in November, 1911, and a factory was acquired shortly afterward in Detroit. During the first full year of operation, the output totaled 2,999 cars, a heavy schedule for those days. The 1912 model was a six-cylinder, five-passenger touring car known as the "Classic 6,"' and listing at $2,150 at the factory.

The six-cylinder car gave way to a four-cylinder model in 1914, and the four-cylinder line was continued until November, 1928, when the first of the modern six-cylinder Chevrolet line was announced. Since then, Chevrolet has built 4,825,202 six-cylinder cars.

OLDSMOBILE SEES BIG YEAR AHEAD

In anticipation of the biggest year in Oldsmobile history the production capacity of the plant at Lansing is being doubled.

Almost $2,500,000 is being spent to make possible the production of 1,000 cars a day during 1935, according to announcement today by C. L. McCuen, president and general manager.

Almost 2,000 men have been kept constantly at work for the past month on the expansion program alone, installing new machines, enlarging the assembly lines and rearranging the factory equipment.

Giant presses have been installed to help care for the anticipated increase in volume. One of these, one of the two largest fender presses in the country, weighs 250 tons and has a pressure of 750 tons.

New machines are being installed in the axle plant to step up the production of the "knee-action" suspension units.

Crank shaft equipment is being improved to meet the 1935 requirements.

New equipment and machinery is being added to give a new and finer lapping to cylinder bores and piston pins.

New provisions are being made for welding the rear axle housing.

New conveyors are being put in to carry motors to the final assembly line and to carry bodies from the Fisher Body plant to the final assembly line.

Another improvement is the enlargement of the export dock to care for the increased demand for Oldsmobiles from foreign countries. Oldsmobile export shipments in 1934 were several times larger than shipments for the previous year. Already export commitments for 1935 indicate a substantial increase over this year.

All this work is being done, Mr. McCuen points out, because Olds anticipates the biggest year in history. So far in 1934 more than twice as many Oldsmobiles have been sold at retail as during the same period in 1933.

Pointing toward 1935 it is the aim of Oldsmobile to have automobiles for dealers from the day of announcement and to be able to fill all demands for cars as fast as they come in.

The quota set for 1935 is far in excess of the biggest year in Oldsmobile history, 1929, Mr. McCuen said.

GIRL MAKES 41 SUICIDE TRYS

Japan's suicide attempt record has been broken by twenty-one-year-old Yuiriko Yamaguchi, who jumped 41 times within a month from a bridge into the Arakawa river near Tokyo. It is believed she leaped with the expectation of being saved by some gallant rescuer. Yuiriko says there is always someone nearby to help her back to safety and give her sympathetic advice. She was saved with great difficulty after her last jump so her enthusiasm over the idea has cooled somewhat.

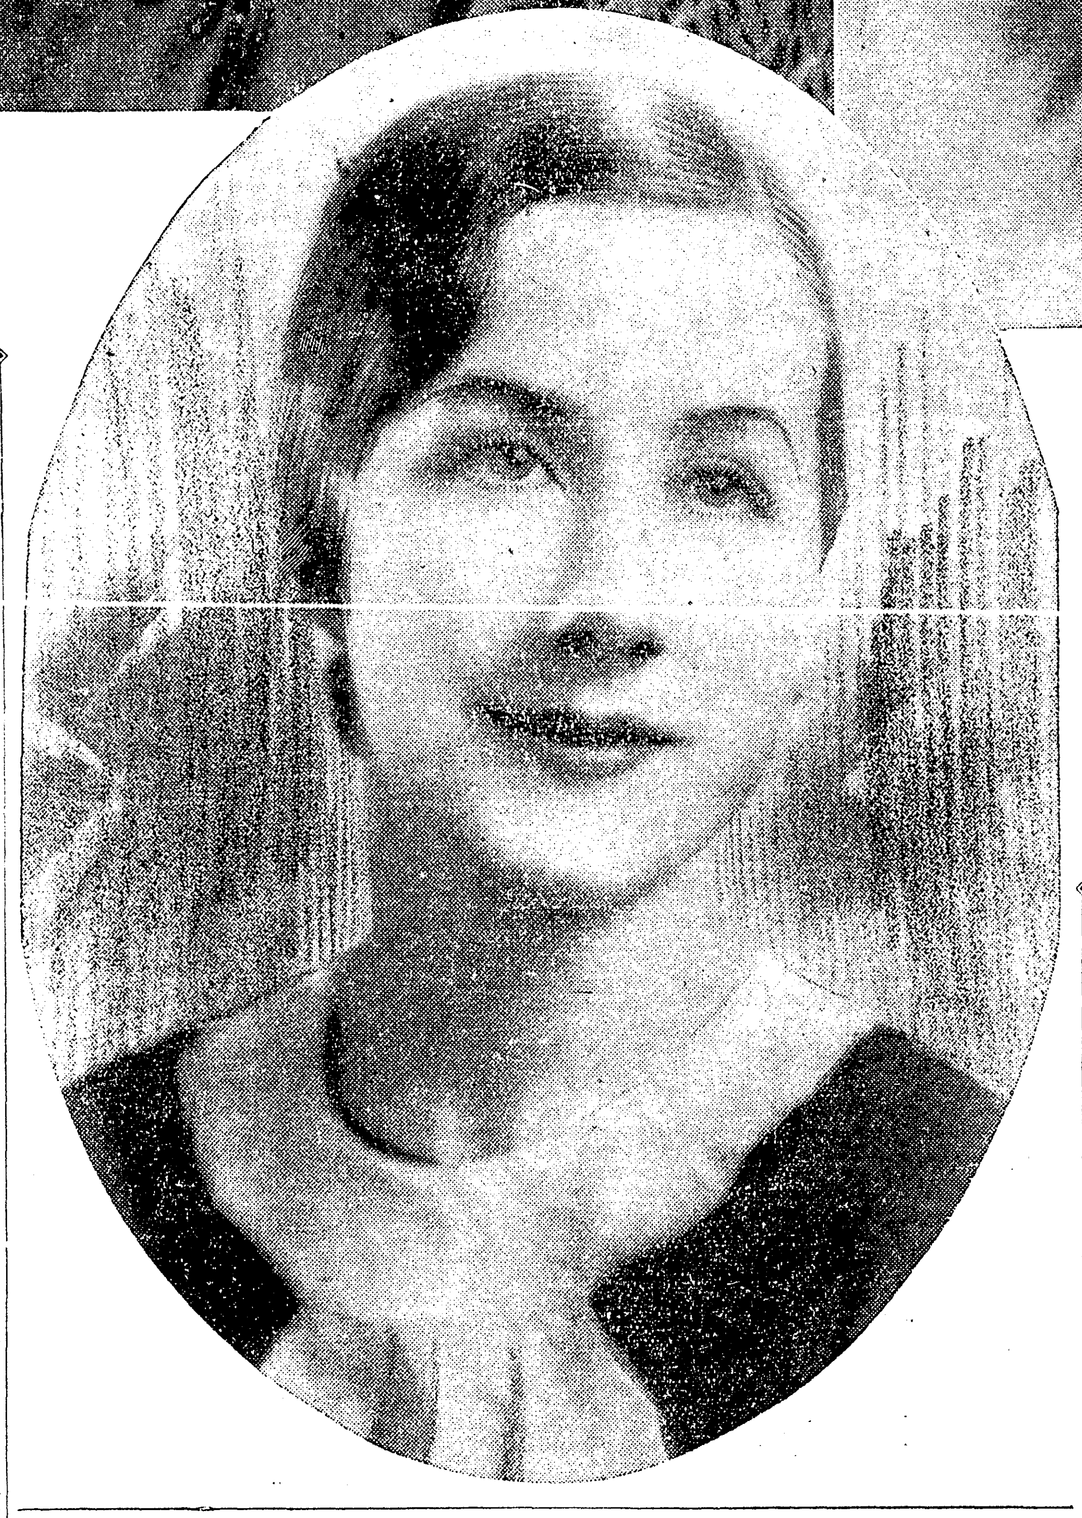
SOCIETY

BY EVE BRADFORD



In the pictures we have Miss Dorothy Mae Justice, lovely member of the younger set of Delhi, La., who was recently chosen "Campus Queen" of the Delhi high school and was privileged to present the gorgeous bouquet of chrysanthemums to the football captain before the game last Friday. She was also privileged to present the team with the football used in the game. (Left.)

Mrs. J. T. Howell of Collinston, La., state president of the state home demonstration council, who represented the rural women of Louisiana at the annual meeting of the American Country Life association in Washington, D. C., last week. Mrs. Howell is a great favorite in this city where she is a frequent visitor in the home of her brother, Dr. J. B. Vaughan, and Mrs. Vaughan. (Center.) Portrait by Downing studio.

Mrs. William Quiggles, popular member of the younger married set, who was recently appointed publicity chairman of the luncheon and bridge tournament held twice a month at Lakeside club. Mrs. Quiggles is, in a measure, responsible for the success of these affairs. (Right.) Portrait by Downing studio.

Miss Sadie Barham, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Eugene Barham of Oak Ridge, whose engagement to Mr. Thomas Oliver Files, Jr., has just been announced. (Oval below.)

LIKE a rare jewel Thanksgiving day gleams out brightly on this frost-swept earth. . . . The president will call upon us to gather, so far as we can, in our accustomed places of worship, there to review the things the Lord has done for us. . . . In his proclamation he will set forth the evidences that God's hand has not been too heavy upon us . . . that rather He has been good in even greater measure than we had any right to expect Him to be. . . . We of Monroe have so much to be thankful for. . . . God has been exceptionally good to us and our happy hearts will overflow with gratitude on this Thanksgiving day when we grasp the cup which is pressed down and running over . . . we will remember when we gather at our places of worship that we are to offer up thanks for perils overcome and dangers averted rather than thanks for bounteous crops . . . there was only a meager harvest in 1621 when Governor Bradford appointed the first American day of Thanksgiving, but he appointed it nevertheless . . . If you want to have a real Thanksgiving, pack up every morsel of food you have left from dinner in baskets and start out to look for some one who needs it . . . you will find as you turn toward home with your empty basket that Thanksgiving this year has given you a glowing feeling of friendship and brotherhood with all the world . . . Of course the great allure of this week will be the annual football classic between L. S. U. and Tulane . . . the band will blare forth its martial notes and gibberish sounds from raucous throats will be heard when students writhe and twirl in snake-dance rituals on the field in regular barbaric fashion . . . each smash, each tackle, crash and spill will send something kindred to a thrill through the rheumatic bones of many Monroe fans who will recall when they, spurred by the same cheers to put forth greater effort, suffered the foeman to gaily tread upon his stomach, neck and head for dear old Alma Mater . . . despite the years long gone, the love of conquest still burns on . . . Still another event of great allure this week will be the Thanksgiving dances at Lakeside Country Club and the Y. M. H. A. club house . . . Then there's a very exciting engagement in younger social circles scheduled for the coming week . . . puzzle your heads over it my friends, we warned you . . . The J. M. Cobb family will again be re-united—Mildred and Granville will be home to sup at the family board Christmas day . . . and by the way, they have just moved into a handsome new home so you can see how strong the family tie to bring them here for Christmas . . . We are simply bursting with news of Happy Tidwell this morning . . . first of all let us tell you that she was pledged to Chi Omega and nominated president (she attends L. S. U. you know) . . . she led the grand march of a fraternity ball with no less a personage than Vernon LaCour . . . vacation romances eventually trickle homeward . . . this is true of Happy's visit in Wichita Falls last summer as we have just heard that a certain party (a show shoe manufacturer) was so enthralled with her graceful walk and erect carriage that he was inspired to name two pairs of shoes for her—one is the "Hap" and the other is "Tidwell" . . . She positively drew the line however, when a request came for her picture to adorn the advertisement . . . Saw True Hudson the other day in a stunning green outfit—soft, wooly stuff with a flattering beret of the same shade . . . The recent observance of national book week brought much interesting material to light . . . We discovered that May Wooten, who has a perfect yen for genealogy and delving into old records has in her possession an original copy, written in old English and Latin, of the history of the Wooten family (1651) . . . Speaking of families reminds us of those lovely little score cards adorned with the Dryburgh coat of arms that Stella keeps on hand for bridge guests . . . Armand and Irma McHenry took a little jaunt into Mexico following the medical convention in San Antonio . . . Irma is so bright, so mentally alert, we are anxious to hear about this interesting visit to this colorful land . . . Courtney Lamb, just as handsome as ever is back in Monroe shaking hands with old friends over bridge tables and chatting over coffee cups at affairs planned in her honor . . . the sheen and the glorious color of Courtney's hair will always set her apart and stamp her as a glamorous person . . . Violet Meyer back home from New York, bringing with her a breath of Fifth Avenue and glowing accounts of the new Waldorf Astoria . . . the furnishings, she said, are simply ravishing . . . Scads of parties are scheduled for Bertha Alyce Masur before she becomes Mrs. Irvin Shlenker with Pat Kaplan's and Alyce Florsheim's cocktail hour on Thursday occupying a place of prominence. . . . Club Women's Contest Is Won By Young Girl

Announcement was made yesterday by Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman, president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, that Miss Ruth Shirley Brown of Seattle, Washington, 22 years old, is the winner of the 1934 National Poster Contest of the National Federation. Three other young art students receiving honorable mention are Al Banner and Richard H. Thomas, also of Seattle and Ruth Krumm, of Elgin, Illinois. From Elgin also comes Janet Rovelstad, whose poster has been included by the judges in a poster exhibit now being circulated among twelve cities of the United States.

At the request of Dr. Grace Hadley Beardsley of Goucher College, formerly chairman of public relations of the Federation and Carol Willis Hyatt of Chicago, national publicity chairman, three distinguished members of the Museum of Modern Art of New York City, Alfred H. Barr, director, Edward M. Warburg, and Philip Johnson, acted as judges in the contest which closed November 1st, and selected fourteen of the posters to be displayed in a country-wide exhibit. After showings in twelve states, the posters will be returned to New York City for exhibition during National Business Women's Week, March 17 to 23.

Ruth Shirley Brown, the winner, bent on making a success in the art field, has continued her work with great difficulty during the last five years. In spite of the fact that she has assisted her mother, a semi-invalid, in operating a "Book-Nook," hse has continued her art training. From a summer scholarship, won at the Cornish School of Music, Dance and Art, at Seattle, she has progressed through several "honorable mentions" and "firsts," won locally, to the holding of a life scholarship at the school. Arrangements, almost completed by a sponsor, to send her east to study, were halted because of the depression but her friends have not given up their efforts to bring this about.

Twenty-three year old Ruth Krumm, of Elgin, Illinois, the third, was prevented from completing her art education in Chicago but has continued to study by herself. She is a Troop Captain in the Girl Scouts, teaches handicraft and assistes the scout director.

Fifty-six posters were entered in the 1934 contest, representing twenty-six states. The winner received a prize of fifty dollars.

"Imperial Russia" was the subject of Mrs. Alymer Montgomery's paper read before members of the Study club in the home of Mrs. Dix Ellet on Wednesday afternoon.

I PARTICULARLY LIKE . . .

Sunday morning coffee in bed (and who doesn't)?

Miss Culver Will Speak To P.-T. A. Members

An event of outstanding interest this week in Parent-Teacher association circles will be the appearance in this city of Miss Essae M. Culver, executive chairman of the state library commission and state chairman of the Louisiana P.-T. A. on children's reading. Miss Culver will be the speaker at the meeting on Wednesday of the Claiborne P.-T. A. and will talk on the subject of "Children's Reading."

Mrs. D. F. Dennis, chairman of the program committee extends a cordial invitation to all P.-T. A. members to avail themselves of the opportunity to hear this interesting speaker who will have a message of great importance to deliver at this time.

Mr. And Mrs. Edward Everett Are Guests Of Honor At Several Social Affairs During Week

Society for the past week has revolved around a charming bride, Mrs. Edward Everett, Jr., who before her recent marriage, was Miss Christine Lee. On Monday night, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hartman entertained with quite a novel affair honoring Mr. and Mrs. Everett. Lotto was the diversion of the evening and the winner of each game was privileged to choose a prize from an attractive array of dainty, ribbon-tied parcels, whose contents revealed smoking sets kitchen aids, novelties and various other articles. A buffet supper was served from a lovely lace covered table centered by a crystal basket overflowing with chrysanthemums, and flanked by four silver candlesticks holding pink tapers. Large cabbage "roses" filled with slaw completed the decorations and the menu further consisted of a variety of cold meats, fruit salad, stuffed eggs, sliced tomatoes, sandwiches, relishes, salted nuts, cakes and hot and cold drinks.

Sharing the pleasures of this unique affair with Mr. and Mrs. Everett were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Petty, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Ben M. Lere, Mrs. J. W. Taylor, Mrs. H. G. Fields, Misses Hilda Fuller, Dorothy Terrel, Gussie Fenton and Reita Hartman, Messrs. Emmett J. Lee, Fred Preaus, Davis, Laz and Stein Baughman.

A charming bridge and forty-two party, honoring Mrs. Edward Everett, Jr., was given Wednesday afternoon at the spacious home of Mrs. J. W. Taylor with Mrs. Harry Preaus and Mrs. W. C. Andrews as co-hostesses. The softly lighted entertaining rooms were fragrant with beautiful fall flowers. A rainbow color theme with pastel shades predominating was reflected in all the appointments. The tallies were of bridal significance, and the favors miniature brides' bouquets. The refreshment trays were centered by beautiful little vases of flowers, which were cut for by the guests. Prizes for high score was captured by Miss Joy Fields and for consolation by Mrs. Metz Tugwell, Mrs. W. T. Whiteman, whose early departure for her future home in Texas, is a source of regret to her many friends, was the recipient of a gift for remembrance. The hostesses presented the honoree with crystal and china in her chosen design. Those enjoying this delightful affair were Mesdames E. L. Ramsey, Mike Smith, J. R. Dawkins, W. B. Dawkins, Ben Lee, E. J. Lee, Metz Tugwell, Hall Terry, Fred Petty, G. A. Ramsey, R. L. Turnage, D. L. Barr, J. D. Miller, Jr., W. J. Turnage, Jr., Duke Selig, Jones Booth, Jim Futch, Edward Everett, Sr., Wilfred Fitzgerald, Griffith Barnes, John Harsten, O. L. Tugwell, W. E. Roberts, H. G. Fields, and Lester Hartman. Misses Stella Davis, Joye Fields, Hilda Fuller, Reita Hartman, Mesdames Killgore Andrews, A. B. Turnage, R. J. Koplin, Wallace Pagan, W. T. Whiteman.

Miss Gussie Fenton's compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Everett was a bridge affair at which she assembled the members of a former bridge club, together with several other guests.

Pink, white and blue were the colors chosen and roses and chrysanthemums selected for the floral decorations. Hhe bridal motif was reflected in the tallies and score pads and the refreshment trays, centered with a diminutive bridal party.

At the conclusion of the interesting games gifts for high score were presented to Mrs. A. C. Dykes and Mr. W. W. Porter, and for low score to Mr. David Baughman. Mr. and Mrs. Everett were presented with a wedgewood plate to match their wedding china. Mr. and Mrs. Hall Terry, whose marriage is of recent date, were presented with a smoking set. In the cut for table prizes, Mrs. Everett, Mrs. A. C. Dykes, Mrs. Fred Petty and Mr. David Baughman were the fortunate ones. The guests present, besides the honorees were Mrs. A. C. Dykes, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Petty, Mr. and Mrs. Hall Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hartman, Misses Olivia Barr, Fay Baughman, Messrs. Fred Preaus, David, Stein and Laz Baughman and W. W. Porter.

SOCIETY

BY EVE BRADFORD

LIKE a rare jewel Thanksgiving day gleams out brightly on this frost-swept earth. . . . The president will call upon us to gather, so far as we can, in our accustomed places of worship, there to review the things the Lord has done for us. . . . In his proclamation he will set forth the evidences that God's hand has not been too heavy upon us . . . that rather He has been good in even greater measure than we had any right to expect Him to be. . . . We of Monroe have so much to be thankful for. . . . God has been exceptionally good to us and our happy hearts will overflow with gratitude on this Thanksgiving day when we grasp the cup which is pressed down and running over . . . we will remember when we gather at our places of worship that we are to offer up thanks for perils overcome and dangers averted rather than thanks for bounteous crops . . . there was only a meager harvest in 1621 when Governor Bradford appointed the first American day of Thanksgiving, but he appointed it nevertheless . . . If you want to have a real Thanksgiving, pack up every morsel of food you have left from dinner in baskets and start out to look for some one who needs it . . . you will find as you turn toward home with your empty basket that Thanksgiving this year has given you a glowing feeling of friendship and brotherhood with all the world . . . Of course the great allure of this week will be the annual football classic between L. S. U. and Tulane . . . the band will blare forth its martial notes and gibberish sounds from raucous throats will be heard when students writhe and twirl in snake-dance rituals on the field in regular barbaric fashion . . . each smash, each tackle, crash and spill will send something kindred to a thrill through the rheumatic bones of many Monroe fans who will recall when they, spurred by the same cheers to put forth greater effort, suffered the foeman to gaily tread upon his stomach, neck and head for dear old Alma Mater . . . despite the years long gone, the love of conquest still burns on . . . Still another event of great allure this week will be the Thanksgiving dances at Lakeside Country Club and the Y. M. H. A. club house . . . Then there's a very exciting engagement in younger social circles scheduled for the coming week . . . puzzle your heads over it my friends, we warned you . . . The J. M. Cobb family will again be re-united—Mildred and Granville will be home to sup at the family board Christmas day . . . and by the way, they have just moved into a handsome new home so you can see how strong the family tie to bring them here for Christmas . . . We are simply bursting with news of Happy Tidwell this morning . . . first of all let us tell you that she was pledged to Chi Omega and nominated president (she attends L. S. U. you know) . . . she led the grand march of a fraternity ball with no less a personage than Vernon LaCour . . . vacation romances eventually trickle homeward . . . this is true of Happy's visit in Wichita Falls last summer as we have just heard that a certain party (a show shoe manufacturer) was so enthralled with her graceful walk and erect carriage that he was inspired to name two pairs of shoes for her—one is the "Hap" and the other is "Tidwell" . . . She positively drew the line however, when a request came for her picture to adorn the advertisement . . . Saw True Hudson the other day in a stunning green outfit—soft, wooly stuff with a flattering beret of the same shade . . . The recent observance of national book week brought much interesting material to light . . . We discovered that May Wooten, who has a perfect yen for genealogy and delving into old records has in her possession an original copy, written in old English and Latin, of the history of the Wooten family (1651) . . . Speaking of families reminds us of those lovely little score cards adorned with the Dryburgh coat of arms that Stella keeps on hand for bridge guests . . . Armand and Irma McHenry took a little jaunt into Mexico following the medical convention in San Antonio . . . Irma is so bright, so mentally alert, we are anxious to hear about this interesting visit to this colorful land . . . Courtney Lamb, just as handsome as ever is back in Monroe shaking hands with old friends over bridge tables and chatting over coffee cups at affairs planned in her honor . . . the sheen and the glorious color of Courtney's hair will always set her apart and stamp her as a glamorous person . . . Violet Meyer back home from New York, bringing with her a breath of Fifth Avenue and glowing accounts of the new Waldorf Astoria . . . the furnishings, she said, are simply ravishing . . . Scads of parties are scheduled for Bertha Alyce Masur before she becomes Mrs. Irvin Shlenker with Pat Kaplan's and Alyce Florsheim's cocktail hour on Thursday occupying a place of prominence. . . . Meow! . . . was there ever anything more feline than the way ladies love one another . . . a pretty one, plump and peppy, goes in for smart looking clothes . . . she saves on her weekly stipend and goes on a spending spree . . . tickled positively pink that she could get almost her entire outfit for ten dollars . . . a perfectly adorable dress that looks like $25 for $3.98 . . . a "spiffy" hat for $1.98 . . . a darling purse for $1 . . . shoes proportionately bargain-worthy and with few little et ceteras all in good taste, off she trips to her job . . . she is extremely grateful for her job and plans her winter coat next . . . even if she didn't like clothes so much her job demands that she appear at her very best . . . so with a conscience void of offense, with malice toward none she goes back and forth between office to home—home to office—somewhat like a shuttle—but happily spinning the warp and woof of her pretty wardrobe . . . out from over parsimonious, sanctimonious spectacles peers Mrs. Grundy and "meow"—in other words "how can she dress like that on the salary she gets" . . . Miss Eleanor Faulk Gives Her Impressions Of Moscow And Leningrad During Visit

Miss Eleanor Faulk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Faulk of this city, returned home last week from a year of travel during which time she completely encircled the globe.

Miss Faulk's impressions of Russia are most interesting. Of Leningrad and Moscow she says:

"Arriving at Leningrad the last week in July I found more American tourists than I had seen since leaving the United States. Eight-hundred and four were standing around a desk yelling at one woman. That left me and one old woman to ourselves. She explained that before you could go into the restaurant to eat you must have a meal-ticket and that's what the others were trying to get. Five hours later I obtained my ticket and went in to have breakfast. After sitting quietly for an hour and a half, I determined to pursue the tactics the other tourists were employing. So leaving the table I found the head waiter, rather vigorously tugged at his coat tail and yelling, "I want something to eat" thrust my ticket into his hand. "Just a minute, be seated please" he replied, in the words and tone I was to hear used in reply to every request made in Russia. By three that afternoon I was served with caviar, tomato and onion salad (and I hate onions) some damp toast, porridge, coffee, compote, eggs and fish.

Finding that "the program" for the day was completed I walked out to the Neva river embankment. The streets gave me the impression of an Oriental city. Hundreds of ragged people dressed in dirty white and most of them afoot. Magnificent buildings with washing hanging from the windows and rows of beds in the dark basements. Former princely places half white-washed, without regard to the fact that a window is for light and not to be white-washed also. Filthy men in long beards and cloaks driving 'droskys' with torn seat upholstery solicitated fares. Women with shawls over their heads and babies bound like papooses, a big pink or blue ribbon around the bundle, strolled along with the smartly uniformed sailors. Traffic policemen in neat black boots and spotless white tunics and helmets blew their whistles with a gusto and swung their arms in such a gesture I was momentarily expecting to see a broken nose as a result.

For three days I yelled and screamed, pleaded and begged for the sight-seeing services I had paid for before coming to Russia. But the 804 could make more noise. Consequently I was reduced to strategem to see anything at all. Attaching myself to a party of Danish tourists I managed to get out to some of the czarist palaces and museums and even into a cathedral (now an Anti-Religious museum). In the cathedral as the guide was explaining the posters, etc., a tasty old lady said, "Young man I came here to learn the facts and not to listen to your propaganda, what is in this case?" While us seekers-after knowledge said "shame, shame," the young man proceeded to explain. "Here are three bodies well preserved after long burial. The one on the right was considered by the peasants to be a saint, as his body did not disintegrate and that was thought to be an attribute of saintliness. But the other bodies, which as you see are in much better condition are Eskimos whom no one ever thought were saints. So the government shows the ignorant that it is due to nature and not God that a body is preserved in the ground." Needless to say the old lady who came to learn sought no more innocent exhibits, fearing another propaganda boomerang.

However, instead of having to be constantly alert to resist the force of propaganda, I found it necessary to seek the new Russia. Because of the language difficulty and the almost total lack of transportation facilities, except those controlled by the governmental tourist bureau, it is practically impossible to go about alone. I left Leningrad in despair of ever seeing anything except enormous palaces decorated in lavish bad taste.

Moscow is a city teeming with life. The onion-shaped golden domes of its churches, the fantastic towers of St. Basil, the ancient walls of the Kremlin and the severe modern architecture of the new Soviet buildings, make it a city of neither the east nor the west. Slit eyed Mongolians, little brown Tartars, patient peasants, brown-eyed Georgians and blue-eyed Russians swell the crowds on the cobble stoned streets. Buildings in every stage of construction are proudly pointed out and the Americans make jokes about the rumored engineering defects.

I went to see Lenin. Like every other foreigner who has been in that tomb and seen the waxed remains of that once great spirit, I felt reverent. He is such a tired looking little man to have done so much.

After being told at one hour intervals that I could and could not go to the Kremlin, I at length got there. You are only allowed to see a part which has been converted into a museum and houses unbelievable treasures confiscated from the church. A Red Army man tagging after each group, you are also taken into the chapels. The soldier is to see that you cart away none of the relics and do not take pictures. The Russians are most particular in regard to pictures of their fortifications, bridges, rivers and certain public buildings.

Aside from huge bare blocks of workers apartments, wooden shafts of the subway and torn up streets, the only thing indicative of New Russia in Moscow I saw was the Peoples court. I was generally so busy waiting that I never had time to get about the city. Quite shocking to my sense of legal technicality, I found the court presided over by three untrained worker judges, one of whom was a woman.

On the train which I took from Moscow to Gorki I found myself placed in a compartment with a huge Russian gentleman. Finding explanations as to why I did not wish to travel overnight with the gentleman futile, an American dollar accomplished the trick of getting him swapped for a little Russian girl. However she would not let me put up the window. It would be very dangerous. That was the limit of her English.

Miss Horne And Mr. Lipsey United In Marriage

Miss Imogene Horne and V. P. Lipsey were united in marriage Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Fleming with the Rev. P. W. Lofton officiating. They left immediately for a brief honeymoon in Arkansas and upon their return will be at home to their friends in Sterlington where Mr. Lipsey is associated with the Louisiana Power and Light company.

The meeting Friday night of the St. Matthew's P.-T. A. was planned in honor of the fathers, with Mrs. John Guerriero presiding. Sister M. Stanislaus delivered the invocation and minutes of the previous meeting read by Mrs. John Williamson. Library books were awarded seniors and members of the fifth grade for having the largest number of parents present.

Owing to Christmas holiday season, December meeting will be held on third Friday of month at school building at 3 p.m. Mrs. Stanley d'Hodges reported an intensive drive for new members is under way. Eight new members were received at this meeting.

Mrs. Guerriero complimented the association on its record attendance of seventy-two persons, including fathers, mothers and faculty members.

Following the business session a program prepared by Sister Stanislaus and Mrs. Paul Keller was presented:

Lullaby song, Beverly Louise Harris.

Midnight fantasy, Misses Betty Keller and Winnie Gram Breard.

Merry Widow Is Picture Filled With Glamour

Have you seen "The Merry Widow?" It is frothy, tuneful, diverting. The best your money can buy if you're in the market for something that will blithely while away the time without causing you one minute of brain fag.

This Franz Lehar operetta, now at the Paramount theater, with its lovely music that never grows old, is a modernized version of the piece, which years ago, took the theater loving world by storm. The production was screened once before—remember?—in "silent" days with Mae Murray and John Gilbert in the leads.

Choosing Jeanette MacDonald and Maurice Chevalier as Sonia and Danilo, was, of course, just about the smartest thing the producers could have done. This glamorious pair, so beloved of screen addicts, have always teamed magnificently together, and "The Merry Widow" is a vehicle made to order for their talents.

The slight plot unfolds gayly, satirically, with no touch of the melodramatics that, as I remember, colored the earlier production. The music swings and thrills. Gorgeous ensembles weave in and out—the Maxim and embassy ball scenes just about take your breath away!—supporting players competently supply comedy background. And, in the midst of all the color, motion and melody are the romantic Jeanette and Maurice calling for the focus of your engrossed attention. HOW they can sing and dance!

Several new tunes have been added to the score. But the "Merry Widow Waltz" is there in all its glory, flanked by the other original contributory lyrics.

Miss Eleanor Faulk Gives Her Impressions Of Moscow And Leningrad During Visit

Miss Eleanor Faulk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Faulk of this city, returned home last week from a year of travel during which time she completely encircled the globe.

Miss Faulk's impressions of Russia are most interesting. Of Leningrad and Moscow she says:

"Arriving at Leningrad the last week in July I found more American tourists than I had seen since leaving the United States. Eight-hundred and four were standing around a desk yelling at one woman. That left me and one old woman to ourselves. She explained that before you could go into the restaurant to eat you must have a meal-ticket and that's what the others were trying to get. Five hours later I obtained my ticket and went in to have breakfast. After sitting quietly for an hour and a half, I determined to pursue the tactics the other tourists were employing. So leaving the table I found the head waiter, rather vigorously tugged at his coat tail and yelling, "I want something to eat" thrust my ticket into his hand. "Just a minute, be seated please" he replied, in the words and tone I was to hear used in reply to every request made in Russia. By three that afternoon I was served with caviar, tomato and onion salad (and I hate onions) some damp toast, porridge, coffee, compote,. eggs and fish.

Finding that "the program" for the day was completed I walked out to the Neva river embankment. The streets gave me the impression of an Oriental city. Hundreds of ragged people dressed in dirty white and most of them afoot. Magnificent buildings with washing hanging from the windows and rows of beds in the dark basements. Former princely places half white-washed, without regard to the fact that a window is for light and not to be white-washed also. Filthy men in long beards and cloaks driving 'droskys' with torn seat upholstery solicitated fares. Women with shawls over their heads and babies bound like papooses, a big pink or blue ribbon around the bundle, strolled along with the smartly uniformed sailors. Traffic policemen in neat black boots and spotless white tunics and helmets blew their whistles with a gusto and swung their arms in such a gesture I was momentarily expecting to see a broken nose as a result.

For three days I yelled and screamed, pleaded and begged for the sight-seeing services I had paid for before coming to Russia. But the 804 could make more noise. Consequently I was reduced to strategem to see anything at all. Attaching myself to a party of Danish tourists I managed to get out to some of the czarist palaces and museums and even into a cathedral (now an Anti-Religious museum). In the cathedral as the guide was explaining the posters, etc., a testy old lady said, "Young man I came here to learn the facts and not to listen to your propaganda, what is in this case?" While us seekers-after knowledge said "shame, shame," the young man proceeded to explain. "Here are three bodies well preserved after long burial. The one on the right was considered by the peasants to be a saint, as his body did not disintegrate and that was thought to be an attribute of saintlyness. But the other bodies, which as you see are in much better condition are Eskimos whom no one ever thought were saints. So the government shows the ignorant that it is due to nature and not God that a body is preserved in the ground." Needless to say the old lady who came to learn sought no more innocent exhibits, fearing another propaganda boomerang.

However, instead of having to be constantly alert to resist the force of propaganda, I found it necessary to seek the new Russia. Because of the language difficulty and the almost total lack of transportation facilities, except those controlled by the governmental tourist bureau, it is practically impossible to go about alone. I left Leningrad in despair of ever seeing anything except enormous palaces decorated in lavish bad taste.

Moscow is a city teeming with life. The onion-shaped golden domes of its churches, the fantastic towers of St. Basil, the ancient walls of the Kremlin and the severe modern architecture of the new Soviet buildings, make it a city of neither the east nor the west. Slit eyed Mongolians, little brown Tartars, patient peasants, brown-eyed Georgians and blue-eyed Russians swell the crowds on the cobble stoned streets. Buildings in every stage of construction are proudly pointed out and the Americans make jokes about the rumored engineering defects.

I went to see Lenin. Like every other foreigner who has been in that tomb and seen the waxed remains of that once great spirit, I felt reverent. He is such a tired looking little man to have done so much.

After being told at one hour intervals that I could and could not go to the Kremlin, I at length got there. You are only allowed to see a part which has been converted into a museum and houses unbelievable treasures confiscated from the church. A Red Army man tagging after each group, you are also taken into the chapels. The soldier is to see that you cart away none of the relics and do not take pictures. The Russians are most particular in regard to pictures of their fortifications, bridges, rivers and certain public buildings.

Aside from huge bare blocks of workers apartments, wooden shafts of the subway and torn up streets, the only thing indicative of New Russia in Moscow I saw was the Peoples court. I was generally so busy waiting that I never had time to get about the city. Quite shocking to my sense of legal technicality, I found the court presided over by three untrained worker judges, one of whom was a woman.

On the train which I took from Moscow to Gorki I found myself placed in a compartment with a huge Russian gentleman. Finding explanations as to why I did not wish to travel overnight with the gentleman futile, an American dollar accomplished the trick of getting him swapped for a little Russian girl. However she would not let me put up the window. It would be very dangerous. That was the limit of her English.

Miss Horne And Mr. Lipsey United In Marriage

Miss Imogene Horne and V. P. Lipsey were united in marriage Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Fleming with the Rev. P. W. Lofton officiating. They left immediately for a brief honeymoon in Arkansas and upon their return will be at home to their friends in Sterlington where Mr. Lipsey is associated with the Louisiana Power and Light company.

The meeting Friday night of the St. Matthew's P.-T. A. was planned in honor of the fathers, with Mrs. John Guerriero presiding. Sister M. Stanislaus delivered the invocation and minutes of the previous meeting read by Mrs. John Williamson. Library books were awarded seniors and members of the fifth grade for having the largest number of parents present.

Owing to Christmas holiday season, December meeting will be held on third Friday of month at school building at 3 p.m. Mrs. Stanley Hodges reported an intensive drive for new members is under way. Eight new members were received at this meeting.

Mrs. Guerriero complimented the association on its record attendance of seventy-two persons, including fathers, mothers and faculty members.

Following the business session a program prepared by Sister Stanislaus and Mrs. Paul Keller was presented:

Lullaby song, Beverly Louise Harris.

Midnight fantasy, Misses Betty Keller and Winnie Gram Breard.

Songs, Alice's Holiday and Nursery Rhymes, high school pupils.

During the social hour refreshments were served by Mrs. T. L. Morris and Mrs. M. E. Bell, hospitality committee, assisted by Mrs. John Williamson and Mrs. Paul Keller and young ladies of school.

Merry Widow Is Picture Filled With Glamour

Have you seen "The Merry Widow?" It is frothy, tuneful, diverting. The best your money can buy if you're in the market for something that will blithely while away the time without causing you one minute of brain fag.

This Franz Lehar operetta, now at the Paramount theater, with its lovely music that never grows old, is a modernized version of the piece, which years ago, took the theater loving world by storm. The production was screened once before—remember?—in "silent" days with Mae Murray and John Gilbert in the leads.

Choosing Jeanette MacDonald and Maurice Chevalier as Sonia and Danilo, was, of course, just about the smartest thing the producers could have done. This glamoricus pair, so beloved of screen addicts, have always teamed magnificently together, and "The Merry Widow" is a vehicle made to order for their talents.

The slight plot unfolds gayly, satirically, with no touch of the melodramatics that, as I remember, colored the earlier production. The music swings and thrills. Gorgeous ensembles weave in and out—the Maxim and embassy ball scenes just about take your breath away!—supporting players competently supply comedy background. And, in the midst of all the color, motion and melody are the romantic Jeanette and Maurice calling for the focus of your engrossed attention. HOW they can sing and dance!

Several new tunes have been added to the score. But the "Merry Widow Waltz" is there in all its glory, flanked by the other original contributory lyrics.

Miss Klingner Talks Before Enthusiastic Audience On Subject Of Unusual Interest

Mrs. Clifford Johnson, president of the Ouachita Parish Parent-Teacher association feels deeply indebted to Miss Mary Louise Klingner for her splendid address on "Clothing for Children," delivered at last week's meeting before an enthusiastic gathering of members and visitors.

Miss Klingner employed rather a novel manner of presenting her paper, the substance of which was contained in a letter as follows:

Dear Cousin Kate:

When you called me Wednesday night and asked me to give you some information concerning clothes for school children I was too busy to give it a thought. I am teaching again this year. After all the papers were graded and home work checked Friday night, I tried to recall your children's ages, size and coloring. I was so glad to receive your letter Saturday morning containing that information. One thing you omitted, however, was to state your income. One who plans successfully must know how much she has to spend, you know.

To begin I shall say budget your income. On a medium income one should not use more than 15 per cent of it for clothing the family group. Divide that amount among the eight family members according to their needs and the best judgment of all concerned.

Yes, I know you specialized in languages and hated mathematics, but I still maintain that any one who can learn to read Latin and Greek, to speak French and to use our own English correctly can learn to count 15 per cent of her income. I feel sure that you will try—and that you will succeed.

Having decided how much can be spent on each child during the year, one can make plans accordingly. Plan to make over. Plan to use partially worn wool garments for jumpers, suits, jackets, coats and caps; and to make blouses, collars, cuffs and trimmings—even entire garments for smaller children out of used wash materials. For new wraps and wool garments buy good materials that can be worn more than one season.

The psychological effect of clothes is just as great on the child as on the grown up. He feels shy, reticent and even unhappy when conscious that his clothing is not right. He is sure of himself, communicative, and happy if his clothing is in accord with that worn by his friends.

Don't you remember the time that Cousin Sue took her ten-year-old daughter, Carrie, down town to buy a pink sweater which the child had wanted so much? Sue found, on a bargain counter, a rust colored one, tried it on her and bought it. Poor Carrie could do nothing but go home disappointed because the lovely pink sweater of which she had dreamed was in reality an ugly red one. Contrast that with the way Mrs. Smith managed her red-headed girl, Mary Elizabeth, who was very fond of pink. She wanted dresses and ribbons of that color. Her mother very wisely allowed her to choose and wear pink clothes at home. She even took her to town and helped her to select an entire pink toilet set for her own dresser. Mary Elizabeth was very happy. Now, as a college girl, she chooses colors suited to her type and never is tempted to wear pink, even at home.

Those are general items. Now, for the specific ones. In your family, according to your description of the children, all types of coloring are represented. Jane is a pale blonde. With her golden hair, blue eyes and cool coloring she may wear light green, blue-gray, cream and creamy white. She should not wear dull black, bright red, red-brown or purple.

Mary, who has mouse colored hair, rosy complexion and hazel eyes, will look well in light brown, blue green, dark red, biege tan, cream white and black. She should avoid yellow, mustard, red-purple, warm brown, reddish tan and dead white.

Ruth is a pale brunette. She has pale olive skin, her eyes and hair are dark brown. She may choose warm reds, orange, red-orange, red-brown, light pink, and cream for her colors. She should not wear yellow, blue-purple, yellow-green, pastel pinks and black.

Bob, you said, has light brown hair, hazel eyes and medium dark skin. He belongs to the intermediate type. He should select gray, gray-tan and dull blue-green suits. For ties and socks he may wear lavender, dark red, ecru and pongee. He may wear shirts of the same colors but lighter values than his ties, or, they may be light values grayed, of the same hue as his suit.

Tom is what artists call a ruddy brunette. One who has blue-black hair, light brown eyes and plenty of color in his face should choose dark blue, dark gray, cool brown and dark tan suits. He may wear ties and sox of dark red, dark orange, and cream.

For church wear, choose good material and simple design that lends itself to the use of changeable decorations, such as bright detachable collars and cuffs, buttons and buckles. Such dresses will serve for school next year and may be made over.

Jane will be happier and healthier in wash frocks than in woolen or silk dresses. Make them on simple lines as mentioned above. Choose some bright colors. She will love them.

Ruth will need a party dress, shoes and wrap. Do not spend much on these garments. Select for becomingness and effectiveness rather than quality of materials. Make the dress formal. With that, she can wear a little cape of the same material, or a light velvet jacket, or a high organdie or silk collar to transform it into a dinner dress. Her shoes should have high heels, harmonize with her dress, and be a type that she can wear to dinner or to a dance.

Please let me know how you are getting along. If you do become a little discouraged with your task, just remember that you and every other mother must give some thought, time, and energy to the problem of clothing the school child.

Pan-Hellenic Members Enjoy Luncheon Hour

Discussions Feature Meeting Of P.-T. A.

The Lida Benton Parent-Teacher association met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Harry Stein presiding.

The program opened with a "Wild Flower" program by the third grades directed by Mrs. Theus and Mrs. Darnell.

The Lida Benton association has adopted the plan of having its members lead in discussion. This plan has proved very successful in [illegible]ing interest and enthusiasm. Mrs. McAuliffe, program chairman, introduced the speakers: Mrs. Elizabeth Darnall, who spoke on "Fundamental Ideas for Tomorrow;" Miss Mildred Gannaway, on "The World for Which We Must Educate;" and Miss Verna LeBlanc, "Youth Challenges the Nation."

The program was followed by a business session. The meeting closed with messages from the state and the national presidents. The 5-B and the 2-A grades were awarded prizes for having the most mothers present.

Central Grammar school P.-T. A. will meet Wednesday afternoon in the auditorium at 3:30. A special program will be presented at this time; members of the second grade will appear in a Thanksgiving pageant. Free will offerings of food will be received for the benefit of underprivileged children. The public is invited.

Father Martin J. Walsh has returned from a visit to Boston and will resume the monthly Bible lectures that has engaged the interest of the Newman Club for the past several months. The lecture starting promptly at 8 p. m. Thursday evening at St. Matthew's auditorium will be followed by an attractive musical program featuring Mrs. Ladell Duke, pianist, and Mrs. James E. Davis, vocalist, who by request will be heard in the "Indian Love Call," by Friml. Miss Octave Register will accompany Mrs. Davis. Little Sara Ellen Glaxner will appear in Mary Mapes Dodge's The Minuet. The Newman Club which is sponsored by the local court of the Catholic Daughters, is filling a much needed want in the spiritual life of those newly accepted within the church and the public generally who are interested in getting first hand information about the teachings of the Catholic church. The musical programs which occupy a part of the hour's meeting are greatly enjoyed and appreciated as the different artists in the city's musical circles give generously of their talent at each gathering. The public is extended a cordial invitation to meet with the Newman Club.

Mr. and Mrs. James Trousdale have returned from their honeymoon and are now at home to their friends on the corner of Walnut and Hudson Lane.

Luncheon Hour Is Enjoyed By Medical Club

Mrs. J. Q. Graves presided with customary grace over the flower banked luncheon table at the Business and Professional Women's club house on Wednesday when members of the auxiliary to the Ouachita Parish Medical society met for their monthly luncheon and business session. The beauty of the golden colored chrysanthemums centering the table was accentuated by the mellow candlelight. Mrs. Graves was assisted by Mrs. P. L. Perot and Mrs. C. Hill.

Mrs. John Pracher read an interesting communication from the state president, Mrs. T. H. Watkins, of Lake Charles, in which the aims of the auxiliary were stressed.

Several outstanding Monroe artists were present on this occasion. Mrs. Henry Whitfield contributed a vocal number, Mrs. Roger Frisbie a violin number, and Mrs. Julius Kugler, pianist. Mrs. Blanche Oliver contributed several humorous readings.

A delicious four course luncheon was served to Mrs. Blanche Oliver, Mrs. Henry Whitfield, Mrs. Roger Frisbie, Mrs. Julius Kugler, Mrs. John Williams, Mrs. R. W. O'Donnell, Mrs. John Pracher, Mrs. J. The History Of Chinaware Is Discussed In Very Interesting Manner By Mrs. George Welch

The history of chinaware, dating back to 1000 B. C., was traced in the most delightful manner by Mrs. George Welch in a paper read before members of the Altrurian Book club last week.

Mrs. Welch said: "To speak of porcelain is to speak of 'chinaware,' for chinaware is a synonym for porcelain.

The Chinese invented porcelain and it is from this fact that it is called chinaware. They are known to have made porcelain as early as 1000 B. C. and they still continue to make the most delicate and highly-priced wares. The Chinese are able to produce a color effect that other countries have never been able to equal.

"The beautiful and decorated chinaware was first brought into Europe when 40 pieces was sent to the Sultan of Damascus in 1171. Since that time chinaware has been the pride of kings, princes, and men of wealth. Queen Elizabeth was an early European admirer of porcelain and valued highly her two cups, one white and the other green.

"At every turn romance clings to the history of porcelain or chinaware. For many years folks thought that a cup of porcelain changed color and flew into pieces when anything poisonous had been poured from it, and to this day some people treasure with sacred regards ancient Chinese vessels of porcelain, believing that they were made from remnants of the clay that the sun and moon were made of. While still others believe them to have miraculous power for curing diseases and driving away evil spirits. The famous blue Chinese plate holds the legend of a king, and his daughter who runs away with her lover to be pursued by the king, which can be easily seen in the design on the plate.

"The manufacture of porcelain was guarded as secrets by the Chinese for many centuries, and it was not until the eighteenth century that the Europeans discovered the art of making anything that resembled the Chinese porcelain. The first porcelain was manufactured in Europe in 1706 at Dresden, Germany, from which the famous Dresden China got its name, and has become a favorite throughout Europe and America. So much importance was attached to the discovery of the making of chinaware in Germany that the workmen were imprisoned in a fortress so that the secret would not leak out. But one by one the workers escaped and carried the secret with them to other parts of Europe and dozens of factories soon began to make true porcelain. Their finest productions have rivaled those of China and have brought almost as good prices. Some of the most noted factories are located at Sevres, France, Vienna, Berlin, Chintilly, Copenhagen and many others.

"There are three varieties of porcelain and the secret of the making of it lies in the materials. With today's china, one spans the history of a famous craft. We see it progress from its first beginning to its delicately, adventurous modernism of our own day. It offers an unique chronology, authentic and unquestioned. Neither silver, nor glass, nor furniture can equal the cumulative richness which the passing years have added. Minton gives us the old salt glaze introduced into England in 1690, and Lowestoft that carries us back to the days of Queen Elizabeth may be ours today. With Wedgewood and Royal Doulton and many other famous potters we may travel decade by decade to the present day.

"Copenhagen porcelain presents ageless patterns and is noted throughout the world. Lenox is an American china, which offers exciting modernism in well established tradition of quality. In the Blue Book of China there is no such thing as a discontinued pattern. Spodes and Lowestaft hold the greatest historical value. Both are stoneware. Their authentic patterns recapture for us in this day an age of priceless romance of earthenware making of china.

"From England we have the Royal Doulton, Lowestoft, Wedgewood, Crown Ducal, Gainsborough and Minton. From France we have Haviland and from Germany the Dresden china.

"A china closet is like a woman's wardrobe which may be smart and correct for every occasion—carefully planned and selected as to color and accessories. Staple pieces should be selected with great discrimination."

The regular program meeting of the Methodist missionary society of the First Methodist church, was held at the church Tuesday evening, Nov. 20th, with circle eleven in charge of the program, and Mrs. Earl S. Hitt, presiding. The program was opened with a song by the assemblage, "Savious Like a Shepherd Lead Us," with Miss Juanita Porter at the piano. Mrs. DeWitt Henry conducted the devotional, taking for her scripture reading the 12th chapter of Romans, 9th to the 21st verses, Mrs. Worthington closed the devotional with prayer, after which the congregation sang "Something For Jesus."

Mrs. H. A. Miller gave a most interesting paper on "Rural Work in the Methodist Churches," and Miss Juanita Porter gave a word picture of the rural work being done by her sister, Miss Willie Mae Porter. Mrs. N. D. Hurdle gave the Missionary news. The following members gave a dramatization, "Avenue of Faith" in a most pleasing manner: Mrs. A. R. Holloway, Mrs. John Meyers, Mrs. Sam Cillins, Mrs. J. E. Kersh, Mrs. D. C. Warner. The program was closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Mrs. Charles Mitchell, council president of the Camp Fire Guardians association, will address members at the camp fire rooms Monday night at seven-thirty on the subject of "Handicraft." Mrs. J. G. Cobb will tell what was found on the nature trail at Ki-Ro-Li during the camping period last summer. All members including guardians, sponsors and assistant guardians are urgently requested to be present. A social hour will be a distinct feature.

Week-end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ritter are Mr. L. H. Ritter of Plaquemine, Miss Audrey Lario, Mrs. R. J. Lario, Miss Lucy Watts and Mr. Milton Patin of Lakeland, La.

Miss Nancy Stack is spending the week-end as the lovely house-guest of Miss Sue Graves.

For new wraps and wool garments buy good materials that can be worn more than one season.

The psychological effect of clothes is just as great on the child as on the grown up. He feels shy, reticent and even unhappy when conscious that his clothing is not right. He is sure of himself, communicative, and happy if his clothing is in accord with that worn by his friends.

Don't you remember the time that Cousin Sue took her ten-year-old daughter, Carrie, down town to buy a pink sweater which the child had wanted so much? Sue found, on a bargain counter, a rust colored one, tried it on her and bought it. Poor Carrie could do nothing but go home disappointed because the lovely pink sweater of which she had dreamed was in reality an ugly red one. Contrast that with the way Mrs. Smith managed her red-headed girl, Mary Elizabeth, who was very fond of pink. She wanted dresses and ribbons of that color. Her mother very wisely allowed her to choose and wear pink clothes at home. She even took her to town and helped her to select an entire pink toilet set for her own dresser. Mary Elizabeth was very happy. Now, as a college girl, she chooses colors suited to her type and never is tempted to wear pink, even at home.

Those are general items. Now, for the specific ones. In your family, according to your description of the children, all types of coloring are represented. Jane is a pale blonde. With her golden hair, blue eyes and cool coloring she may wear light green, blue-gray, cream and creamy white. She should not wear dull black, bright red, red-brown or purple.

Mary, who has mouse colored hair, rosy complexion and hazel eyes, will look well in light brown, blue green, dark red, biege tan, cream white and black. She should avoid yellow, mustard, red-purple, warm brown, reddish tan and dead white.

Ruth is a pale brunette. She has pale olive skin, her eyes and hair are dark brown. She may choose warm reds, orange, red-orange, red-brown, light pink, and cream for her colors. She should not wear yellow, blue-purple, yellow-green, pastel pinks and black.

Bob, you said, has light brown hair, hazel eyes and medium dark skin. He belongs to the intermediate type. He should select gray, gray-tan and dull blue-green suits. For ties and socks he may wear lavender, dark red, ecru and pongee. He may wear shirts of the same colors but lighter values than his ties, or, they may be light values grayed, of the same hue as his suit.

For church wear, choose good material and simple design that lends itself to the use of changeable decorations, such as bright detachable collars and cuffs, buttons and buckles. Such dresses will serve for school next year and may be made over.

Jane will be happier and healthier in wash frocks than in woolen or silk dresses. Make them on simple lines as mentioned above. Choose some bright colors. She will love them.

Ruth will need a party dress, shoes and wrap. Do not spend much on these garments. Select for becomingness and effectiveness rather than quality of materials. Make the dress formal. With that, she can wear a little cape of the same material, or a light velvet jacket, or a high organdie or silk collar to transform it into a dinner dress. Her shoes should have high heels, harmonize with her dress, and be a type that she can wear to dinner or to a dance.

Please let me know how you are getting along. If you do become a little discouraged with your task, just remember that you and every other mother must give some thought, time, and energy to the problem of clothing the school child.

Pan-Hellenic Members Enjoy Luncheon Hour

Discussions Feature Meeting Of P.-T. A.

The Lida Benton Parent-Teacher association met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Harry Stein presiding.

The program opened with a "Wild Flower" program by the third grades directed by Mrs. Theus and Mrs. Darnell.

The Lida Benton association has adopted the plan of having its members lead in discussion. This plan has proved very successful in [illegible] interest and enthusiasm. Mrs. McAuliffe, program chairman, introduced the speakers: Mrs. Elizabeth Darnall, who spoke on "Fundamental Ideas for Tomorrow;" Miss Mildred Gannaway, on "The World for Which We Must Educate;" and Miss Verna LeBlanc, "Youth Challenges the Nation."

The program was followed by a business session. The meeting closed with messages from the state and the national presidents. The 5-B and the 2-A grades were awarded prizes for having the most mothers present.

Central Grammar school P.-T. A. will meet Wednesday afternoon in the auditorium at 3:30. A special program will be presented at this time; members of the second grade will appear in a Thanksgiving pageant. Free will offerings of food will be received for the benefit of underprivileged children. The public is invited.

Father Martin J. Walsh has returned from a visit to Boston and will resume the monthly Bible lectures that has engaged the interest of the Newman Club for the past several months. The lecture starting promptly at 8 p. m. Thursday evening at St. Matthew's auditorium will be followed by an attractive musical program featuring Mrs. Ladell Duke, pianist, and Mrs. James E. Davis, vocalist, who by request will be heard in the "Indian Love Call," by Friml. Miss Octave Register will accompany Mrs. Davis. Little Sara Ellen Glaxner will appear in Mary Mapes Dodge's The Minuet. The Newman Club which is sponsored by the local court of the Catholic Daughters, is filling a much needed want in the spiritual life of those newly accepted within the church and the public generally who are interested in getting first hand information about the teachings of the Catholic church. The musical programs which occupy a part of the hour's meeting are greatly enjoyed and appreciated as the different artists in the city's musical circles give generously of their talent at each gathering. The public is extended a cordial invitation to meet with the Newman Club.

Mr. and Mrs. James Trousdale have returned from their honeymoon and are now at home to their friends on the corner of Walnut and Hudson Lane.

Luncheon Hour Is Enjoyed By Medical Club

Mrs. J. Q. Graves presided with customary grace over the flower banked luncheon table at the Business and Professional Women's club house on Wednesday when members of the auxiliary to the Ouachita Parish Medical society met for their monthly luncheon and business session. The beauty of the golden colored chrysanthemums centering the table was accentuated by the mellow candlelight. Mrs. Graves was assisted by Mrs. P. L. Perot and Mrs. C. Hill.

Mrs. John Pracher read an interesting communication from the state president, Mrs. T. H. Watkins, of Lake Charles, in which the aims of the auxiliary were stressed.

Several outstanding Monroe artists were present on this occasion. Mrs. Henry Whitfield contributed a vocal number, Mrs. Roger Frisbie a violin number, and Mrs. Julius Kugler, pianist. Mrs. Blanche Oliver contributed several humorous readings.

A delicious four course luncheon was served to Mrs. Blanche Oliver, Mrs. Henry Whitfield, Mrs. Roger Frisbie, Mrs. Julius Kugler, Mrs. John Williams, Mrs. R. W. O'Donnell, Mrs. John Pracher, Mrs. J. J. Wolff, Mrs. A. L. Peters, Mrs. J. Q. Graves, Mrs. P. L. Perot, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale and Mrs. E. R. Yancey.

The History Of Chinaware Is Discussed In Very Interesting Manner By Mrs. George Welch

The history of chinaware, dating back to 1000 B. C., was traced in the most delightful manner by Mrs. George Welch in a paper read before members of the Altrurian Book club last week.

Mrs. Welch said: "To speak of porcelain is to speak of 'chinaware,' for chinaware is a synonym for porcelain.

The Chinese invented porcelain and it is from this fact that it is called chinaware. They are known to have made porcelain as early as 1000 B. C. and they still continue to make the most delicate and highly-priced wares. The Chinese are able to produce a color effect that other countries have never been able to equal.

"The beautiful and decorated chinaware was first brought into Europe when 40 pieces was sent to the Sultan of Damascus in 1171. Since that time chinaware has been the pride of kings, princes, and men of wealth. Queen Elizabeth was an early European admirer of porcelain and valued highly her two cups, one white and the other green.

"At every turn romance clings to the history of porcelain or chinaware. For many years folks thought that a cup of porcelain changed color and flew into pieces when anything poisonous had been poured from it, and to this day some people treasure with sacred regards ancient Chinese vessels of porcelain, believing that they were made from remnants of the clay that the sun and moon were made of. While still others believe them to have miraculous power for curing diseases and driving away evil spirits. The famous blue Chinese plate holds the legend of a king, and his daughter who runs away with her lover to be pursued by the king, which can be easily seen in the design on the plate.

"The manufacture of porcelain was guarded as secrets by the Chinese for many centuries, and it was not until the eighteenth century that the Europeans discovered the art of making anything that resembled the Chinese porcelain. The first porcelain was manufactured in Europe in 1706 at Dresden, Germany, from which the famous Dresden China got its name, and has become a favorite throughout Europe and America. So much importance was attached to the discovery of the making of chinaware in Germany that the workmen were imprisoned in a fortress so that the secret would not leak out. But one by one the workers escaped and carried the secret with them to other parts of Europe and dozens of factories soon began to make true porcelain. Their finest productions have rivaled those of China and have brought almost as good prices. Some of the most noted factories are located at Sevres, France, Vienna, Berlin, Chintilly, Copenhagen and many others.

"There are three varieties of porcelain and the secret of the making of it lies in the materials. With today's china, one spans the history of a famous craft. We see it progress from its first beginning to its delicately, adventurous modernism of our own day. It offers an unique chronology, authentic and unquestioned. Neither silver, nor glass, nor furniture can equal the cumulative richness which the passing years have added. Minton gives us the old salt glaze introduced into England in 1690, and Lowestoft that carries us back to the days of Queen Elizabeth may be ours today. With Wedgewood and Royal Doulton and many other famous potters we may travel decade by decade to the present day.

"Copenhagen porcelain presents ageless patterns and is noted throughout the world. Lenox is an American china, which offers exciting modernism in well established tradition of quality. In the Blue Book of China there is no such thing as a discontinued pattern. Spodes and Lowestaft hold the greatest historical value. Both are stoneware. Their authentic patterns recapture for us in this day an age of priceless romance of earthenware making of china.

"From England we have the Royal Doulton, Lowestoft, Wedgewood, Crown Ducal, Gainsborough and Minton. From France we have Haviland and from Germany the Dresden china.

"A china closet is like a woman's wardrobe which may be smart and correct for every occasion—carefully planned and selected as to color and accessories. Staple pieces should be selected with great discrimination."

The regular program meeting of the Methodist missionary society of the First Methodist church, was held at the church Tuesday evening, Nov. 20th, with circle eleven in charge of the program, and Mrs. Earl S. Hitt, presiding. The program was opened with a song by the assemblage, "Savious Like a Shepherd Lead Us," with Miss Juanita Porter at the piano. Mrs. DeWitt Henry conducted the devotional, taking for her scripture reading the 12th chapter of Romans, 9th to the 21st verses, Mrs. Worthington closed the devotional with prayer, after which the congregation sang "Something For Jesus."

Mrs. H. A. Miller gave a most interesting paper on "Rural Work in the Methodist Churches," and Miss Juanita Porter gave a word picture of the rural work being done by her sister, Miss Willie Mae Porter. Mrs. N. D. Hurdle gave the Missionary news. The following members gave a dramatization, "Avenue of Faith" in a most pleasing manner: Mrs. A. R. Holloway, Mrs. John Meyers, Mr[s.] Sam Cillins, Mrs. J. E. Kersh, Mrs. D. C. Warner. The program was closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Mrs. Charles Mitchell, council president of the Camp Fire Guardians association, will address members at the camp fire rooms Monday night at seven-thirty on the subject of "Handicraft." Mrs. J. G. Cobb will tell what was found on the nature trail at Ki-Ro-Li during the camping period last summer. All members including guardians, sponsors and assistant guardians are urgently requested to be present. A social hour will be a distinct feature.

Week-end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ritter are Mr. L. H. Ritter of Plaquemine, Miss Audrey Lario, Mrs. R. J. Lario, Miss Lucy Watts and Mr. Milton Patin of Lakeland, La.

Miss Nancy Stack is spending the week-end as the lovely house-guest of Miss Sue Graves.

Luncheon And Bridge At The Lakeside Country Club Is Interesting Event Of Week

The spacious lounge of Lakeside Country club, filled with warm fire-light glow, was a charming setting for the fashionably dressed throng present at the luncheon and bridge tournament on Thursday with Mrs. Bernard Biedenharn, president, among the guests in a navy blue afternoon frock with white accessories.

Luncheon was served in the dining room, followed by the bridge tournament, conducted by Mrs. A. L. Harrington. The winners of the handsome trophies, silver cups, were claimed by Mrs. Smith Colvin and Mr. George Hemphill, east and west players, and Mrs. J. Harvey Trousdale and Mrs. R. B. Frizzell, north and south players.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Shea announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Ella, to Ralph McDow of McGehee, Ark., November the thirty-first in this city. The ceremony was performed at the Catholic rectory with Father Vandegaer officiating. Miss Shea attended St. Marys Academy in Little Rock, Ark. She has held a responsible position with the ERA for the last two years in Rayville where she possesses a wide circle of friends.

Mr. McDow attended the University of Arkansas and is a member of the K. A. fraternity. They will make their home in McGehee, Ark., where Mr. McDow is engaged in business.

The out-of-town visitors were Mrs. J. S. Maloney and Mrs. R. M. Butterfield of Little Rock, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. Kelly of McGehee, Ark.

The meeting of the Missouri Pacific Women's club on Friday at the club house claimed a large representation of members and several guests. Following the business session a social hour was enjoyed during which games were introduced and prizes awarded. A piano duet was beautifully rendered by Mrs. N. Colburn and her son, Nordel. Mrs. Lydia Nichols contributed a beautiful voice number with Miss Nellie Breard, accompanist. The serving of delicious refreshments brought the pleasures of the afternoon to conclusion.

Mrs. W. C. McDonald, Jr., was hostess to her Wednesday afternoon contract bridge club in her home on Allen avenue. She used yellow and bronze chrysanthemums as decorations in the reception room. Mrs. Clark Rankin won high score and received a box of dusting powder and bath salts. To the club members and guests Mrs. McDonald served a chicken salad course. Those present were Mesdames Tom Carlan, Charles Kelly, Johnnie Michaud, Edwin Hodge, Clark Rankin, W. M. McBride, Tom Dennis, M. L. Dickerson, Nelson Michaud, A. G. McKenzie, Douglas McLean and Tom Calloway.

The Fidelis class of the Baptist church held its monthly business and social meeting in the home of Mrs. Travis Pardue. A tea to be given in the near future was discussed. A contest game was played in which Mrs. C. L. Cothran won the prize. The hostess served sandwiches, cakes and tea to the following: Mesdames G. E. Smith, Fred Smith, J. C. Burris, J. L. Dodge, George Smith, C. L. Cothran, D. G. Miller, Clinton Blake, A. L. Weeks, Ralph Chapman, A. L. Wigley, Ansley Colvin, Cornelia Carson, Dallas Henry, R. J. Cobb, Iva McMurray, Roy Fullerton, Travis Pardue and Miss Eleanor Pardue.

Mrs. Sherburne Anderson entertained with a bridge party on Tuesday afternoon. The Thanksgiving motif was carried out in the tally cards, the tables and flowers. At the conclusion of the game a box of bath salts was presented to Mrs. W. J. Miller for high score. Miss Lucille Warner received bridge cards for the consolation. A salad course was served to the following: Mesdames W. M. McBride, Tom Dennis, M. L. Dickerson, Stanley Lewis, T. G. Littlefield, M. Martin, Charles Patterson, W. J. Miller, H. M. Gatlin, Paul Stinson, Wilfred Scroggins, Miss Warner. Among the additional tea guests were Mesdames H. W. Ayres, Walter Braswell, David Jeffress.

Mrs. Charles Moore entertained a number of her friends with an attractive bridge party at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ruth Pratt, Thursday afternoon. Pnnk and red radiance roses were used profusely throughout the suite of rooms. Mrs. Nelson Michaud won high score and received a crystal relish dish and Mrs. Douglas McLean, who won second prize, was given a set of water glasses. The consolation prize, a box of handkerchiefs, was won by Mrs. David Bell. Refreshments were served to he following: Mesdames Tom Carlan, Charles Kelly, Johnnie Michaud, A. G. McKenzie, Edwin Hodge, Nelson Michaud, Douglas McLean, T. G. Littlefield, W. M. McBride, Tom Dennis, David Bell, M. L. Dickerson, W. C. McDonald, Jr., S. Anderson, Brown Traylor and Tom Calloway.

CHAPTER VII

There was no answer from Bleeker, publisher of The Blade, but an abrupt, negative nod of the head. Kenney, the city editor, pressed the receiver support down into place, then raised it again.

"Miss West," he went on, "this is Dick Kenney. Will you get me Bill Osborne on the line right away? Yes, I'll hold the line . . . hello, Bill, this is Kenney. Nixon has just telephoned in from headquarters. He's picked up a radio call. The police have found a body out on the outskirts of town. Sanborne and 192nd streets. It's a subdivision that's gone sour. There are only a few houses out there. The police think the body is that of Charles Morden.

"Take Sam Lane with you. Go down to headquarters and get on the job. Contact the homicide squad. Tell them that Morden was working on an important matter and that we're going to move heaven and earth to get the thing cleaned up. You can pass the word around that The Blade is going to expect results. You find out all the facts and then report back, and I'll give you a line on the stuff Morden was working on. You pick up Fred Nixon and the three of you drop everything else to get this thing cleaned up. Understand?"

He nodded his head and dropped the receiver back into place, turned a set, grim face toward Bleeker.

"Poor devil," he said.

Bleeker made a fist, pounded it slowly on the desk.

"I," he said slowly, "sent that boy to his death. I didn't know it, and he didn't know it, but that's what it amounted to. Poor devil! Just a newspaper man working on a case. He found out something and they rubbed him out."

"Can we get any clews from what he was working on?" Kenney asked. "The body was found 20 minutes ago. He'd been taken out there and dumped."

"He telephoned yesterday," Bleeker said, "that he was working on a live lead. He had to play around with some woman to cultivate it. He didn't mention names. You go ahead and handle this thing, Kenney. Put as many men on the job as are necessary. Morden was one of our boys. He was bumped off. We're going to avenge his murder. More than that, it's an insult to the paper. We're going to clean this thing up, if we have to move heaven and earth. I'm going to see Sidney Griff, the criminologist."

"There's more to this case," Bleeker went on, "than appears on the surface."

"Of course there is," Kenney said. "You know what it is and so do I. Morden was getting dope on Frank Cathay."

"But," Bleeker pointed out, "we made our peace with Cathay. The libel suit was called off."

"That doesn't mean that Morden had to forget what he'd found out, does it?" Kenney asked impatiently. "Morden found out something; Cathay killed him to keep it quiet."

Bleeker shook his head slowly. "Men are killed, Kenney," he said, "for gain, for vengeance, for fear, for jealousy. We can't figure where there was any revenge, gain or jealousy. Therefore, we jump at the conclusion it's fear and immediately figure Cathay was mixed up in it. But Cathay is a prominent citizen. If there are any skeletons in his closet they'd be buried so deeply a casual investigation wouldn't have disclosed them in three days."

"Well," Kenney remarked, "Griff can tell us more about it. He's good—the best criminologist in the country today. When you're talking with him, try and get some information out of him about a man by the name of Thomas Decker. Decker was a witness to the murder of Edward Shillingby, a private detective. Philip Lampson—the gangster they call 'Cincinnati Red'—is held under arrest. The story goes that Decker was frightened because he was a witness. He went to Griff and Griff has buried him somewhere. He says he'll produce Decker at the time of trial, but that's all he'll say. There's a story in it if we could get Griff to talk."

"He won't," Bleeker said.

"There's no harm in trying," Kenney insisted. "If you work on this Morden case with him you'll get chummy with him. Remember to ask him about Decker. In the meantime I'm going to work and dig out some more facts."

He left the room with quick, impatient strides.

Dan Bleeker, seated at his desk, got Ethel West on the telephone and said, "Get me Sidney Griff, the criminologist. Tell him that I want to see him upon a matter of major importance. I probably won't have all the facts necessary to make a presentation of the case until after dinner tonight. I'd like to see him this evening."

Bleeker sat perfectly motionless. His body seemed relaxed. His attitude might have been mistaken for one of calm meditation upon some peaceful subject.

The telephone rang. Bleeker snapped the receiver from its rest and heard Ethel West say, "Mr. Griff will see you at 8:30 tonight if that is convenient."

"Quite," Bleeker said. "Now get me the editor of The Riverview Chronicle, in Riverview. Rush the call."

He dropped the receiver back into position but held his hand on it and when, within a matter of a minute and a half, the telephone rang, he snapped the receiver to his ear with a quick motion.

"Hello," he said, "is this Beckley of The Riverview Chronicle? This is Dan Bleeker of The Blade. We sent a man up to look over your clippings on Frank B. Cathay. A chap named Morden. Did you give him any information?"

Bleeker listened for a short time, then nodded his head.

"Now," he said, "I want you to do something for me. There may be a big story in it. I want you to find out for me where Frank B. Cathay was yesterday afternoon. In the morning if possible, but in the afternoon for certain. I want to know every move he made. You can go to any necessary expense and send the bill to me. He's what . . . ? Are you certain . . . ? Check that, will you? Find out about the doctor. See if you can approach the nurse. They probably have two or three. Get all the information you can and telephone it in just as quickly as you can. That may be a matter of major importance. I'm calling on you because I know where you stand on the city election. I'm just asking you to extend me a courtesy which we have extended you in times past.

"You call me back just as soon as you find out. If I'm not here you can leave any information with Ethel West, my secretary."

"I telephoned Beckley of The Riverview Chronicle," he said, "for a report on Cathay. He tells me that Cathay was taken very suddenly and seriously ill yesterday morning and has been in bed ever since. I told him to verify it. Illness is something that can be faked very easily. We can't even be certain of the physician. Cathay is a prominent man but we can probably find out something from the nurses. Beckley is working on it."

"You think Cathay and Morden had a conference somewhere?" asked Kenney.

"I'm not thinking anything just yet," Bleeker told him. "I'm getting facts. I have an appointment for 8:30 tonight with Sidney Griff. What have you found out from headquarters? Anything?"

"It's Morden all right," Kenney said grimly. "They can't tell the exact time of death yet, but it was some time yesterday afternoon. He was dumped out in the abandoned subdivision during the night, probably around 3 or 4 o'clock this morning. No one knows anything about how he got there."

The telephone on Kenney's desk shrilled into sound. Kenney frowned and pulled the receiver to his ear.

Kenney speaking," he said mechanically, then nodded to Bleeker. "It's for you," he said.

Bleeker took the receiver, said Hello, this is Bleeker," and then nodded to Kenney.

"This is long distance," he said. "Riverview calling. They're coming on now. . . . Hello, Beckley . . . yes . . . you're certain . . . there's no chance of a mistake . . . I see . . . okay. Thanks ever so much. It makes a good story for you at that end anyway. Huh . . . yes, we'll run something on it down here. Telephone us a complete report. I presume there'll be quite a scandal in Riverview. All right, if you'll send us in the story we'll give it a good play. Get all the facts and telephone in as soon as you get them. Within an hour if possible. You can get us the facts and we'll put a rewrite man on it."

He handed the telephone back to Kenney. Kenney replaced the receiver, dropped the telephone into position on the desk and raised his eyebrows at Bleeker.

"What did you find out?" he asked.

HANDEL SEARCH IN IRELAND

In preparation for the celebration next year of the 250th anniversary of the birth of Handel, the composer, Halle, Germany, is seeking material regarding him in the Irish Free state. The committee in charge says that Handel had many friends among the Irish and was warmly welcomed in Dublin when his "Messiah" was performed there. Free staters' have been asked to lend letters, portraits of manuscripts of the composer, to be exhibited during the festival.

The spacious lounge of Lakeside Country club, filled with warm fire-light glow, was a charming setting for the fashionably dressed throng present at the luncheon and bridge tournament on Thursday with Mrs. Bernard Biedenharn, president, among the guests in a navy blue afternoon frock with white accessories.

Luncheon was served in the dining room, followed by the bridge tournament, conducted by Mrs. A. L. Harrington. The winners of the handsome trophies, silver cups, were claimed by Mrs. Smith Colvin and Mr. George Hemphill, east and west players, and Mrs. J. Harvey Trousdale and Mrs. R. B. Frizzell, north and south players.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Shea announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Ella, to Ralph McDow of McGehee, Ark., November the thirty-first in this city. The ceremony was performed at the Catholic rectory with Father Vandegaer officiating. Miss Shea attended St. Marys Academy in Little Rock, Ark. She has held a responsible position with the ERA for the last two years in Rayville where she possesses a wide circle of friends.

Mr. McDow attended the University of Arkansas and is a member of the K. A. fraternity. They will make their home in McGehee, Ark., where Mr. McDow is engaged in business.

The out-of-town visitors were Mrs. J. S. Maloney and Mrs. R. M. Butterfield of Little Rock, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. Kelly of McGehee, Ark.

The meeting of the Missouri Pacific Women's club on Friday at the club house claimed a large representation of members and several guests. Following the business session a social hour was enjoyed during which games were introduced and prizes awarded. A piano duet was beautifully rendered by Mrs. N. Colburn and her son, Nordel. Mrs. Lydia Nichols contributed a beautiful voice number with Miss Nellie Breard, accompanist. The serving of delicious refreshments brought the pleasures of the afternoon to conclusion.

Jonesboro

Mrs. W. C. McDonald, Jr., was hostess to her Wednesday afternoon contract bridge club in her home on Allen avenue. She used yellow and bronze chrysanthemums as decorations in the reception room. Mrs. Clark Rankin won high score and received a box of dusting powder and bath salts. To the club members and guests Mrs. McDonald served a chicken salad course. Those present were Mesdames Tom Carlan, Charles Kelly, Johnnie Michaud, Edwin Hodge, Clark Rankin, W. M. McBride, Tom Dennis, M. L. Dickerson, Nelson Michaud, A. G. McKenzie, Douglas McLean and Tom Calloway.

The Fidelis class of the Baptist church held its monthly business and social meeting in the home of Mrs. Travis Pardue. A tea to be given in the near future was discussed. A contest game was played in which Mrs. C. L. Cothran won the prize. The hostess served sandwiches, cakes and tea to the following: Mesdames G. E. Smith, Fred Smith, J. C. Burris, J. L. Dodge, George Smith, C. L. Cothran, D. G. Miller, Clinton Blake, A. L. Weeks, Ralph Chapman, A. L. Wigley, Ansley Colvin, Cornelia Carson, Dallas Henry, R. J. Cobb, Iva McMurray, Roy Fullerton, Travis Pardue and Miss Eleanor Pardue.

Mrs. Sherburne Anderson entertained with a bridge party on Tuesday afternoon. The Thanksgiving motif was carried out in the tally cards, the tables and flowers. At the conclusion of the game a box of bath salts was presented to Mrs. W. J. Miller for high score. Miss Lucille Warner received bridge cards for the consolation. A salad course was served to the following: Mesdames W. M. McBride, Tom Dennis, M. L. Dickerson, Stanley Lewis, T. G. Littlefield, M. Martin, Charles Patterson, W. J. Miller, H. M. Gatlin, Paul Stinson, Wilfred Scroggins, Miss Warner. Among the additional tea guests were Mesdames H. W. Ayres, Walter Braswell, David Jeffress.

Mrs. Charles Moore entertained a number of her friends with an attractive bridge party at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ruth Pratt, Thursday afternoon. Pnnk and red radiance roses were used profusely throughout the suite of rooms. Mrs. Nelson Michaud won high score and received a crystal relish dish and Mrs. Douglas McLean, who won second prize, was given a set of water glasses. The consolation prize, a box of handkerchiefs, was won by Mrs. David Bell. Refreshments were served to he following: Mesdames Tom Carlan, Charles Kelly, Johnnie Michaud, A. G. McKenzie, Edwin Hodge, Nelson Michaud, Douglas McLean, T. G. Littlefield, W. M. McBride, Tom Dennis, David Bell, M. L. Dickerson, W. C. McDonald, Jr., S. Anderson, Brown Traylor and Tom Calloway.

Mangham

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. McConnell and Mrs. T. R. Thomas motored to Vicksburg, Tuesday for the day.

Mrs. W. D. Humble, Mrs. R. S. Humble, were the guests of Mrs. Will Lyles at Alto Saturday.

Rev. W. D. Poole left Wednesday for Shreveport where he will attend conference.

Miss Ruchelle Powell visited friends in Wisner last week-end.

Mrs. E. T. Lee, Miss Georgie Huff and Miss Clara Nettie Hemler left Wednesday for Baton Rouge where they will attend the teachers association Thursday and Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hixon, Little Buddie Hixon, Mrs. J. W. DeMoss, Sr., and Misses Ouida Hemler and Helen Hanna Biggs motored to Ruston Thursday night.

A most delightful event was the barbecue at the high school cafeteria Wednesday night when the Mens Bible class of the Mangham Baptist church were host to the Womens Bible class. The supper was composed of delicious barbecued meats, salads, cake and coffee. The men proved themselves thoroughly capable of entertaining as efficiently as the ladies.

CHAPTER VII

There was no answer from Bleeker, publisher of The Blade, but an abrupt, negative nod of the head. Kenney, the city editor, pressed the receiver support down into place, then raised it again.

"Miss West," he went on, "this is Dick Kenney. Will you get me Bill Osborne on the line right away? Yes, I'll hold the line . . . hello, Bill, this is Kenney. Nixon has just telephoned in from headquarters. He's picked up a radio call. The police have found a body out on the outskirts of town. Sanborne and 192nd streets. It's a subdivision that's gone sour. There are only a few houses out there. The police think the body is that of Charles Morden.

"Take Sam Lane with you. Go down to headquarters and get on the job. Contact the homicide squad. Tell them that Morden was working on an important matter and that we're going to move heaven and earth to get the thing cleaned up. You can pass the word around that The Blade is going to expect results. You find out all the facts and then report back, and I'll give you a line on the stuff Morden was working on. You pick up Fred Nixon and the three of you drop everything else to get this thing cleaned up. Understand?"

He nodded his head and dropped the receiver back into place, turned a set, grim face toward Bleeker.

"Poor devil," he said.

Bleeker made a fist, pounded it slowly on the desk.

"I," he said slowly, "sent that boy to his death. I didn't know it, and he didn't know it, but that's what it amounted to. Poor devil! Just a newspaper man working on a case. He found out something and they rubbed him out."

"Can we get any clews from what he was working on?" Kenney asked. "The body was found 20 minutes ago. He'd been taken out there and dumped."

"He telephoned yesterday," Bleeker said, "that he was working on a live lead. He had to play around with some woman to cultivate it. He didn't mention names. You go ahead and handle this thing, Kenney. Put as many men on the job as are necessary. Morden was one of our boys. He was bumped off. We're going to avenge his murder. HANDEL SEARCH IN IRELAND

In preparation for the celebration next year of the 250th anniversary of the birth of Handel, the composer, Halle, Germany, is seeking material regarding him in the Irish Free state. The committee in charge says that Handel had many friends among the Irish and was warmly welcomed in Dublin when his "Messiah" was performed there. Free staters' have been asked to lend letters, portraits of manuscripts of the composer, to be exhibited during the festival.

CROWD OF 81,000 SEES IRISH WIN WITH LONG PASS

By Alan Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Notre Dame's aerial barrage broke down the Army's otherwise stout-hearted defense today and the burly, green-shirted Ramblers romped off with their third successive triumph over West Point, 12 to 6 in the most glittering setting of the eastern football campaign.

A colorful crowd of 81,000 spectators, including the cadet corps and a host of metropolitan notables, saw the fighting Irish dreak down the deadlock with two long, sensational passes for a touchdown within the last five minutes of play. The biggest turnout of fans in the east this season jammed the huge triple-decked Yankee stadium. Gate receipts of approximately $325,000, a new high this year on any gridiron.

The break of the game came suddenly in the closing period after the Army had matched Notre Dame's spectacular first-period touchdown with an aerial scoring drive of its own in the second quarter. The Irish had just been set back by a 15-yard penalty for holding and were on their own 48-yard line when Andy Pilney combined with big Dan Hanley, substitute back, to engineer the decisive overhead attack.

Hanley plucked Pilney's first pass from a cluster of cadet tacklers for 27 yards and a first down on Army's 25. Two line plays netted four yards but they were merely decoys for the next pass, which Hanley caught on the run on Army's 12 and converted into a touchdown.

Notre Dame's first touchdown came in the first five minutes of play as Bill Shakespeare, the outstanding backfield man for the Irish, faded back well into his own side of the field and hurled a high, arching pass toward the sideline. Dominic Vairo, Notre Dame captain, grabbed it on the 17-yard line, side-stepped two tacklers and scored.

The Army's counter-attack, featuring Jack Buckler's effective passes to Shuler, produced the tying touchdown as an eventual consequence of the Irish being put in a big hole by Buckler's 75-yard punt to Notre Dame's one-foot line. Shuler crossed the goal-line on a 17-yard pass and run in the first few moments of the second period to complete a 38-yard advance, but Captain Joe Stancook's placement attempt for the seventh point was smothered by big Rocco Schiralli, sensational Rambler guard.

Army's only other scoring threat was checked by the whistle at the end of the first half, just as Buckler had galloped 13 yards for a first down on Notre Dame's 25, after the cadet attack had netted 40 yards in a sustained advance.

Army outrushed the Ramblers, 97 to 84, as both lines battled fiercely and on close to even terms throughout the game. Notre Dame registered eight first downs, however, to the Army's five and clinched the argument by the ability to connect with long-range passes. The Irish completed only three of nine aerials but they were good for a total of 95 yards and 12 points.

Shakespeare's all-around backfield play, together with the pass-receiving work of Vairo and Hanley and the sensational defensive work of Schiralli and Jack Robinson, center, featured Notre Dame's performance.

Hanley, hero of the winning touchdown advance, rose to the occasion as a substitute for George Melinkovich, star Rambler back, who was hurt in the first period and carried off the field.

THE CLASS B RACE

Northeast Louisiana usually furnishes the Class B football champion of the state, and it looks like this section will repeat this year, after a stirring battle to determine the Northeast title holder. The district committee, headed by Jimmie Thompson of Delhi, met here last night to make plans for the play-off.

Four teams have excellent claims on the Northeast crown and it should be a right merry battle. Tallulah, defending state champion, and Delhi, both of whom always have a hand in the annual struggle, and Waterproof and Choudrant, two newcomers who have horned in on the argument this year, are the contenders. And it's these two who are likely to furnish plenty of fireworks. Both have looked impressive in chalking up victory after victory.

Class B football as it's played in Northeast Louisiana is plenty tough. Monroe fans saw Tallulah and Delhi perform against the Ouachita Lions and will agree that each team put up a most creditable performance. And Waterproof and Choudrant are not conceding a thing to the Trojans and Bears.

Arcadia has been declared champion of the Northwest district and will mark time until the Northeast representative is selected. Meanwhile, the scramble will be on in this district and all three of the playoff games will be well worth anybody's money. I'll see you there.

THE ALL-STAR TEAMS

The various "all" teams have begun their appearance in the public prints already and from now until the middle of December, the big argument over which player should get the call for what position will rage.

In the days of Walter Camp, the all-America selection really meant something. Since Camp's death in 1925, any number of writers, coaches, boards and press associations have picked their annual elevens. The result has been that only a few players each year are recognized as being of genuine all-America calibre.

The coaches who are selecting the annual all-conference teams throughout the nation are bound to be prejudiced just a wee bit in favor of their own men. For instance, one of the feature services has engaged Harry Mehre, of Georgia; Francis Schmidt, of Ohio State; Ray Morrison, of Southern Methodist; Bill Spaulding, of U. C. L. A., and Percy Locey, of Denver U., to select the all-star teams of the Southeastern, Big Ten, Southwest, Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain conferences, respectively. And do you think Ohio State, S. M. U., U. C. L. A., and Denver men were forgotten when the time came to send out the honor roll? They were not! Only Mehre failed to include one of his players on his first team.

Coach Schmidt, for instance, installed Dick Heekin, of Ohio State, in one of the halfback posts. Heekin may be good, but is he better than Les Lindberg, of Illinois; Stan Kostka of Minnesota, or Jay Berwanger of Chicago, all of whom were relegated to the second team? And Brother Locey included three of his Denver lads on the Rocky Mountain all-stars.

And when the time comes for this feature service to pick its all-America eleven, it's highly probable that the recommendations of the five employe-coaches will be given preference.

SHORT AND SNAPPY

Larry Kelley, Yale's brilliant sophomore end who caught the touchdown pass that beat Princeton last week, is having the last laugh on his former high school coach. Said mentor told Kelley, who played only one year of high school football, that the only way he'd see a college football game would be to pay his way in. . . . L. S. U. officials expect the largest crowd in the history of Louisiana football to attend the Tulane game at Baton Rouge Saturday. Seats are available only in the wooden stands in the end zones now. If the demand continues, boxes probably will be constructed in front of the concrete stands. . . . The gent who wrote the song "Stars Fell On Alabama" evidently had Frank Thomas' football team in mind.

Ohio State partisans claim the Buckeyes are the most powerful football aggregation in the nation, despite their defeat by Illinois. However, I'll string along with Minnesota. . . . At that, Ohio State should cut quite a figure in Big Ten circles next season, because Schmidt loses only Regis Monahan from this year's squad. . . . Stanford is another top-notcher which loses few of its stars. The Indians were a sophomore ball club in the Rose Bowl last year. . . . Besides strengthening the club by trades, the Cubs have recalled Frank Demaree from the Coast league. Demaree hit 45 homers out west last season. . . . Notre Dame is still the drawingest team in the business. The Army game attracted more than 80,000 yesterday and the battle between the Irish and Pitt drew more customers than the Pitt-Southern California contest.

Crimson Eleven Scores Surprising Victory Over Boilermakers

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 24.—(AP)—An Indiana university football team that struck with bewildering swiftness in the second period buried Purdue's Western conference title hopes deep in the old oaken bucket today under a 17 to 6 upset victory in the annual Hoosier classic.

The Crimson eleven, held without a score in four previous Big Ten encounters, opened up suddenly with two perfect plays to product two touchdowns and score its first victory over Purdue since 1930.

Reed Kelso, the big guard, place kicked both points after touchdown, and then added a 25-yard field goal from placement in the third period.

The Boilermakers, with the game lost, produced a substitute backfield that scored in the last two minutes, on a forward pass from Orville Andersen to Fred Stalcup, from the 12-yard line.

Princeton Ends Season With 38-To-13 Victory

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The Princeton football Tigers went without their usual rations of meat last Saturday against the Yale Bulldogs, but they ate their fill today at the expense of the Dartmouth Indians, closing out the 1934 season with a 38 to 13 triumph before 40,000 spectators.

GEORGIA EASILY DEFEATS AUBURN

Bulldogs Finish Under Wraps After Scoring Three Times

MEMORIAL STADIUM, COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The Bulldogs of Georgia, displaying a versatile attack, drove to an easy 18 to 0 victory over Auburn's Plainsmen on a neutral battle ground today before 12,000 spectators.

Unloosing a mixture of forward passes and spectacular runs, the Bulldogs tallied touchdowns in the first three periods, stopped Auburn's offensive thrusts at every turn and finished the game under wraps.

It was the fourth straight triumph for the Bulldogs, who in their last trips to the war zone conquered Florida, Yale and North Carolina State. The game marked the end of the season for the Tigers and the margin of victory was the largest any team has rolled up against the Alabama Poly eleven.

The Plainsmen, after making a mild threat soon after the battle began, failed to approach scoring territory the rest of the way. Georgia gave a superior exhibition throughout, but on several occasions Auburn's plugging troops turned back the Bulldogs in the shadow of the goal.

Georgia was credited with 12 first downs to Auburn's 7 and gained 217 yards from scrimmage to 108. On forward passes the Bulldogs picked up forty yards and the Plainsmen 20.

GREENIES SCORE IN EACH QUARTER AGAINST TIGERS

Wave Regulars See But Little Action In Lopsided Victory

By Norman Walker
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24.—Sewanee was submerged once more by Tulane, gallantly again.

This time Tulane won 32 to 0.

As Lee once surrendered to Grant, after fighting to the end, the Purple Tigers bowed to the Green Wave.

The Wave, in turn, was satisfied that it had scrimmaged well in preparation for its annual battle with Louisiana State.

Touchdowns flew fast and frequent at Sewanee's southern gentlemen, the Greenies scoring in every period.

But the thrill of the game came at the beginning of the fourth period when Hall, a Sewanee guard, took the ball and ran 65 yards from the shadow of his own goal line before he was brought down, exhausted, on Tulane's 26-yard line.

Tulane used its second and third stringers for the bulk of the game. But the regulars put two of the touchdowns on the score board.

"Little Monk" Simons crossed the goal line in the first few minutes of play, following a 44-yard run from punt formation. He kicked the extra point.

In the second period, the Tigers held Tulane for four downs within their ten-yard line but were offsides on the final down and Lodrigues plunged the needed two yards to score. Johnson, subbing for Simons, kicked the extra point.

Thames crossed the Tiger's goal early in the third period, racing 44 yards through tackle. Page's try for extra point was off. Tulane's first team came in again and began a wide-open aerial attack, which terminated when Simons tossed 42 yards to Charlie Kyle for the fourth touchdown.

Tulane's fourth team was in against tired Sewanee when Henderson, subbing for Thames, dashed 65 yards for the final score.

Charlie Pearson, Sewanee halfback, kept the Tiger spirits up with his persistence in intercepting Tulane passes. Hayes, Young, Blair and Shelton were chief among those who said "they shall not pass" in the Sewanee line.

North Dakota Challenges L.S.U. To Christmas Game

North Dakota's upset victory over George Washington created quite a sensation in these parts, especially since Huey had "talked" the Colonials into prominence after their feat of "holding" his own Louisiana State charges.

Now, since the Sioux went the Louisianians slightly better, their supporters believe they can give Long's team, state senators and all, the battle the senator has been searching for.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Illinois' fighting crew trimmed the sails of Chicago's "Flying Dutchman," big Jay Berwanger today to conquer the Maroons, 6 to 0, in their finale of the western conference gridiron season, before a crowd of 32,000 at Stagg field.

The Illini, coming back from last week's defeat at Wisconsin which wrecked their chance of sharing in the Big Ten championships, concentrated on stopping Berwanger, the Maroons' most potent offensive threat. The little Illinois line outcharged the Chicago forwards on all but a few occasions, and Berwanger was halted almost every time he tried to get something started.

BAYLOR DEFEATS S. M. U., 13 TO 6

Russell And Wray Star As Bears Score Upset Over Mustangs

WACO, Texas, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A pair of ripping, unconquerable Baylor university football heroes, Lloyd Russell, quarterback, and Earl Wray, right end, put on a whale of a show today to give Baylor a 13 to 6 victory over Southern Methodist.

The very tall Wray leaped into the air and caught a 22-yard forward pass for a touchdown in the second period and scooped up a blocked punt and stepped briskly and untouched across the Mustangs' goal in the fourth period.

Russell plunged, slit tackles, swept wings and passed.

Paul Briggs scored the Mustangs' touchdown to tie the score in the third. Pearce, back to pass, was rushed and smothered by Methodist lineman. He gambled with odds and tried to pass blindly. Briggs intercepted the ball and raced fifty yards for a touchdown.

Minnesota And Stanford Victorious But Rice And Purdue Lose

By Herbert W. Barker
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The thundering herd of Minnesota and Stanford's powerful Indians climaxed their undefeated football campaigns with sensational victories yesterday as old man upset cracked down on Rice and Purdue; Yale won the "Big Three" crown, and Notre Dame surged back to the heights with a sensational triumph over Army's Cadets.

Stanford clinched the Pacific coast conference championship by easing out California's Golden Bears, 9-7, in a bitterly fought duel and in all probability will be named tomorrow to represent the Far West in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena for the second year in succession. Washington State's scoreless tie with Washington left Stanford the only undefeated and untied outfie within the conference.

Meanwhile, Minnesota's Gophers, regarded by many critics as the outstanding team in the country, verpowered Wisconsin's Badgers, 34-0, to wind up the campaign undefeated and untied and in complete possession of the Big Ten championship for the first time since 1911. Wisconsin fought gallantly to hold the Gophers to a 14-0 count in the first three quarters, but Minnesota rushed over three more touchdowns in the last period.

It took an amazing upset, sprung by Bo McMillin's Indiana outfit, however, to give Minnesota undisputed possession of the conference title. Indiana outplayed Purdue's Boilermakers by a wide margin to win, 17-6, and thus eliminate Minnesota's only rival for the crown.

The day's biggest crowd—81,000 spectators jammed in the Yankee Stadium—saw twice-beaten Notre Dame came back with an aerial barrage that sank Army, 12-6, with two long passes, Andy Pilney to Dan Hanley, deciding a hard-fought battle late in the final period. Lawrence Kelly, Yale's great end, led the Elis to a 14-0 conquest of Harvard, scoring one touchdown on a pass from Jerry Roscoe and starring in a defense that thwarted Harvard's closing rush.

Rice, undefeated leader of the Southwest Conference, came a cropper at the hands of Texas Christian which punched out an early touchdown and then hung on grimly to win, 7-2. Baylor, meanwhile, gave the southwest another sensation by spilling Southern Methodist, 13-6. The net result of these twin upsets was to leave Rice still at the head of the southwest parade and needing only to whip Baylor December 1 to win the title.

Along with Minnesota and Indiana, Ohio State, Northwestern and Illinois scored victories as the Big Ten season came to a close. Ohio State's fearsome attack buried Iowa, 40-7; Illinois turned back Chicago, 6-0; and Northwestern handed Michigan a 13-6 lacing to put the finishing touches to the most dismal season in Michigan history. The Wolverines, conference champions a year ago, won only one game all year—from Georgia Tech.

Pop Warner's Temple Owls, undefeated but tied once, chased the Villanova jinx decisively, beating Harry Stuhldreher's Wildcats, 22-0. Princeton came back from the shocking Yale defeat to "take" Dartmouth easily, 38-13; Colgate overcame stout resistance from Rutgers, 14-0; Columbia outsmarted powerful Syracuse, 12-0; Lehigh surprised Lafayette, 13-7; Bucknell whipped Penn State, 13-7; and DuQuesne stopped Catholis, 14-0.

Nebraska and Kansas State kept step in the Big Six race they will decide in their Thanksgiving Day game. Nebraska trailed Missouri going into the fourth quarter but the Cornhuskers pushed over two touchdowns to win, 13-6. Kansas State trounced Iowa State, 20-0. Kansas, meanwhile, dropped a 6-0 verdict to Michigan State while Oklahoma got not better than a scoreless draw with Oklahoma A. and M.

A light southern schedule was topped by Tulanes' 32-0 rout of Sewanee, keeping the Green Wave in the Southeastern Conference race; Georgia's 18-0 triumph over Auburn; Florida's 13-12 decision over Georgia Tech; a 13-6 conquest of Mississippi by Centenary's Gentlemen; and Maryland's 6-0 verdict over Georgetown.

Mrs. Wallace Easily Wins Fort Worth Women's Meet

FORT WORTH, Texas, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Wood shots that split the fairways and a consistent game around the greens gave Mrs. Tom Wallace of Sapulpa, Okla., the championship of the Fort Worth Women's Golf association second invitation tournament today.

She defeated Miss Deane Van Landingham of Charlotte, N. C., 9 up, ending the tournament on the tenth hole after taking a lead of six up during the morning round.

Despite a stiff southeast wind Mrs. Wallace had an 83 for the morning round and a 43 on the first nine holes of the afternoon play.

CLASS B PLAYOFF BEGINS THURSDAY

Delhi Meets Tallulah And Waterproof Plays Choudrant Eleven

The battle for northeast Louisiana's Class B football championship will start Thursday, with Choudrant playing at Waterproof and Tallulah and Delhi meeting at a place to be decided today, it was determined here last night at a meeting of the district two Class B football committee.

These four teams, all of which are undefeated in Class B circles, were the only ones to lay claim to the title. The committee is composed of G. W. Welch, Crosley school, West Monroe, chairman; Jimmie Thompson, Delhi; G. S. Manning, Calhoun, and J. S. Bankston, Columbia. Jack Hayes, of Ouachita parish high school, vice president of the state athletic committee, also attended the meeting, which was held at Ouachita.

The winners of Thursday's games will meet on Tuesday, December 4, for the northeast Louisiana championship, and on the following Friday, the titleholder will play Arcadia high school for the north Louisiana crown. Arrangements for this game will be made following the district two final.

Officials of the Delhi and Tallulah schools will confer today to decide where the Delhi-Tallulah game will be played Thursday. These two teams played a scoreless tie at Tallulah earlier in the season.

Three officials were selected for the Tallulah-Delhi battle. Coaches of Waterproof and Choudrant selected a list of five officials, three of whom will be named to work their game.

The meeting here last night was attended by coaches and principals of the contending schools, besides the entire membership of the committee.

Arcadia was declared winner of the northwest Louisiana Class B title last week when it was ruled that Dubach had played ineligible players and St. John's of Shreveport had not met the required three Class B opponents.

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The award of the northwest Louisiana Class "B" high school football championship to Arcadia instead of St. John's school of Shreveport by the state high school athletic association was attributed today to St. John's not having played the stated minimum of Class "B" opponents.

While asserting that the selection of the northwest Louisiana titlist was handled entirely by the district 1 Class "B" committee of the state association, C. B. Turner of Baton Rouge, association president, said the committee was informed that St. John's, while undefeated, had met only two "B" opponents.

Turner said the required minimum was three opponents.

Arcadia was defeated by Dubach, but it was announced that Dubach had been disqualified by having used ineligible players.

COLGATE WINS, 14-0

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Colgate's Red Raiders, famed as football magicians met unexpectedly stubborn opposition from a fighting Rutgers eleven today but finally developed enough power to take a 14 to 0 victory.

LOCAL TEAMS END FOOTBALL SEASON ON THANKSGIVING

Indians Play Here With Two High School Clubs Out Of Town

Thanksgiving Day will ring down the curtain on the 1934 gridiron season for Monroe football teams and of the three local elevens to be in action that day, only one will play on the home field. The Indians of Northeast Center of L. S. U., meet the invading Little Rock Junior college eleven at Brown field Thursday afternoon.

The Tigers of Neville high school who upset the powerful Camden, Ark., Panthers, 12 to 7, Friday night, will be served their Thanksgiving turkey in Greenville, Miss., where they meet the Greenville high school eleven, and the Ouachita parish high school Lions will renew hostilities on the same day with the strong Bolton Bears at Alexandria.

The Fighting Irish of St. Matthew's Parochial school complete their season this afternoon in Shreveport where they meet the St. John's Orioles.

All Monroe's teams have shown fairly successful seasons with the Neville Tigers boasting the longest list of victories and least number of defeats.

Northeast Center of L. S. U., the former Ouachita junior college undergoing its first year under the wing of the state university, has played eight games thus far, winning four of them, tying one and losing three. The Indians beat Pearl River junior college, upset Coach "Red" Swanson's Southeastern eleven, downed Lon Morris and trounced the Barksdale Birdmen of Shreveport. They tied Copiah-Lincoln and lost only to the College of Marshall, Louisiana Tech's unbeaten freshmen and Ouachita college of Arkansas.

Neville's Tigers, with eight victories against only two losses, have trounced Bastrop, Junction City, Oak Grove, Ruston, Winnfield, Vicksburg, Miss., and Camden, Ark., and won a forfeit from Natchez, Miss. Their losses in each instance was by a lone touchdown margin to Haynesville's Golden Tornado and Lafayette's Lions.

The Ouachita Lions got off to a bad start when they were upset, 6 to 0, by the light Crossett, Ark., eleven and to date they have won and lost an even four games. And the prospect of their knocking off Bolton's Bears looks dull. However, the Lions beat Delhi and Tallulah, both strong contenders for the Class B championship of Northeast Louisiana, and Bastrop and Rayville. Their losses were to such strong teams as Crossett, Byrd of Shreveport, Haynesville and Ruston.

The coachless St. Matthew's aggregation has made quite a record for itself, not that it has an impressive string of victories, but in the way it has conducted its season without the usual formality of having a coach. The Irish won two games, lost two and tied one and still have one to go. They trounced Grayson, 25 to 0; downed Bonita, 20 to 0; lost by one point to Winnsboro's Wildcats, 7 to 6; and Wisner's Bulldogs could beat them only 12 to 0. They tied Menard Memorial of Alexandria, 6 to 6.

Diegel Defeats Shute In Melbourne Pro Meet

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Leo Diegel, of Philadelphia, tonight was quite well pleased with himself as he pocketed a $2,500 check representing first place in the Melbourne Centenary Professional Golf championship.

In the 36-hole final today he defeated Densmore Shute, a fellow Philadelphia, 2 and 1 to add that title and the money that goes with it to the second place he took in the Centenary open last Saturday, won by Jimmy Thomson of Los Angeles.

By Alan Gould (Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Notre Dame's aerial barrage broke down the Army's otherwise stout-hearted defense today and the burly, green-shirted Ramblers romped off with their third successive triumph over West Point, 12 to 6 in the most glittering setting of the eastern football campaign.

A colorful crowd of 81,000 spectators, including the cadet corps and a host of metropolitan notables, saw the fighting Irish dreak down the deadlock with two long, sensational passes for a touchdown within the last five minutes of play. The biggest turnout of fans in the east this season jammed the huge triple-decked Yankee stadium. Gate receipts of approximately $325,000, a new high this year on any gridiron.

The break of the game came suddenly in the closing period after the Army had matched Notre Dame's spectacular first-period touchdown with an aerial scoring drive of its own in the second quarter. The Irish had just been set back by a 15-yard penalty for holding and were on their own 48-yard line when Andy Pilney combinned with big Dan Hanley, substitute back, to engineer the decisive overhead attack.

Hanley plucked Pilney's first pass from a cluster of cadet tacklers for 27 yards and a first down on Army's 25. Two line plays netted four yards but they were merely decoys for the next pass, which Hanley caught on the run on Army's 12 and converted into a touchdown.

Notre Dame's first touchdown came in the first five minutes of play as Bill Shakespeare, the outstanding backfield man for the Irish, faded back well into his own side of the field and hurled a high, arching pass toward the sideline. Dohinic Vairo, Notre Dame captain, grabbed it on the 17-yard line, side-stepped two tacklers and ran to the goal.

The Army's counter-attack, featuring Jack Buckler's effective passes to Shuler, produced the tying touchdown as an eventual consequence of the Irish being put in a big hole by Buckler's 75-yard punt to Notre Dame's one-foot line. Shuler crossed the goal-line on a 17-yard pass and run, in the first few moments of the second period to complete a 38-yard advance, but Captainn Joe Stancook's placement attempt for the seventh point was smothered by big Rocco Schiralli, sensational Rambler guard.

Army's only other scoring threat was checked by the whistle at the end of the first half, just as Buckler had galloped 13 yards for a first down on Notre Dame's 25, after the cadet attack had netted 40 yards in a sustained advance.

Army outrushed the Ramblers, 97 to 84, as both lines battled fiercely and on close to even terms throughout the game. Notre Dame registered eight first downs, however, to the Army's five and clinched the argument by the ability to connect with long-range passes. The Irish completed only three of nine aerials but they were good for a total of 95 yards and 12 points.

Shakespeare's all-around backfield play, together with the pass-reeiving work of Vairo and Hanley and the sensational defensive work of Schiralli and Jack Robinson, center, featured Notre Dame's performance.

Hanley, hero of the winning touchdown advance, rose to the occasion as a substitute for George Melinkovich, star Rambler back, who was hurt in the first period and carried off the field.

THE CLASS B RACE

Northeast Louisiana usually furnishes the Class B football champion of the state, and it looks like this section will repeat this year, after a stirring battle to determine the Northeast title holder. The district committee, headed by Jimmie Thompson of Delhi, met here last night to make plans for the play-off.

Four teams have excellent claims on the Northeast crown and it should be a right merry battle. Tallulah, defending state champion, and Delhi, both of whom always have a hand in the annual struggle, and Waterproof and Choudrant, two newcomers who have horned in on the argument this year, are the contenders. And it's these two who are likely to furnish plenty of fireworks. Both have looked impressive in chalking up victory after victory.

Class B football as it's played in Northeast Louisiana is plenty tough. Monroe fans saw Tallulah and Delhi perform against the Ouachita Lions and will agree that each team put up a most creditable performance. And Waterproof and Choudrant are not conceding a thing to the Trojans and Bears.

Arcadia has been declared champion of the Northwest district and will mark time until the Northeast representative is selected. Meanwhile, the scramble will be on in this district and all three of the playoff games will be well worth anybody's money. I'll see you there.

THE ALL-STAR TEAMS

The various "all" teams have begun their appearance in the public prints already and from now until the middle of December, the big argument over which player should get the call for what position will rage.

In the days of Walter Camp, the all-America selection really meant something. Since Camp's death in 1925, any number of writers, coaches, boards and press associations have picked their annual elevens. The result has been that only a few players each year are recognized as being of genuine all-America calibre.

The coaches who are selecting the annual all-conference teams throughout the nation are bound to be prejudiced just a wee bit in favor of their own men. For instance, one of the feature services has engaged Harry Mehre, of Georgia; Francis Schmidt, of Ohio State; Ray Morrison, of Southern Methodist; Bill Spaulding, of U. C. L. A., and Percy Locey, of Denver U., to select the all-star teams of the Southeastern, Big Ten, Southwest, Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain conferences, respectively. And do you think Ohio State, S. M. U., U. C. L. A., and Denver men were forgotten when the time came to send out the honor roll? They were not! Only Mehre failed to include one of his players on his first team.

Coach Schmidt, for instance, installed Dick Heekin, of Ohio State, in one of the halfback posts. Heekin may be good, but is he better than Les Lindberg, of Illinois; Stan Kostka of Minnesota, or Jay Berwanger of Chicago, all of whom were relegated to the second team? And Brother Locey included three of his Denver lads on the Rocky Mountain all-stars.

And when the time comes for this feature service to pick its all-America eleven, it's highly probable that the recommendations of the five employe-coaches will be given preference.

SHORT AND SNAPPY

Larry Kelley, Yale's brilliant sophomore end who caught the touchdown pass that beat Princeton last week, is having the last laugh on his former high school coach. Said mentor told Kelley, who played only one year of high school football, that he only way he'd see a college football game would be to pay his way in. . . . L. S. U. officials expect the largest crowd in the history of Louisiana football to attend the Tulane game at Baton Rouge Saturday. Seats are available only in the wooden stands in the end zones now. If the demand continues, boxes probably will be constructed in front of the concrete stands. . . . The gent who wrote the song "Stars Fell On Alabama" evidently had Frank Thomas' football team in mind.

Ohio State partisans claim the Buckeyes are the most powerful football aggregation in the nation, despite their defeat by Illinois. However, I'll string along with Minnesota. . . . At that, Ohio State should cut quite a figure in Big Ten circles next season, because Schmidt loses only Regis Monahan from this year's squad. . . . Stanford is another topnotcher which loses few of its stars. The Indians were a sophomore ball club in the Rose Bowl last year. . . . Besides strengthening the club by trades, the Cubs have recalled Frank Demaree from the Coast league. Demaree hit 45 homers out west last season. . . . Notre Dame is still the drawingest team in the business. The Army game attracted more than 80,000 yesterday and the battle between the Irish and Pitt drew more customers than the Pitt-Southern California contest.

By Norman Walker (Associated Press Staff Writer)

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24.—Sewanee was submerged once more by Tulane, gallantly again.

This time Tulane won 32 to 0.

As Lee once surrendered to Grant, after fighting to the end, the Purple Tigers bowed to the Green Wave.

The Wave, in turn, was satisfied that it had scrimmaged well in preparation for its annual battle with Louisiana State.

Touchdowns flew fast and frequent at Sewanee's southern gentlemen, the Greenies scoring in every period.

But the thrill of the game came at the beginning of the fourth period when Hall, a Sewanee guard, took the ball and ran 65 yards from the shadow of his own goal line before he was brought down, exhausted, on Tulane's 26-yard line.

Tulane used its second and third stringers for the bulk of the game. But the regulars put two of the touchdowns on the score board.

"Little Monk" Simons crossed the goal line in the first few minutes of play, following a 44-yard run from punt formation. He kicked the extra point.

In the second period, the Tigers held Tulane for four downs within their ten-yard line but were offsides on the final down and Lodrigues plunged the needed two yards to score. Johnson, subbing for Simons, kicked the extra point.

Thames crossed the Tiger's goal early in the third period, racing 44 yards through tackle. Page's try for extra point was off. Tulane's first team came in again and began a wide-open aerial attack, which terminated when Simons tossed 42 yards to Charlie Kyle for the fourth touchdown.

Tulane's fourth team was in against tired Sewanee when Henderson, subbing for Thames, dashed 65 yards for the final score.

Charlie Pearson, Sewanee halfback, kept the Tiger spirits up with his persistence in intercepting Tulane passes. Hayes, Young, Blair and Shelton were chief among those who said "they shall not pass" in the Sewanee line.

Usual Quota Of Upsets Features Saturday Card

Minnesota And Stanford Victorious But Rice And Purdue Lose

By Herbert W. Barker (Associated Press Sports Writer)

The thundering herd of Minnesota and Stanford's powerful Indians climaxed their undefeated football campaigns with sensational victories yesterday as old man upset cracked down on Rice and Purdue; Yale won the "Big Three" crown, and Notre Dame surged back to the heights with a sensational triumph over Army's Cadets.

Stanford clinched the Pacific coast conference championship by easing out California's Golden Bears, 9-7, in a bitterly fought duel and in all probability will be named tomorrow to represent the Far West in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena for the second year in succession. Washington State's scoreless tie with Washington left Stanford the only undefeated and untied outfie within the conference.

Meanwhile, Minnesota's Gophers, regarded by many critics as the outstanding team in the country, verpowered Wisconsin's Badgers, 34-0, to wind up the campaign undefeated and untied and in complete possession of the Big Ten championship for the first time since 1911. Wisconsin fought gallantly to hold the Gophers to a 14-0 count in the first three quarters, but Minnesota rushed over three more touchdowns in the last period.

It took an amazing upset, sprung by Bo McMillin's Indiana outfit, however, to give Minnesota undisputed possession of the conference title. Indiana outplayed Purdue's Boilermakers by a wide margin to win, 17-6, and thus eliminate Minnesota's only rival for the crown.

The day's biggest crowd—81,000 spectators jammed in the Yankee Stadium—saw twice-beaten Notre Dame came back with an aerial barrage that sank Army, 12-6, with two long passes, Andy Pilney to Dan Hanley, deciding a hard-fought battle late in the final period. Lawrence Kelly, Yale's great end, led the Elis to a 14-0 conquest of Harvard, scoring one touchdown on a pass from Jerry Roscoe and starring in a defense that thwarted Harvafd's closing rush.

Rice, undefeated leader of the Southwest Conference, came a cropper at the hands of Texas Christian which punched out an early touchdown and then hung on grimly to win, 7-2. Baylor, meanwhile, gave the southwest another sensation by spilling Southern Methodist, 13-6. The net result of these twin upsets was to leave Rice still at the head of the southwest parade and needing only to whip Baylor December 1 to win the title.

Along with Minnesota and Indiana, Ohio State, Northwestern and Illinois scored victorics as the Big Ten season came to a close. Ohio State's fearsome attack buried Iowa, 40-7; Illinois turned back Chicago, 6-0; and Northwestern handed Michigan a 13-6 lacing to put the finishing touches to the most dismal season in Michigan history. The Wolverines, conference champions a year ago, won only one game all year—from Georgia Tech.

Pop Warner's Temple Owls, undefeated but tied once, chased the Villanova jinx decisively, beating Harry Stuhldreher's Wildcats, 22-0. Princeton came back from the shocking Yale defeat to "take" Dartmouth easily, 38-13; Colgate overcame stout resistance from Rutgers, 14-0; Columbia outsmarted powerful Syracuse, 12-0; Lehigh surprised Lafayette, 13-7; Bucknell whipped Penn State, 13-7; and DuQuesne stopped Catholis, 14-0.

Nebraska and Kansas State kept step in the Big Six race they will decide in their Thanksgiving Day game. Nebraska trailed Missouri going into the fourth quarter but the Cornhuskers pushed over two touchdowns to win, 13-6. Kansas State trounced Iowa State, 20-0. Kansas, meanwhile, dropped a 6-0 verdict to Michigan State while Oklahoma got not better than a scoreless draw with Oklahoma A. and M.

A light southern schedule was topped by Tulanes' 32-0 rout of Sewanee, keeping the Green Wave in the Southeastern Conference race; Georgia's 18-0 triumph over Auburn; Florida's 13-12 decision over Georgia Tech; a 13-6 conquest of Mississippi by Centenary's Gentlemen; and Maryland's 6-0 verdict over Georgetown.

CLASS B PLAYOFF BEGINS THURSDAY

The battle for northeast Louisiana's Class B football championship will start Thursday, with Choudrant playing at Waterproof and Tallulah and Delhi meeting at a place to be decided today, it was determined here last night at a meeting of the district two Class B football committee.

These four teams, all of which are undefeated in Class B circles, were the only ones to lay claim to the title. The committee is composed of G. W. Welch, Crosley school, West Monroe, chairman; Jimmie Thompson, Delhi; G. S. Manning, Calhoun, and J. S. Bankston, Columbia. Jack Hayes, of Ouachita parish high school, vice president of the state athletic committee, also attended the meeting, which was held at Ouachita.

The winners of Thursday's games will meet on Tuesday, December 4, for the northeast Louisiana championship, and on the following Friday, the titleholder will play Arcadia high school for the north Louisiana crown. Arrangements for this game will be made following the district two final.

Officials of the Delhi and Tallulah schools will confer today to decide where the Delhi-Tallulah game will be played Thursday. These two teams played a scoreless tie at Tallulah earlier in the season.

Three officials were selected for the Tallulah-Delhi battle. Coaches of Waterproof and Choudrant selected a list of five officials, three of whom will be named to work their game.

The meeting here last night was attended by coaches and principals of the contending schools, besides the entire membership of the committee.

Arcadia was declared winner of the northwest Louisiana Class B title last week when it was ruled that Dubach had played ineligible players and St. John's of Shreveport had not met the required three Class B opponents.

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The award of the northwest Louisiana Class "B" high school football championship to Arcadia instead of St. John's school of Shreveport by the state high school athletic association was attributed today to St. John's not having played the stated minimum of Class "B" opponents.

While asserting that the selection of the northwest Louisiana titlist was handled entirely by the district 1 Class "B" committee of the state association, C. B. Turner of Baton Rouge, association president, said the committee was informed that St. John's, while undefeated, had met only two "B" opponents.

Turner said the required minimum was three opponents.

Arcadia was defeated by Dubach, but it was announced that Dubach had been disqualified by having used ineligible players.

COLGATE WINS, 14-0

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Colgate's Red Raiders, famed as football magicians met unexpectedly stubborn opposition from a fighting Rutgers eleven today but finally developed enough power to take a 14 to 0 victory.

LOCAL TEAMS END FOOTBALL SEASON ON THANKSGIVING

All Monroe's teams have shown fairly successful seasons with the Neville Tigers boasting the longest list of victories and least number of defeats.

Northeast Center of L. S. U., the former Ouachita junior college undergoing its first year under the wing of the state university, has played eight games thus far, winning four of them, tying one and losing three. The Indians beat Pearl River junior college, upset Coach "Red" Swanson's Southeastern eleven, downed Lon Morris and trounced the Barksdale Birdmen of Shreveport. They tied Copiah-Lincoln and lost only to the College of Marshall, Louisiana Tech's unbeaten freshmen and Ouachita college of Arkansas.

Neville's Tigers, with eight victories against only two losses, have trounced Bastrop, Junction City, Oak Grove, Ruston, Winnfield, Vicksburg, Miss., and Camden, Ark., and won a forfeit from Natchez, Miss. Their losses in each instance was by a lone touchdown margin to Haynesville's Golden Tornado and Lafayette's Lions.

The Ouachita Lions got off to a bad start when they were upset, 6 to 0, by the light Crossett, Ark., eleven and to date they have won and lost an even four games. They trounced Grayson, 25 to 0; downed Bonita, 20 to 0; lost by one point to Winnsboro's Wildcats, 7 to 6; and Wisner's Bulldogs could beat them only 12 to 0. They tied Menard Memorial of Alexandria, 6 to 6.

Diegel Defeats Shute In Melbourne Pro Meet

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Leo Diegel, of Philadelphia, tonight was quite well pleased with himself as he pocketed a $2,500 check representing first place in the Melbourne Centenary Professional Golf championship.

In the 36-hole final today he defeated Densmore Shute, a fellow Philadelphia, 2 and 1 to add that title and the money that goes with it to the second place he took in the Centenary open last Saturday, won by Jimmy Thomson of Los Angeles.

Crimson Eleven Scores Surprising Victory Over Boilermakers

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 24.—(AP)—An Indiana university football team that struck with bewildering swiftness in the second period buried Purdue's Western conference title hopes deep in the old oaken bucket today under a 17 to 6 upset victory in the annual Hoosier classic.

The Crimson eleven, held without a score in four previous Big Ten encounters, opened up suddenly with two perfect plays to product two touchdowns and score its first victory over Purdue since 1930.

Reed Kelso, the big guard, place kicked both points after touchdown, and then added a 25-yard field goal from placement in the third period.

The Boilermakers, with the game lost, produced a substitute backfield that scored in the last two minutes, on a forward pass from Orville Anderson to Fred Stalcup, from the 12-yard line.

Princeton Ends Season With 38-To-13 Victory

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The Princeton football Tigers went without their usual rations of meat last Saturday against the Yale Bulldogs, but they ate their fill today at the expense of the Dartmouth Indians, closing out the 1934 season with a 38 to 13 triumph before 40,000 spectators.

GEORGIA EASILY DEFEATS AUBURN

Bulldogs Finish Under Wraps After Scoring Three Times

MEMORIAL STADIUM, COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The Bulldogs of Georgia, displaying a versatile attack, drove to an easy 18 to 0 victory over Auburn's Plainsmen on a neutral battle ground today before 12,000 spectators.

Unloosing a mixture of forward passes and spectacular runs, the Bulldogs tallied touchdowns in the first three periods, stopped Auburn's offensive thrusts at every turn and finished the game under wraps.

It was the fourth straight triumph for the Bulldogs, who in their last trips to the war zone conquered Florida, Yale and North Carolina State. The game marked the end of the season for the Tigers and the margin of victory was the largest any team has rolled up against the Alabama Poly eleven.

The Plainsmen, after making a mild threat soon after the battle began, failed to approach scoring territory the rest of the way. Georgia gave a superior exhibition throughout, but on several occasions Auburn's plugging troops turned back the Bulldogs in the shadow of the goal.

Georgia was credited with 12 first downs to Auburn's 7 and gained 217 yards from scrimmage to 108. On forward passes the Bulldogs picked up forty yards and the Plainsmen 20.

North Dakota Challenges L.S.U. To Christmas Game

North Dakota's upset victory over George Washington created quite a sensation in these parts, especially since Huey had "talked" the Colonials into prominence after their feat of "holding" his own Louisiana State charges.

Now, since the Sioux went the Louisianians slightly better, their supporters believe they can give Long's team, state senators and all, the battle the senator has been searching for.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Illinois' fighting crew trimmed the sails of Chicago's "Flying Dutchman," big Jay Berwanger today to conquer the Maroons, 6 to 0, in their finale of the western conference gridiron season, before a crowd of 32,000 at Stagg field.

The Illini, coming back from last week's defeat at Wisconsin which wrecked their chance of sharing in the Big Ten championships, concentrated on stopping Berwanger, the Maroons' most potent offensive threat. The little Illinois line outcharged the Chicago forwards on all but a few occasions, and Berwanger was halted almost every time he tried to get something started.

BAYLOR DEFEATS S. M. U., 13 TO 6

Russell And Wray Star As Bears Score Upset Over Mustangs

WACO, Texas, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A pair of ripping, unconquerable Baylor university football heroes, Lloyd Russell, quarterback, and Earl Wray, right end, put on a whale of a show today to give Baylor a 13 to 6 victory over Southern Methodist.

The very tall Wray leaped into the air and caught a 22-yard forward pass for a touchdown in the second period and scooped up a blocked punt and stepped briskly and untouched across the Mustangs' goal in the fourth period.

Russell plunged, slit tackles, swept wings and passed.

Paul Briggs scored the Mustangs' touchdown to tie the score in the third. Pearce, back to pass, was rushed and smothered by Methodist lineman. He gambled with odds and tried to pass blindly. Briggs intercepted the ball and raced fifty yards for a touchdown.

Mrs. Wallace Easily Wins Fort Worth Women's Meet

FORT WORTH, Texas, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Wood shots that split the fairways and a consistent game around the greens gave Mrs. Tom Wallace of Sapulpa, Okla., the championship of the Fort Worth Women's Golf association second invitation tournament today.

She defeated Miss Deane Van Landingham of Charlotte, N. C., 9 up, ending the tournament on the tenth hole after taking a lead of six up during the morning round.

Despite a stiff southeast wind Mrs. Wallace had an 83 for the morning round and a 43 on the first nine holes of the afternoon play.

GENTS PROTECT EARLY LEAD TO BEAT OLE MISS

Buddy Parker Also Turns In Fine Line Plunging Performance

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The Gents of Centenary college took to the air today and flashed a dazzling aerial game plus stellar line plunging by Captain Buddy Parker to defeat Ole Miss, of Oxford, 13 to 6.

The game was marred by frequent fumbling but this was more than offset by the thrilling end runs, lateral passes and Captain Parker's notable performance in the third quarter when, on six plays, he smashed the Ole Miss line for 47 yards to score and then added the extra point to put the game on ice.

The game was the Gents' seventh victory against two defeats this year and the locals kept intact their record of being undefeated in the new stadium since it was opened four years ago.

Using a forward and lateral aerial attack that completely baffled their opponents, the Gents' scored in the first minute of the second quarter. They moved down to their own 38-yard line without interruption and the touchdown came when "Hoop" Hooper snatched a 17-yard pass from "Pug" Crowther on the one-foot line and stepped over the last stripe.

Featured by a 19-yard off tackle drive that put the ball on Ole Miss' 11, the Gents scored early in the third period. Parker followed up his long plunge by a four yard drive at center and seven yards off tackle for the score. He added the extra point with a kick from placement.

Starting from their 25-yard line, following a beautiful 19-yard return on a kickoff by Rodgers, Ole Miss moved down the field to score a touchdown without relinquishing the ball. When Hutson faked to Gunter on a double reverse Rogers took the ball and swept down the right side of the field for 34 yards. He was hauled down by Glumae, safety man. With Hutson and Gunter alternating as ball carriers Flood lost no time in completing the journey, scoring on a two-yard plunge.

Ole Miss outplayed the Gents in the last half and three times moved within the Centenary 20-yard line. Twice they were checked on fumbles and once when Cohan intercepted a pass.

Ohio State Team Whips Iowa By 40-To-7 Score

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The Ohio State football horde closed its season today with a forty to seven victory over the Hawkeyes of Iowa.

The game, the last on the Scarlet and Gray schedule, found the proteges of Coach Francis Schmidt just one point away from a tie for the Western Conference championship—that lone point being a missed goal after touchdown in the Illinois contest which the Ohioans lost 14 to 13 for the only blot on their record.

GOPHERS WALLOP WISCONSIN, 34-0

Minnesota Steamroller Crushes Badgers To Win Big Ten Title

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The final brilliant chapter of Minnesota's engrossing gridiron saga was written in big letters over the soggy greensward of Camp Randall Stadium today as the Gophers rode rough shod to a 34-0 triumph over Wisconsin to win their first undisputed Big Ten title since 1911.

Hailed by the vast majority of critics as mythical national champions, the Gophers' fond dream of a clear triumph to the Big Ten crown was realized today as Indiana defeated Purdue, 17-6, in one of the most astonishing upsets of a football season.

Today's game was just another rout for the powerful horde from the northland. The Gophers rushed over two quick touchdowns in the first period, smashed and pounded the outclassed Badgers dizzy in the next two, and then rambled over the goal line for their final three in the last 12 minutes of play as desperate Badger passes were intercepted and converted into scores.

The Gophers rolled up 13 first downs and reeled off 309 yards from the line of scrimmage to three first downs by Wisconsin and 16 useless yards. Seven Badger passes were intercepted. Fifty-five yards of penalties were assessed against Minnesota to 19 for the Badgers, halting two Gopher touchdown drives.

The closest Wisconsin got to the Gopher goal was the 23-yard line. That was in the second period when Ed Christianson blocked George Roscoe's kick and Gordon Pizer recovered for the Badgers. Another intercepted pass halted that threat on the spot.

Kelly Agrees To Meet Nick On Winner-Take-All Proposition

Following their sensational battle last week, which Kelly won on a disputed decision, Nick Elitch, husky Greek, and Forrest Kelly, former Tennessee U. football star, have been re-matched for the main event of the weekly wrestling show at Roosevelt stadium Wednesday night, Promoter Charlie Bruscato announced yesterday.

Elitch objected strenuously to Referee Bill Middlekauff's decision in awarding the third and deciding fall to Kelly in last week's match, and asked that he be given another crack at the Tennesseean. Nick emphatically stipulated, however, that another referee be employed. Kelly also was anxious to settle matters to the satisfaction of all concerned, so Bruscato immediately got their signatures on the dotted line. All of which should be pleasant news for the fans, for last week's show was a thriller.

Kelly won the third fall by butting Elitch to the mat and quickly covering him. Elitch had had all the better of the going before the surprising finish, and he let out a howl when Middlekauff gave the fall to Kelly. Nick had tossed Kelly out of the ring and as the former Vol star was about to climb back over the ropes, Elitch advanced on him. Kelly's head flew through the ropes and landed in the pit of Nick's stomach, sending the Greek sprawling to the mat. He was on his back only a couple of seconds, but it was long enough for Middlekauff, who had been having all sorts of trouble with Nick, to give Kelly the advantage of a short count.

Following the decision, Elitch and Middlekauff came to blows in the ring and it was necessary for Bruscato to vault into the arena and separate them. Again in the dressing room, the wrestler and the referee went at it but a hurry-up call for the law brought a quick termination to their impromptu bout.

Elitch told Promoter Bruscato yesterday that he could have thrown Kelly in straight falls if it hadn't been for that "football referee." He said he'd wrestle Kelly on a winner-take-all basis, provided another referee is booked.

"And I don't want this fellow 'Money' (meaning Allen Montgomery)," the Greek said. "He's all right to referee but not in my match. He and I don't like each other. I haven't forgotten the last time he refereed the match between Plummer and me."

With that ultimatum, Bruscato began scouring around in an effort to land a suitable official. He hadn't found one last night.

Kelly has agreed to all the stipulations set down by Elitch. Although the Tennessee youngster doesn't pop off, he commented that "the Greek never saw the day when he could throw me two straights."

Bruscato said he was attempting to arrange a good semi-final match to go with the Elitch-Kelly attraction.

GREENIES SCORE SEVENTH VICTORY

Florida And Georgia Also Victorious In Southeastern Play

(By Associated Press)

The pre-Thanksgiving Saturday in Southeastern conference football found Tulane, Florida and Georgia riding the crest of victory.

The big green team of Tulane rested considerably against Sewanee, letting the second stringers overthrow the Tigers 32 to 0. It was the seventh win for Tulane within the conference without a loss.

Georgia, showing its power after a slow early season start, met Alabama Polytechnic institute, known on the gridiron as Auburn, on neutral ground at Columbus, winning 18 to 0.

In a non-conference struggle the Centenary Gentlemen took a 13 to 6 victory over Mississippi.

Within the Dixie conference Birmingham-Southern kept its unbeaten and untied record free of blemish by defeating an ancient enemy Howard, also a Birmingham institution, 21 to 0.

The S. I. A. A. group, the largest organized football circuit in this part of the country, had its chief interest of the day centered at Danville, Ky., where the Prayin' Colonels of Centre college booted a field goal in the final period to defeat Mercer university 16 to 13.

In other S. I. A. A. games Union college defeated Louisville 7 to 0; Presbyterian and Wofford fought to a 7 to 7 tie and Southwestern at Memphis won over Union 20 to 0.

Columbia Wins Surprise Victory Over Syracuse

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Columbia's sprightly Lions took advantage of two widely separated scoring opportunities to hurl back a mighty Syracuse eleven today and score a surprise 12-0 triumph over one of the best Orange teams in history.

The up-state power house has run rough shod over all opposition this season except the Magicians from Colgate, and showed the 32,000 half frozen spectators plenty of class today, but could not crash the stone wall line of the Rose Bowlers when scoring opportunities beckoned.

YALE WINS FROM HARVARD, 14 TO 0

Bulldogs Capture Big Three Title For First Time Since '24

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Yale's lusty football infant, born in defeat, raised and hardened in suffering and adversity, reached a magnificent majority today, conqueror of Harvard 14-0 on top of last week's stunning triumph over Princeton—winner of the historic Big Three championship for the first time since 1924.

Before 50,000 fans, the team that everyone scorned in September reached its goal and its destiny in heady triumph, wiping out defeats by Columbia, Army and Georgia, ruling the "sacred triangle" in the first year the three have been together since Harvard and Princeton broke relations in 1926.

Favored through the stunning upset of the Tigers, Yale carved out two touchdowns in the first half, and then settled back to snuff out in the half every surge of a luckless Crimson eleven that gained 14 first downs to their 10, almost equalled the Blue rushing yardage, but could get nowhere due chiefly to a young end named Larry Kelley.

First he caught another pass from his pitching partner, Quarterback Jerry Roscoe, over the goal line from eight yards away to give Yale its second touchdown in the second period. With the second of Captain Clare Curtin's place kicks for the extra point, this completed the scoring for the day.

Then he went on to the defense, and with Harvard roaring down the field in the third quarter, he twice personally held the Crimson for downs, once inches from the goal when 159-pound Jimmy Adzigian, Harvard pony back, tried to sweep his end for a 50-yard drive, again a few minutes later when Tom Locke, Crimson sprint star, tried to go around him on the 23-yard line, both times on fourth downs.

Five times Harvard crashed down the field, using a dozen ball carriers in all in the desperate effort to break through. Twice the Crimson was inside Yale's two-yard line, twice inside the 25. Yet something always happened.

Camp Bruen Basketball Team Wallops Jonesville

ST. JOSEPH, Nov. 24.—(Special)—With one victory under their belts, members of Camp Bruen's fast basketball squad are champing at the bit over the fact that the recent wet weather has caused them to cancel practice sessions during the past week. The Bears took on the Jonesville independent squad last Thursday night in Sicily Island and won as they pleased by a score of 60 to 33.

Taking up where he left off last year, "Jew" Meyers, all-district center, led his mates to the easy triumph by ringing seven markers from the field and one from the free throw line. Shelton Trichel, one of the best forwards in the loop, ran him a close second with a total of 13 tallies.

The entire squad got in the game and all the men turned in a nice game, but it was the work of the starting lineup that pleased Lt. D. W. Ryker most. Passing like a machine and ringing goals with regularity, the five men who won themselves the name of the "A" team ran up a big lead on the Catahoula lads in the first twelve minutes of play.

Decision On Knoxville Club Expected Tuesday

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov 24.—(AP)—Whether Knoxville will continue as a member of the Southern Baseball league will be decided "once and for all" at a meeting of city council Tuesday, Mayor John T. O'Connor said tonight.

It is claimed by certain councilmen that $4,300 is due in rent on the city-owned baseball park. Owners of the club say they "owe nothing, and will move our franchise if any legal effort is made to collect."

Four southern cities, Macon and Columbus, Ga., Mobile, Ala., and Jacksonville, Fla., have made efforts to obtain the franchise.

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 24.—(AP)—To the thunderous cheers of 70,000 frenzied fans, a Stanford team disabled by the loss of its two greatest stars swept to Rose Bowl recognition and the coast conference championship today with a 9 to 7 victory over California's Bears.

The fortieth gridiron struggle of these traditional rivals provided the largest western crowd of the season with thrills and spills from start to finish in a hand to hand setto that saw Stanford's potential all-America Bobby Grayson, fullback, leave the game in the first quarter with two broken ribs.

For two periods they battled up and down the field in a scoreless duel while rival thousands cheered a Stanford advantage in the opening quarter and roared approval as California came back with a second period drive that three times brought the Bears within striking distance.

Late in the third quarter Stanford's alert ball hawks made and seized the "break" that put them in position to go into the lead.

Quarterback Alustiza banged the line for two yards. Then Robert "Bones" Hamilton, Stanford captain and right half, on the tail end of a triple reverse, dashed around the Bear right end to score standing up.

Near the end of the quarter Stanford gained on a weak California punt and put the ball into play on the Bear 42-yard line. Line plunges carried the ball to California's 15-yard mark from where Schott, continuing in a hero's role, added a field goal to his earlier punt blocking feats.

The three points meant the difference between victory and defeat as developments disclosed. California came back with a drive that resulted in a touchdown and the extra point. The thrust started on the Stanford 27-yard line. After a gain of two yards, Williams passed 20 yards to Jack Brittingham, right end, who ran the remaining five yards to score. Williams converted to put his team two points behind.

FLORIDA SHADES ENGINEERS, 13-12

'Gators Come From Behind To Nose Out Tornado In Thriller

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Florida spotted Georgia Tech two touchdowns today, then came back with a brilliant third period drive to break a long standing jinx and sent 18,000 home-coming fans out of the field gloating over a 13 to 12 victory.

Tech opened the second half with a scoring spree that netted all of its points within three minutes of the kickoff. But the 12-point advantage lasted hardly a minute as Alton Brown charged through the Yellow Jacket line and got squarely in front of a punt by Dean. The ball bounded crazily 14 yards to the Tech goal and Turner fell on it for the score.

The Golden Tornado, playing with an abandon that belied its long losing streak, took the next kickoff down into 'Gator territory but was forced to kick over the goal. Then started the greatest drive of the day with Harold Rowe, Florida's pounding sophomore halfback, tearing the middle of the Tech line to threads.

A pass, Bill Chase to Chuck Rogers netted 26 of the 80 yards to the Golden Tornado goal. But it was the pile driving Rowe who made most of the other 54 yards on repeated line bucks. Charlie Stolz ended it with a two-yard plunge for the marker.

Then Billy Stark, hefty tackle, dropped back to try for the point. He missed the goal post after the first touchdown but the point was even more sorely needed this time. Carefully gauging the distance, he took a tentative swing and shot the ball right through the middle of the uprights.

San Antonio Texas Loop Club Sells Three Players

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The San Antonio Missions announced the outright sale of three baseball players this afternoon.

Ernie Holman, obtained a few days ago in a deal that sent Buddy Connolly to New Orleans, was sold to Tulsa. Pid Purdy, 1933 batting champion, was sold to Oklahoma City, and Knoxville of the Southern Association bought Lee Stebbins. Stebbins is a first baseman, and was loaned to Beaumont last year. Holman is an infielder and Purdy an outfielder.

The transactions indicate the Missions will go in for younger talent next year. Hank Severeid has already signed to manage the club in 1935.

Grid Fans At Knoxville Attack Four Officials

Frank Darwin, of Virginia, Bill Coughlin, of Sewanee, Joe Moran, of Centre, and B. C. Clarke, of West Point, were the officials. Darwin received deep cuts and bruises about the face and head. All but Clarke are Southeastern officials.

The fans, most of them from the Central cheering section, became angry when Darwin disallowed a recovered fumble by Central in the fourth quarter. He gave the ball to City and penalized Central for offsides.

Central saw its chances for the southern high school football championship smashed when the "underdog" City team made two electrifying plays to score touchdowns and win, 12 to 2. This not only ruined an undefeated record, but a perfect defensive mark for Central during the 1934 season.

Frogs Score Early And Then Protect Goal Line In Thriller

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A thrice beaten Texas Christian university team struck today, then remained unyielding for 52 minutes in the teeth of a terrific pounding to beat the Rice Owls 7 to 2 and remove them from the select list of the nation's undefeated.

The Frogs tore gaping holes in the right side of the Rice line and marched 80 yards for a touchdown the first time they had possession of the ball. After that the game belonged to Rice, with the invaders almost helpless on offense and the Owls surging down the field time after time.

Lawrence was the big noise in the Toads' winning drive. He made several gains as the Fort Worth team advanced from its own 20-yard line to Rice's 9. Three line plays netted only three yards. Lawrence made a short pass toss to Captain Joe Coleman, standing behind the line of scrimmage, and the Frog quarterback charged 10 yards for a touchdown.

Rice perhaps would have been blanked but for the Frogs' generosity in the fourth quarter. A punt by McCauley had rolled to the Christian one-yard line. Coleman was sent back into the game to call for an intentional safety rather than risk the chance of punting out.

Up until the final seconds of play Rice held high hopes of beating the Frogs for the first time since 1924.

Until today Rice had gone through nine games without defeat and had been tied only by Coach Biff Jones' powerful Louisiana State Tigers. The feathered flock had been prominently mentioned for invitation to either the Pasadena Rose Bowl or New Orleans Sugar Bowl post season frays.

As a result of the unexpected T. C. U. victory, Rice must beat Baylor next week to win the Southwest conference championship unless the Texas Aggies should upset Texas.

Lawrence ran from the bench as soon as the final gun had sounded and knocked down Richard Fischer, the field judge. A pass interference penalty called two minutes early and giving Rice the ball on the Frog 13-yard line was reported to have aroused the ire of the stellar back.

Roach, sophomore playing the entire game with a broken nose, perhaps was the standout. He rushed the Rice passers so fast they had little time to find a receiver. Several times, he threw the passers for long losses.

Mangham Seeks Chance To Play Jonesboro Again

MANGHAM, Nov. 24.—(Special)—The strong Mangham high school football team, uncorking a hard running attack, coupled with splendid blocking by the entire team, defeated the Columbia high school team here yesterday by a score of 43 to 12.

Mangham, entering Class A competition for the first time, should be considered in the Class A play-off. Mangham has lost but one Class A game and that to Jonesboro and but for a decision by the officials, the game would have been a scoreless tie. The rules of the Louisiana High School Athletic association stipulate that no game can be contested for decisions made by officials during a game. Mangham has therefore made no formal protest, but feels as though they should be considered along with Jonesboro for the Class A play-off. A game between Jonesboro and Mangham should be played first to decide the team to play Byrd high of Shreveport.

Mangham has but one more game to play and that against the Ferriday high school team at Mangham on Thanksgiving day.

INDIANS EXPECT HARD BATTLE IN THEIR LAST TILT

Forced into idleness last week-end by cancellation of their game with Louisiana State "B" team, the Indians of Northeast Center will close a fairly successful season of football Thursday afternoon, when they tackle the high-scoring Little Rock junior college eleven on Brown field in their annual Thanksgiving day classic.

The Indians had planned to put a "grand finale" on their 1934 season on Brown field on Thanksgiving day but their supposed "breather" with the Little Rock Trojans has taken a sudden reverse and is turning out to be a nightmare for them. News reached the Braves' camp yesterday that Coach Alvin Longstreth's Men of Troy have picked up power as the season progressed and in their final game before a large crowd of Little Rock fans, completely routed the supposedly strong eleven from the Jonesboro Baptist college, 51-to-0.

The local Redskins were idle last week-end only as far as outside competition is concerned and yesterday instead of their usual week-end game, they were put through a scrimmage that probably rivaled any of their games in roughness.

Coach Jim Malone said yesterday's workout was the last of a series of stiff scrimmages that have been taking place on their practice field the past week. He said that this past week was the first opportunity he has had to put his squad through any heavy work without fear of having someone hurt and thus kept out of a game because of injuries received in skirmishes.

When the Indians trot out on Brown field to close their season Thursday they will find the going tough. They will be without two stalwarts of their line who have figured prominently in the competition this year. Captain Turner and C. G. Johnson, center and guard, withdrew from school last week due to financial difficulties.

To fill this gap in the middle of the line Henry Spillar has been moved up from the reserves to take charge of the pivot position and "Squatty" Young will probably fill in the other vacant berth. In case Spillar falters at center, Coach Malone has been working Boyd Arnold, regular left end, at center also. In yesterday's scrimmage Arnold showed he was an adept pupil. After a few tries at the position he turned in results like a veteran.

Two other guards, Charles Fields and Cashion, former teammates on a Hornbeak, Tennessee high school team before enrolling at Northeast Center, are waging a notly contested battle for the other guard berth on the starting lineup against the Little Rock Jaycees. Cashion reported to the Indian squad as a back but later was moved up into the line because of his speed.

IRISH ELEVEN TO PLAY ST. JOHN'S

St. Matthew's Closes Season In Game At Shreveport Today

The Fighting Irish of St. Matthew's parochial school last night made ready to end their season against the powerful St. John's college eleven of Shreveport. The battle will be fought at the Fair Grounds' park in Shreveport this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Irish, who are reported to be in their best shape of the season, will leave here this morning at 8 o'clock by bus for the Caddo parish city. Fifteen boys are making the trip accompanied by Fathers M. F. Walsh and M. R. Gremillion of the St. Matthew's Catholic church and several Irish supporters.

This afternoon's game is expected to be the hardest battle on the locals' schedule, chiefly because the Orioles are reputedly one of the strongest Class B teams in north Louisiana, although they were declared ineligible for a try at the district title with Arcadia because they had played only two games against Class B competition instead of the required three games.

An early report that the St. John's coaches would probably start their reserves as they did last week when they beat St. Mary's of Natchitoches was reversed yesterday and indications were that the Oriole mentor was expecting stiff competition from the invaders.

The probable starting lineups for this afternoon's game will be:

St. John's	Pos.	St. Matthew's
Andeola	LE	H. Breard
J. Miciotto	LT	Zagone
P. DeBroeck	LG	B. Gray
Randolph	C	Cicero
Burnell	RG	Sphorer
Jones	RT	Anzalone or A. Gray
Levert	RE	Gremillion
S. Miciotto	QB	Rimes
Lewis	HB	Gebhardt
Vancleave	HB	Scheen
Gault	FB	McStravick

The Irish are making the journey to Shreveport with the expressed purpose of "avenging a defeat handed them last season." And the Orioles are getting set for Leo McStravick, according to reports, as they seem to believe that the big fullback is the mainspring of the St. Matthew's machine.

However, although McStravick is a big asset to the Irish offense, the Orioles will have Johnny Gebhardt' star halfback and ball carrier, and the accurate passing Billy Rimes to contend with. The local line, too, will have the stellar defensive man, Jim Cicero, at center, and James Gremillion, an end, Zagone at tackle and Billy Gray, at guard.

To minimize expense and injury, a number of Colorado high schools have adopted "touch football" instead of the regular game.

RAYVILLE LOSES TO WATERPROOF

Strong Class B Contenders Take 12-0 Decision Over Hornets

WATERPROOF, La., Nov. 24—(Special)—The Waterproof high school Tigers were established as favorites today to win the Class B championship of Northeast Louisiana, following their triumphant victory over the Rayville Hornets, 12 to 0, in their last regularly scheduled game of the season.

Not only have Coach Stathum Crosby's Bengals gone the route this year without suffering a defeat or being tied, but they have kept their goal line uncrossed and have amassed 287 points against their opponents.

The Tigers scored in the second and third quarters yesterday to down the Hornets. Paul Welsh, stellar Waterproof halfback, scored the first touchdown on a 70-yard jaunt after he had intercepted a Rayville pass. The second score came after Bob Fife and Welsh had worked the ball to the Hornets' 10-yard stripe and Steve Harmon skirted right end for the touchdown.

The entire Waterproof team played a great game, with the Tigers' all-state bidders shining throughout the battle. The boys whom Coach Crosby believes will make strong bids for the mythical eleven and who have been the mainstays of the Bengal eleven all season are Parker Wiggins, end; Willie Bennett, center; Kyfes, guard; Harmon, quarterback; Fife, fullback; and Welsh, halfback.

Buddy Parker Also Turns In Fine Line Plunging Performance

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The Gents of Centenary college took to the air today and flashed a dazzling aerial game plus stellar line plunging by Captain Buddy Parker to defeat Ole Miss, of Oxford, 13 to 6.

The game was marred by frequent fumbling but this was more than offset by the thrilling end runs, lateral passes and Captain Parker's notable performance in the third quarter when, on six plays, he smashed the Ole Miss line for 47 yards to score and then added the extra point to put the game on ice.

The game was the Gents' seventh victory against two defeats this year and the locals kept intact their record of being undefeated in the new stadium since it was opened four years ago.

Using a forward and lateral aerial attack that completely baffled their opponents, the Gents' scored in the first minute of the second quarter. They moved down to their own 38-yard line without interruption and the touchdown came when "Hoop" Hooper snatched a 17-yard pass from "Pug" Crowther on the one-foot line and stepped over the last stripe.

Featured by a 19-yard off tackle drive that put the ball on Ole Miss' 11, the Gents scored early in the third period. Parker followed up his long plunge by a four yard drive at center and seven yards off tackle for the score. He added the extra point with a kick from placement.

Starting from their 25-yard line, following a beautiful 19-yard return on a kickoff by Rodgers, Ole Miss moved down the field to score a touchdown without being relinquishing the ball. When Hutson faked to Gunter on a double reverse Rogers took the ball and swept down the right side of the field for 34 yards. He was hauled down by Glumac, safety man. With Hutson and Gunter alternating as ball carriers the Flood lost no time in completing the journey, scoring on a two-yard plunge.

Ole Miss outplayed the Gents in the last half and three times moved within the Centenary 20-yard line. Twice they were checked on fumbles and once when Cohan intercepted a pass.

Ohio State Team Whips Iowa By 40-To-7 Score

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The Ohio State football horde closed its season today with a forty to seven victory over the Hawkeyes of Iowa.

The game, the last on the Scarlet and Gray schedule, found the proteges of Coach Francis Schmidt just one point away from a tie for the Western Conference championship—that lone point being a missed goal after touchdown in the Illinois contest which the Ohioans lost 14 to 13 for the only blot on their record.

GOPHERS WALLOP WISCONSIN, 34-0

Minnesota Steamroller Crushes Badgers To Win Big Ten Title

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The final brilliant chapter of Minnesota's engrossing gridiron saga was written in big letters over the soggy greensward of Camp Randall Stadium today as the Gophers rode rough shod to a 34-0 triumph over Wisconsin to win their first undisputed Big Ten title since 1911.

Hailed by the vast majority of critics as mythical national champions, the Gophers' fond dream of a clear triumph to the Big Ten crown was realized today as Indiana defeated Purdue, 17-6, in one of the most astonishing upsets of a football season.

Today's game was just another rout for the powerful horde from the northland. The Gophers rushed over two quick touchdowns in the first period, smashed and pounded the outclassed Badgers dizzy in the next two, and then rambled over the goal line for their final three in the last 12 minutes of play as desperate Badger passes were intercepted and converted into scores.

The Gophers rolled up 13 first downs and reeled off 309 yards from the line of scrimmage to three first downs by Wisconsin and 16 useless yards. Seven Badger passes were intercepted. Fifty-five yards of penalties were assessed against Minnesota to 19 for the Badgers, halting two Gopher touchdown drives.

The closest Wisconsin got to the Gopher goal was the 23-yard line. That was in the second period when Ed Christianson blocked George Roscoe's kick and Gordon Pizer recovered for the Badgers. Another intercepted pass halted that threat on the spot.

Kelly Agrees To Meet Nick On Winner-Take-All Proposition

Following their sensational battle last week, which Kelly won on a disputed decision, Nick Elitch, husky Greek, and Ernest Kelly, former Tennessee U. football star, have been re-matched for the main event of the weekly wrestling show at Roosevelt stadium Wednesday night, Promoter Charlie Bruscato announced yesterday.

Elitch objected strenuously to Referee Bill Middlekauff's decision in awarding the third and deciding fall to Kelly in last week's match, and asked that he be given another crack at the Tennessean. Nick emphatically stipulated, however, that another referee be employed. Kelly also was anxious to settle matters to the satisfaction of all concerned, so Bruscato immediately got their signatures on the dotted line. All of which should be pleasant news for the fans, for last week's show was a thriller.

Kelly won the third fall by butting Elitch to the mat and quickly covering him. Elitch had had all the better of the going before the surprising finish, and he let out a howl when Middlekauff gave the fall to Kelly. Nick had tossed Kelly out of the ring and as the former Vol star was about to climb back over the ropes, Elitch advanced on him. Kelly's head flew through the ropes and landed in the pit of Nick's stomach, sending the Greek sprawling to the mat. He was on his back only a couple of seconds, but it was long enough for Middlekauff, who had already had all sorts of trouble with Nick, to give Kelly the advantage of a short count.

Following the decision, Elitch and Middlekauff came to blows in the ring and it was necessary for Bruscato to vault into the arena and separate them. Again in the dressing room, the wrestler and the referee went at it but a hurry-up call for the law brought a quick termination to their impromptu bout.

Elitch told Promoter Bruscato yesterday that he could have thrown Kelly in straight falls if it hadn't been for that "football referee." He said he'd wrestle Kelly on a winner-take-all basis, provided another referee is booked.

"And I don't want this fellow 'Money' (meaning Allen Montgomery)," the Greek said. "He's all right to referee but not in my match. He and I don't like each other. I haven't forgotten the last time he refereed the match between Plummer and me."

With that ultimatum, Bruscato began scouring around in an effort to land a suitable official. He hasn't found one last night.

Kelly has agreed to all the stipulations set down by Elitch. Although the Tennessee youngster doesn't pop off, he commented that "the Greek never saw the day when he could throw me two straights."

Bruscato said he was attempting to arrange a good semi-final match to go with the Elitch-Kelly attraction.

GREENIES SCORE SEVENTH VICTORY

Florida And Georgia Also Victorious In Southeastern Play

(By Associated Press)

The pre-Thanksgiving Saturday in Southeastern conference football found Tulane, Florida and Georgia riding the crest of victory.

The big green team of Tulane rested considerably against Sewanee, letting the second stringers overthrow the Tigers 32 to 0. It was the seventh win for Tulane within the conference without a loss.

Georgia, showing its power after a slow early season start, met Alabama Polytechnic institute, known on the gridiron as Auburn, on neutral ground at Columbus, winning 18 to 0.

In a non-conference struggle the Centenary Gentlemen took a 13 to 6 victory over Mississippi.

Within the Dixie conference Birmingham-Southern kept its unbeaten and untied record free of blemish by defeating an ancient enemy Howard, also a Birmingham institution, 21 to 0.

The S. I. A. A. group, the largest organized football circuit in this part of the country, had its chief interest of the day centered at Danville, Ky., where the Prayin' Colonels of Centre college booted a field goal in the final period to defeat Mercer university 16 to 13.

In other S. I. A. A. games Union college defeated Louisville 7 to 0; Presbyterian and Wofford fought to a 7 to 7 tie and Southwestern at Memphis won over Union 20 to 0.

Columbia Wins Surprise Victory Over Syracuse

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Columbia's sprightly Lions took advantage of two widely separated scoring opportunities to hurl back a mighty Syracuse eleven today and gain a surprise 12-0 triumph over one of the best Orange teams in history.

The up-state power house has run rough shod over all opposition this season except the Magicians from Colgate, and showed the 32,000 half frozen spectators plenty of class today, but could not crash the stone wall line of the Rose Bowlers when scoring opportunities beckoned.

YALE WINS FROM HARVARD, 14 TO 0

Bulldogs Capture Big Three Title For First Time Since '24

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Yale's lusty football infant, born in defeat, raised and hardened in suffering and adversity, reached its magnificent majority today, conqueror of Harvard 14-0 on top of last week's stunning triumph over Princeton—winner of the historic Big Three championship for the first time since 1924.

Before 50,000 fans, the team that everyone scorned in September reached its goal and its destiny in heady triumph, wiping out defeats by Columbia, Army and Georgia, ruling the "sacred triangle" in the first year the three have been together since Harvard and Princeton broke relations in 1926.

Favored through the stunning upset of the Tigers, Yale carved out two touchdowns in the first half, and then settled back to snuff out in the half every surge of a luckless Crimson eleven that gained 14 first downs to their 10, almost equalled the Blue rushing yardage, but could get nowhere due chiefly to a young end named Larry Kelley.

This rampaging sophomore from Williamsport, Pa., the Dizzy Dean of the football players with his cockiness and wisecracks, just about took the Crimson apart, just as he caught the pass and dashed fluently to the touchdown that beat Princeton 7-0.

First he caught another pass from his pitching partner, Quarterback Jerry Roscoe, over the goal line from eight yards away to give Yale its second touchdown in the second period. With the second of Captain Clare Curtin's place kicks for the extra point, this completed the scoring for the day.

Then he went on to the defense, and with Harvard roaring down the field in the third quarter, he twice personally held the Crimson for downs, once inches from the goal when 159-pound Jimmy Adzigian, Harvard pony back, tried to sweep his end for a 50-yard drive, again a few minutes later when Tom Locke, Crimson sprint star, tried it from the 23-yard line, both times on fourth downs.

Five times Harvard crashed down the field, using a dozen ball carriers in all in the desperate effort to break through. Twice the Crimson was inside Yale's two-yard line, twice inside the 25. Yet something always happened.

Camp Bruen Basketball Team Wallops Jonesville

ST. JOSEPH, Nov. 24.—(Special)—With one victory under their belts, members of Camp Bruen's fast basketball squad are champing at the bit over the fact that the recent wet weather has caused them to cancel practice sessions during the past week. The Bears took on the Jonesville independent squad last Thursday night in Sicily Island and won the game by a score of 60 to 33.

The entire squad got in the game and all the men turned in a nice game, but it was the smooth machine and ringing goals with regularity, the five men who won for themselves the name of the "A" team ran up a big lead on the Catahoula lads in the first twelve minutes of play, that pleased Lt. D. W. Ryker most. Passing like a machine and ringing goals with regularity, the five men who won for themselves the name of the "A" team ran up a big lead on the Catahoula lads in the first twelve minutes of play.

Decision On Knoxville Club Expected Tuesday

KNOXVILLE, Tenn, Nov 24.—(AP)—Whether Knoxville will continue as a member of the Southern Baseball league will be decided "once and for all" at a meeting of city council Tuesday, Mayor John T. O'Connor said tonight.

Backed by certain councilmen that $4,500 is due in rent on the city-owned baseball park. Owners of the club say they "owe nothing, and will move our franchise if any legal effort is made to collect."

Four southern cities, Macon and Columbus, Ga., Mobile, Ala., and Jacksonville, Fla., have made efforts to obtain the franchise.

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 24.—(AP)—To the thunderous cheers of 70,000 frenzied fans, a Stanford team disabled by the loss of its two greatest stars swept to Rose Bowl recognition and the coast conference championship today with a 9 to 7 victory over California's Bears.

The fortieth gridiron struggle of these traditional rivals provided the largest western crowd of the season with thrills and spills from start to finish in a hand to hand battle that saw Stanford's potential all-America Bobby Grayson, fullback, leave the game in the first quarter with two broken ribs.

Grayson, spark plug of one of the most powerful teams ever to wear the cardinal and white, joined another injured team mate and star in his own right, James "Monk" Moscrip, left end, whose knee injury suffered in practice two days ago kept him out of uniform.

For two periods they battled up and down the field in a scoreless duel while rival thousands cheered a Stanford advantage in the opening quarter and roared approval as California came back with a second period drive that three times brought the Bears within striking distance.

Late in the third quarter Stanford's alert ball hawks made and seized the "break" that put them in position to go into the lead.

Quarterback Alustiza banged the line for two yards. Then Robert "Bones" Hamilton, Stanford captain and right half, on the tail end of a triple reverse, dashed around the Bear right end to score standing up.

Near the end of the quarter Stanford gained on a weak California punt and put the ball into play on the Bear 42-yard line. Line plunges carried the ball to California's 15-yard mark from where Schott, continuing in a hero's role, added a field goal to his fourth point blocking feats.

The three points meant the difference between victory and defeat as developments disclosed. California came back with a drive that resulted in a touchdown and the extra point. The thrust started on the Stanford 27-yard line. After a gain of two yards, Williams passed 20 yards to Jack Brittingham, right end, who ran the remaining five yards to score. Williams converted to put his team two points behind.

FLORIDA SHADES ENGINEERS, 13-12

'Gators Come From Behind To Nose Out Tornado In Thriller

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Florida spotted Georgia Tech two touchdowns today, then came back with a brilliant third period drive to break a long standing jinx and send 18,000 home-coming fans out of the field gloating over a 13 to 12 victory.

Tech opened the second half with a scoring spree that netted all of its points within three minutes of the kickoff. But the 12-point advantage lasted hardly a minute as Alton Brown charged through the Yellow Jacket line and got squarely in front of a punt by Dean. The ball bounded crazily 14 yards to the Tech goal and Turner fell on it for the score.

The Golden Tornado, playing with an abandon that belied its long losing streak, took the next kickoff down into 'Gator territory but was forced to kick over the goal line. Then started the greatest drive of the day with Harold Rowe, Florida's pounding sophomore halfback, tearing the middle of the Tech line to threads.

A Florida pass, Chick to Chuck Rogers netted 26 of the 80 yards to the Golden Tornado goal. But it was the pile driving Rowe who made most of the other 54 yards on repeated line bucks. Charlie Stolz ended it with a two-yard plunge for the marker.

Then Billy Stark, hefty tackle, dropped back to try for the point. He missed the goal post after the first touchdown but the point was dear, money sorely needed this time. Carefully gauging the distance, he took a tentative swing and shot the ball right through the middle of the uprights.

San Antonio Texas Loop Club Sells Three Players

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The San Antonio Missions announced the outright sale of three baseball players this afternoon.

Ernie Holman, obtained a few days ago in a deal that sent Buddy Connolly to New Orleans, was sold to Tulsa. Pid Purdy, 1933 batting champion, was sold to Oklahoma City, and Knoxville of the Southern Association bought Lee Stebbins. Stebbins is a first baseman, and was loaned to Beaumont last year. Holman is an infielder and Purdy an outfielder.

The transactions indicate the Missions will depend on younger talent next year. Hank Severeid has already signed to manage the club in 1935.

Grid Fans At Knoxville Attack Four Officials

Frank Darwin, of Virginia, Bill Coughlin, of Sewanee, Joe Moran, of Centre, and B. C. Clarke, of West Point, were the officials. Darwin received deep cuts and bruises about the face and head. All but Clarke are Southeastern officials.

The fans, most of them from the Central cheering section, became angry when Darwin disallowed a recovered fumble by Central in the fourth quarter. He gave the ball to City and penalized Central for offsides.

Central saw its chances for the southern high school football championship smashed when the "underdog" City team struck today, then remained unyielding for 52 minutes in the teeth of a terrific pounding to win, 12 to 2. This not only ruined an undefeated record, but a perfect defensive mark for Central during the 1934 season.

Frogs Score Early And Then Protect Goal Line In Thriller

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A thrice beaten Texas Christian university team struck today, then remained unyielding for 52 minutes in the teeth of a terrific pounding to beat the Rice Owls 7 to 2 and remove them from the select list of the nation's undefeated.

The Frogs tore gaping holes in the right side of the Rice line and marched 80 yards for a touchdown the first time they had possession of the ball. After that the game belonged to Rice, with the invaders almost helpless on offense and the Owls surging down the field time after time.

Lawrence was the big noise in the Toads' winning drive. He made several gains as the Fort Worth team advanced from its own 20-yard line to Rice's 9. Three line plays netted only three yards. Lawrence made a short pass toss to Captain Joe Coleman, standing behind the line of scrimmage, and Coleman dashed and charged 10 yards for a touchdown.

Rice perhaps would have been blanked but for the Frogs' generosity in the fourth quarter. A punt by McCauley had rolled to the Christian one-yard line. Coleman was sent back into the game to call for an intentional safety rather than risk the chance of punting out.

Up until the final seconds of play Rice held high hopes of beating the Frogs for the first time since 1924. Until today Rice had gone through nine games without defeat and had been tied only by Coach Biff Jones' powerful Louisiana State Tigers. The talented flock had been prominently mentioned for invitation to either the Pasadena Rose Bowl or New Orleans Sugar Bowl post season frays.

As a result of the unexpected T. C. U. victory, Rice must beat Baylor next week to win the Southwest conference championship unless the Texas Aggies should upset Texas.

Lawrence ran from the bench as soon as the final gun had sounded and knocked down Richard Fischer, the field judge. A pass interference penalty called two minutes early and giving Rice the ball on the Frog 13-yard line was reported to have aroused the ire of the stellar back.

Mangham Seeks Chance To Play Jonesboro Again

MANGHAM, Nov. 24.—(Special)—The strong Mangham high school football team, uncorking a hard running attack, coupled with splendid blocking by the entire team, defeated the Columbia high school team here yesterday by a score of 43 to 12.

Mangham, entering Class A competition for the first time, should be considered in the Class A play-off. Mangham has lost but one Class A game and that to Jonesboro and the game was called off after one half for a decision by the officials, as the game would have been a scoreless tie. The rules of the Louisiana High School Athletic association stipulate that no game can be contested for decisions made by officials.

Mangham has therefore made no formal protest, but feels as though they should be considered in a play-off with Jonesboro for the Class A play-off. A game between Jonesboro and Mangham has been scheduled to decide the team to play Byrd high of Shreveport.

Mangham has but one more game to play and that is against the Ferriday high school team at Mangham on Thanksgiving day.

INDIANS EXPECT HARD BATTLE IN THEIR LAST TILT

Forced into idleness last week-end by cancellation of their game with Louisiana State "B" team, the Indians of Northeast Center will close a fairly successful season of football Thursday afternoon, when they tackle the high-scoring Little Rock junior college eleven on Brown field in their annual Thanksgiving day classic.

The Indians had planned to put a "grand finale" on their 1934 season on Brown field on Thanksgiving day but their supposed "breather" with the Little Rock Trojans has taken a sudden reverse and is turning out to be a tough one. News reached the Braves' camp yesterday that Coach Alvin Longstreth's Men of Troy have picked up power as the season progressed and in their final game before a large crowd of Little Rock fans, completely routed the supposedly strong eleven from the Jonesboro Baptist college, 51-to-0.

The local Redskins were idle last week-end only as far as outside competition is concerned and yesterday instead of their usual week-end game, they were put through a scrimmage that probably rivaled any of their games in roughness.

Coach Jim Malone said yesterday's workout was the last of a series of stiff scrimmages that have been taking place on their practice field the past week. He said that this past week he has had the first opportunity he has had to put his squad through heavy work without fear of having someone hurt and thus kept out of a game because of injuries received in skirmishes.

When the Indians trot out on Brown field to close their season Thursday they will find the going tough. They will be without two stalwarts of their line who have figured prominently in the competition this year. Captain Turner and C. G. Johnson, center and guard, withdrew from school last week due to financial difficulties.

To fill this gap in the middle of the line Henry Spillar has been moved up from the reserves to take charge of the pivot position and "Squatty" Young will probably fill in the other vacant berth. In case Spillar falters at center, Coach Malone has been working Boyd Arnold, regular left end, at center also. In yesterday's scrimmage Arnold showed he was an adept pupil. After a few tries at the position he turned in work like a veteran.

Two other guards, Charles Fields and Cashion, former teammates on a Hornbeak, Tennessee high school team before enrolling at Northeast Center, are waging a hotly contested battle for the other guard berth on the starting lineup against the Little Rock Jaycees. Cashion reported to the Indian squad as a back but later he moved up into the line because of his speed.

RAYVILLE LOSES TO WATERPROOF

Strong Class B Contenders Take 12-0 Decision Over Hornets

WATERPROOF, La., Nov. 24—(Special)—The Waterproof high school Tigers were established as favorites today to win the Class B championship of Northeast Louisiana, following their triumphant victory over the Rayville Hornets, 12 to 0, in their last regularly scheduled game of the season.

Not only have Coach Stathum Crosby's Bengals gone the route this year without suffering a defeat or being tied, but they have kept their goal line uncrossed and have amassed 287 points against their opponents.

The Tigers scored in the second and third quarters yesterday to down the Hornets. Paul Welsh, stellar Waterproof halfback, scored the first touchdown on a 70-yard jaunt after he had intercepted a Rayville pass. Fife and Welsh had worked the ball to the Hornets' 10-yard stripe and Steve Harmon skirted right end for the touchdown.

The entire Waterproof team played a great game, with the Tigers' all-state bidders shining throughout the battle. The boys whom Coach Crosby believes will make strong bids for the mythical eleven and to whom the Bengal eleven all season are Parker Wiggins, end; Willie Bennett, center; Kyfes, guard; Harmon, quarterback; Fife, fullback; and Welsh, halfback.

St. Matthew's Closes Season In Game At Shreveport Today

The Fighting Irish of St. Matthew's parochial school last night made ready to end their season against the powerful St. John's college eleven of Shreveport. The battle will be played at the Fair Grounds' park in Shreveport this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Irish, who are reported to be in their best shape of the season, will leave here this morning at 8 o'clock by bus for the Caddo parish city. Fifteen boys are making the trip accompanied by Fathers M. F. Walsh and M. R. Gremillion of the St. Matthew's Catholic church and several Irish supporters.

This afternoon's game is expected to be the hardest battle on the locals' schedule, chiefly because the Orioles are considered one of the strongest Class B teams in north Louisiana, although they were declared ineligible for a try at the district title with Arcadia because they had played only two games against Class B competition instead of the required three games.

An early report that the St. John's coaches would probably start their reserves as they did last week when they beat St. Mary's of Natchitoches was reversed yesterday and indications were that the Oriole mentor was expecting stiff competition from the invaders.

The probable starting lineups for this afternoon's game will be:

St. John's	Pos.	St. Matthew's
Andeola	LE	H. Breard
J. Miciotto	LT	Zagone
P. DeBroeck	LG	B. Gray
Randolph	C	Cicero
Burnell	RG	Sphorer
Jones	RT	Anzalone or A. Gray
Levert	RE	Gremillion
S. Miciotto	QB	Rimes
Lewis	HB	Gebhardt
Gault	FB	McStravick

The Irish are making the journey to Shreveport with the expressed purpose of "avenging a defeat handed them last season." And the Orioles are getting set for Leo McStravick, according to reports, as they seem to believe that the big fullback is the mainspring of the St. Matthew's machine.

However, although McStravick is the Irish offense, the Orioles will have Johnny Gebhardt' halfback and ball carrier, and the accurate passing Billy Rimes to contend with. The local line, too will have the stellar defensive man, Jim Cicero, at center, and James Gremillion, an end, Zagone at tackle and Billy Gray, at guard.

To minimize expense and injury, a number of Colorado high schools have adopted "touch football" instead of the regular game.

Cotton

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The cotton market today showed fairly brisk business although with December liquidation about completed there was somewhat less activity than on the two preceding days.

Notices for 12,600 bales for December delivery were issued today and were promptly stopped. The first notice day for December in New York will be Monday.

As the notices were comparatively small owing to the extensive advance liquidation the market opened steady 1 to 2 points higher. Steadiness was pronounced all during the session and the market became active and higher near the end, December trading up to 12.32, March to 12.49, and May also to 12.48, while October reached 12.04, or 4 to 5 points above the early lows.

New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Cotton showed a steady tone today. Orders were quite evenly divided between near month liquidation and trade buying, and fluctuations were narrow. March contracts sold up 12.47 in the late trading and closed at that figure, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 1 to 4 points.

Cotton futures closed steady, 1-4 higher.

Sugar

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Raw sugar was unchanged today with spot Cubas from first hands still held at 3.08 1-2. However, it developed that yesterday a local refiner bought 2,100 bags of Cubas from store here at 2.98 delivered, and it was also revealed that the same refiner bought 20,000 bags of Cubas from first hands at 3.08 1-2, delivered, for sugar to be used this year, and 20,000 bags for use in January at 2.50.

In a quiet trade futures worked gradually lower under scattered local liquidation and selling by trade and producing interests, promoted by the continued liberal offerings in the spot market. The market opened unchanged to 1 point lower and later showed net declines of 2 to 3 points on active positions, although December held relatively steady. That month sold at 1.77, or unchanged from the previous close, while March reacted from 1.74 to 1.72 and May from 1.78 to 1.77 with the market closing 1 to 3 points net lower. Sales of 3,700 tons included 1,300 in exchanges.

Refined was unchanged at 4.50 for fine granulated with a fair inquiry reported.

Sugar futures closed barely steady, 1-3 lower; sales 3,700 tons. December 1.76b; January 1.69b; March 1.73; May 1.77; July 1.81b; September 1.85b.

EXTINGUISH FIRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Stocks firm; steels lead further advance. Bonds improved; secondary issues gain. Curb steady; specialties better. Foreign exchanges narrow; dealings quiet. Cotton steady; firm stock market; higher cables. Sugar lower; continued liberal offerings spot market. Coffee lower; trade selling.

CHICAGO.—Wheat higher; surprising Liverpool strength. Corn strong; No. 1 white $1.01 1-4. Cattle nominally steady. Hogs nominally steady; top $6.00.

New York Stocks

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK Nov 24.—(AP)—The stock market absorbed some week-end profit-taking today with comparative ease and then resumed the advance. While the forward movement was orderly, gains of fractions to a point or more were numerous. Steels showed the way for the rest of the list. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 700,000 shares.

Although public participation in equities was still far from what the brokerage community considers desirable, signs of renewed interest were reported in some quarters and there was a much more cheerful atmosphere apparent in the board rooms. Today's volume was the largest for a Saturday since last June.

There was no especial news to stimulate the speculative appetite, but the feeling seemed to prevail that recovery is proceeding at such a steady pace that business and industry will be back on their feet before many months have passed.

Improvement in steel stocks, long considered market barometers, tended to hearten even those skeptics who have been able to see only dark clouds in the trading future. Followers of the steels were encouraged by the slow upturn in weekly production rates and there were some predictions that output would soon reach the 40 per cent of capacity level where most of the companies can begin to show satisfactory profits. Hopes for this industry were seen in the housing campaign, automobile manufacturing prospects and railway equipment needs.

Grains rallied at Chicago, with corn reaching a seasonal high. Cotton improved moderately and other commodities were firmer. Secondary bonds continued to recover, while U. S. government securities were mixed. Foreign exchanges were inactive and narrow.

New highs for the year, with advances of fractions to around a point, were recorded by shares of Liggett & Myers, American Tobacco, Wilson Co. preferred, Briggs, Continental Can, Universal Leaf and Philip Morris.

Yesterday's loss of 5 points was regained by Homestake Mining, U. S. Steel preferred got up nearly 3 and Kress (S. H.) Co. gained 2. Others up fractionally to a point or so, included U. S. Steel common, Bethlehem common and preferred, American Rolling Mill, A. M. Byers, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Republic Steel, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, N. Y. Central, Santa Fe, Case, International Harvester, American Commercial Alcohol, Chrysler, General Motors, Du Pont, Westinghouse and Amerian Woolen preferred. Most of the oils and metals did little.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Unexpected sharp upturns of wheat quotations at Liverpol led to an early rise today in grain values here. Opening 5-8 to 1 1-8 up, May 98 3-8 to 1-2, Chicago wheat afterward climbed further. Corn started at 3-8 to 7-8 gain, May 86 1-2 to 518, and continued to mount.

Corn closed strong, 1-2 to 1 7-8 above yesterday's finish, May 86 3-4 to 7-8, wheat firm 1 cent to 1 3-8 up. May 98 5-8 to 3-4, oats 3-8 off to 5-8 up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

Cotton

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The cotton market today showed fairly brisk business although with December liquidation about completed there was somewhat less activity than on the two preceding days.

Notices for 12,600 bales for December delivery were issued today and were promptly stopped. The first notice day for December in New York will be Monday.

As the notices were comparatively small owing to the extensive advance liquidation the market opened steady 1 to 2 points higher. Steadiness was pronounced all during the session and the market became active and higher near the end, December trading up to 12.32, March to 12.49, and May also to 12.48, while October reached 12.04, or 4 to 5 points above the early lows.

The close was very steady and at the top showing net gains of 2 to 5 points for the day.

Exports for the day 8,733.

New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Cotton showed a steady tone today. Orders were quite evenly divided between near month liquidation and trade buying, and fluctuations were narrow. March contracts sold up 12.47 in the late trading and closed at that figure, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 1 to 4 points.

Cotton futures closed steady, 1-4 higher.

Sugar

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Raw sugar was unchanged today with spot Cubas from first hands still held at 3.08 1-2. However, it developed that yesterday a local refiner bought 2,100 bags of Cubas from store here at 2.98 delivered, and it was also revealed that the same refiner bought 20,000 bags of Cubas from first hands at 3.08 1-2, delivered, for sugar to be used this year, and 20,000 bags for use in January at 2.50.

In a quiet trade futures worked gradually lower under scattered local liquidation and selling by trade and producing interests, promoted by the continued liberal offerings in the spot market. The market opened unchanged to 1 point lower and later showed net declines of 2 to 3 points on active positions, although December held relatively steady. That month sold at 1.77, or unchanged from the previous close, while March reacted from 1.74 to 1.72 and May from 1.78 to 1.77 with the market closing 1 to 3 points net lower. Sales of 3,700 tons included 1,300 in exchanges.

Refined was unchanged at 4.50 for fine granulated with a fair inquiry reported.

Sugar futures closed barely steady, 1-3 lower; sales 3,700 tons. December 1.76b; January 1.69b; March 1.73; May 1.77; July 1.81b; September 1.85b.

EXTINGUISH FIRE

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Stocks firm; steels lead further advance. Bonds improved; secondary issues gain. Curb steady; specialties better. Foreign exchanges narrow; dealings quiet. Cotton steady; firm stock market; higher cables. Sugar lower; continued liberal offerings spot market. Coffee lower; trade selling.

CHICAGO.—Wheat higher; surprising Liverpool strength. Corn strong; No. 1 white $1.01 1-4. Cattle nominally steady. Hogs nominally steady; top $6.00.

New York Stocks

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK Nov 24.—(AP)—The stock market absorbed some week-end profit-taking today with comparative ease and then resumed the advance. While the forward movement was orderly, gains of fractions to a point or more were numerous. Steels showed the way for the rest of the list. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 700,000 shares.

Although public participation in equities was still far from what the brokerage community considers desirable, signs of renewed interest were reported in some quarters and there was a much more cheerful atmosphere apparent in the board rooms. Today's volume was the largest for a Saturday since last June.

There was no especial news to stimulate the speculative appetite, but the feeling seemed to prevail that recovery is proceeding at such a steady pace that business and industry will be back on their feet before many months have passed.

Improvement in steel stocks, long considered market barometers, tended to hearten even those skeptics who have been able to see only dark clouds in the trading future. Followers of the steels were encouraged by the slow upturn in weekly production rates and there were some predictions that output would soon reach the 40 per cent of capacity level where most of the companies can begin to show satisfactory profits. Hopes for this industry were seen in the housing campaign, automobile manufacturing prospects and railway equipment needs.

Grains rallied at Chicago, with corn reaching a seasonal high. Cotton improved moderately and other commodities were firmer. Secondary bonds continued to recover, while U. S. government securities were mixed. Foreign exchanges were inactive and narrow.

New highs for the year, with advances of fractions to around a point, were recorded by shares of Liggett & Myers, American Tobacco, Wilson Co. preferred, Briggs, Continental Can, Universal Leaf and Philip Morris.

Yesterday's loss of 5 points was regained by Homestake Mining, U. S. Steel preferred got up nearly 3 and Kress (S. H.) Co. gained 2. Others up fractionally to a point or so, included U. S. Steel common, Bethlehem common and preferred, American Rolling Mill, A. M. Byers, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Republic Steel, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, N. Y. Central, Santa Fe, Case, International Harvester, American Commercial Alcohol, Chrysler, General Motors, Du Pont, Westinghouse and Amerian Woolen preferred. Most of the oils and metals did little.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Unexpected sharp upturns of wheat quotations at Liverpol led to an early rise today in grain values here. Opening 5-8 to 1 1-8 up, May 98 3-8 to 1-2, Chicago wheat afterward climbed further. Corn started at 3-8 to 7-8 gain, May 86 1-2 to 518, and continued to mount.

Corn closed strong, 1-2 to 1 7-8 above yesterday's finish, May 86 3-4 to 7-8, wheat firm 1 cent to 1 3-8 up, May 98 5-8 to 3-4, oats 3-8 off to 5-8 up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

Cow Gives Milk Despite Barbed Wire In Heart

INITA, Okla., Nov. 24.—(AP)—A dairy cow's business being to produce milk, Pansy Buttergill kept right on doing it despite a gash in her heart.

Pansy, ailing for two months, was examined by veterinarians who found barbed wire had punctured the stomach wall and pierced the heart to a depth of almost an inch.

Surgery removed the wire, the heart was stitched, and Pansy's health immediately improved. At no time was her milk flow impaired.

Cow Gives Milk Despite Barbed Wire In Heart

INITA, Okla., Nov. 24.—(AP)—A dairy cow's business being to produce milk, Pansy Buttergill kept right on doing it despite a gash in her heart.

Pansy, ailing for two months, was examined by veterinarians who found barbed wire had punctured the stomach wall and pierced the heart to a depth of almost an inch.

Surgery removed the wire, the heart was stitched, and Pansy's health immediately improved. At no time was her milk flow impaired.

Cotton

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The cotton market today showed fairly brisk business although with December liquidation about completed there was somewhat less activity than on the two preceding days.

Notices for 12,600 bales for December delivery were issued today and were promptly stopped. The first notice day for December in New York will be Monday.

As the notices were comparatively small owing to the extensive advance liquidation the market opened steady 1 to 2 points higher. Steadiness was pronounced all during the session and the market became active and higher near the end, December trading up to 12.32, March to 12.49, and May also to 12.48, while October reached 12.04, or 4 to 5 points above the early lows.

The close was very steady and at the top showing net gains of 2 to 5 points for the day.

Exports for the day 8,733.

Sugar

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Raw sugar was unchanged today with spot Cubas from first hands still held at 3.08 1-2. However, it developed that yesterday a local refiner bought 2,100 bags of Cubas from store here at 2.98 delivered, and it was also revealed that the same refiner bought 20,000 bags of Cubas from first hands at 3.08 1-2, delivered, for sugar to be used this year, and 20,000 bags for use in January at 2.50.

In a quiet trade futures worked gradually lower under scattered local liquidation and selling by trade and producing interests, promoted by the continued liberal offerings in the spot market. The market opened unchanged to 1 point lower and later showed net declines of 2 to 3 points on active positions, although December held relatively steady. That month sold at 1.77, or unchanged from the previous close, while March reacted from 1.74 to 1.72 and May from 1.78 to 1.77 with the market closing 1 to 3 points net lower. Sales of 3,700 tons included 1,300 in exchanges.

Refined was unchanged at 4.50 for fine granulated with a fair inquiry reported.

Sugar futures closed barely steady, 1-3 lower; sales 3,700 tons. December 1.76b; January 1.69b; March 1.73; May 1.77; July 1.81b; September 1.85b.

EXTINGUISH FIRE

Firemen were called at noon yesterday to extinguish a grass fire at the intersection of Plum and Georgia streets.

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK Nov 24.—(AP)—The stock market absorbed some week-end profit-taking today with comparative ease and then resumed the advance. While the forward movement was orderly, gains of fractions to a point or more were numerous. Steels showed the way for the rest of the list. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 700,000 shares.

Although public participation in equities was still far from what the brokerage community considers desirable, signs of renewed interest were reported in some quarters and there was a much more cheerful atmosphere apparent in the board rooms. Today's volume was the largest for a Saturday since last June.

There was no especial news to stimulate the speculative appetite, but the feeling seemed to prevail that recovery is proceeding at such a steady pace that business and industry will be back on their feet before many months have passed.

Improvement in steel stocks, long considered market barometers, tended to hearten even those skeptics who have been able to see only dark clouds in the trading future. Followers of the steels were encouraged by the slow upturn in weekly production rates and there were some predictions that output would soon reach the 40 per cent of capacity level where most of the companies can begin to show satisfactory profits. Hopes for this industry were seen in the housing campaign, automobile manufacturing prospects and railway equipment needs.

Grains rallied at Chicago, with corn reaching a seasonal high. Cotton improved moderately and other commodities were firmer. Secondary bonds continued to recover, while U. S. government securities were mixed. Foreign exchanges were inactive and narrow.

New highs for the year, with advances of fractions to around a point, were recorded by shares of Liggett & Myers, American Tobacco, Wilson Co. preferred, Briggs, Continental Can, Universal Leaf and Philip Morris.

Yesterday's loss of 5 points was regained by Homestake Mining, U. S. Steel preferred got up nearly 3 and Kress (S. H.) Co. gained 2. Others up fractionally to a point or so, included U. S. Steel common, Bethlehem common and preferred, American Rolling Mill, A. M. Byers, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Republic Steel, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, N. Y. Central, Santa Fe, Case, International Harvester, American Commercial Alcohol, Chrysler, General Motors, Du Pont, Westinghouse and Amerian Woolen preferred. Most of the oils and metals did little.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Unexpected sharp upturns of wheat quotations at Liverpol led to an early rise today in grain values here. Opening 5-8 to 1 1-8 up, May 98 3-8 to 1-2, Chicago wheat afterward climbed further. Corn started at 3-8 to 7-8 gain, May 86 1-2 to 518, and continued to mount.

Corn closed strong, 1-2 to 1 7-8 above yesterday's finish, May 86 3-4 to 7-8, wheat firm 1 cent to 1 3-8 up. May 98 5-8 to 3-4, oats 3-8 off to 5-8 up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

Cotton

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The cotton market today showed fairly brisk business although with December liquidation about completed there was somewhat less activity than on the two preceding days.

Notices for 12,600 bales for December delivery were issued today and were promptly stopped. The first notice day for December in New York will be Monday.

As the notices were comparatively small owing to the extensive advance liquidation the market opened steady 1 to 2 points higher. Steadiness was pronounced all during the session and the market became active and higher near the end, December trading up to 12.32, March to 12.49, and May also to 12.48, while October reached 12.04, or 4 to 5 points above the early lows.

The close was very steady and at the top showing net gains of 2 to 5 points for the day.

Exports for the day 8,733.

Sugar

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Raw sugar was unchanged today with spot Cubas from first hands still held at 3.08 1-2. However, it developed that yesterday a local refiner bought 2,100 bags of Cubas from store here at 2.98 delivered, and it was also revealed that the same refiner bought 20,000 bags of Cubas from first hands at 3.08 1-2, delivered, for sugar to be used this year, and 20,000 bags for use in January at 2.50.

In a quiet trade futures worked gradually lower under scattered local liquidation and selling by trade and producing interests, promoted by the continued liberal offerings in the spot market. The market opened unchanged to 1 point lower and later showed net declines of 2 to 3 points on active positions, although December held relatively steady. That month sold at 1.77, or unchanged from the previous close, while March reacted from 1.74 to 1.72 and May from 1.78 to 1.77 with the market closing 1 to 3 points net lower. Sales of 3,700 tons included 1,300 in exchanges.

Refined was unchanged at 4.50 for fine granulated with a fair inquiry reported.

Sugar futures closed barely steady, 1-3 lower; sales 3,700 tons. December 1.76b; January 1.69b; March 1.73; May 1.77; July 1.81b; September 1.85b.

EXTINGUISH FIRE

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Stocks firm; steels lead further advance. Bonds improved; secondary issues gain. Curb steady; specialties better. Foreign exchanges narrow; dealings quiet. Cotton steady; firm stock market; higher cables. Sugar lower; continued liberal offerings spot market. Coffee lower; trade selling.

CHICAGO.—Wheat higher; surprising Liverpool strength. Corn strong; No. 1 white $1.01 1-4. Cattle nominally steady. Hogs nominally steady; top $6.00.

New York Stocks

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK Nov 24.—(AP)—The stock market absorbed some week-end profit-taking today with comparative ease and then resumed the advance. While the forward movement was orderly, gains of fractions to a point or more were numerous. Steels showed the way for the rest of the list. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 700,000 shares.

Although public participation in equities was still far from what the brokerage community considers desirable, signs of renewed interest were reported in some quarters and there was a much more cheerful atmosphere apparent in the board rooms. Today's volume was the largest for a Saturday since last June.

There was no especial news to stimulate the speculative appetite, but the feeling seemed to prevail that recovery is proceeding at such a steady pace that business and industry will be back on their feet before many months have passed.

Improvement in steel stocks, long considered market barometers, tended to hearten even those skeptics who have been able to see only dark clouds in the trading future. Followers of the steels were encouraged by the slow upturn in weekly production rates and there were some predictions that output would soon reach the 40 per cent of capacity level where most of the companies can begin to show satisfactory profits. Hopes for this industry were seen in the housing campaign, automobile manufacturing prospects and railway equipment needs.

Grains rallied at Chicago, with corn reaching a seasonal high. Cotton improved moderately and other commodities were firmer. Secondary bonds continued to recover, while U. S. government securities were mixed. Foreign exchanges were inactive and narrow.

New highs for the year, with advances of fractions to around a point, were recorded by shares of Liggett & Myers, American Tobacco, Wilson Co. preferred, Briggs, Continental Can, Universal Leaf and Philip Morris.

Yesterday's loss of 5 points was regained by Homestake Mining, U. S. Steel preferred got up nearly 3 and Kress (S. H.) Co. gained 2. Others up fractionally to a point or so, included U. S. Steel common, Bethlehem common and preferred, American Rolling Mill, A. M. Byers, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Republic Steel, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, N. Y. Central, Santa Fe, Case, International Harvester, American Commercial Alcohol, Chrysler, General Motors, Du Pont, Westinghouse and Amerian Woolen preferred. Most of the oils and metals did little.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Unexpected sharp upturns of wheat quotations at Liverpol led to an early rise today in grain values here. Opening 5-8 to 1 1-8 up, May 98 3-8 to 1-2, Chicago wheat afterward climbed further. Corn started at 3-8 to 7-8 gain, May 86 1-2 to 518, and continued to mount.

Corn closed strong, 1-2 to 1 7-8 above yesterday's finish, May 86 3-4 to 7-8, wheat firm 1 cent to 1 3-8 up, May 98 5-8 to 3-4, oats 3-8 off to 5-8 up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

Cow Gives Milk Despite Barbed Wire In Heart

INITA, Okla., Nov. 24.—(AP)—A dairy cow's business being to produce milk, Pansy Buttergill kept right on doing it despite a gash in her heart.

Pansy, ailing for two months, was examined by veterinarians who found barbed wire had punctured the stomach wall and pierced the heart to a depth of almost an inch.

Surgery removed the wire, the heart was stitched, and Pansy's health immediately improved. At no time was her milk flow impaired.

Cow Gives Milk Despite Barbed Wire In Heart

INITA, Okla., Nov. 24.—(AP)—A dairy cow's business being to produce milk, Pansy Buttergill kept right on doing it despite a gash in her heart.

Pansy, ailing for two months, was examined by veterinarians who found barbed wire had punctured the stomach wall and pierced the heart to a depth of almost an inch.

Surgery removed the wire, the heart was stitched, and Pansy's health immediately improved. At no time was her milk flow impaired.

SETTLEMENT OF BONUS PROBLEM SEEMS CERTAIN

Saved by the senate during last congress from acting upon the demands that full payment of the adjusted service certificates be made at once, President Roosevelt can look for no such help this winter. Informal polls of the senate and house of representatives show that a majority of the members of both houses favor immediate full payment, with a likelihood that sufficient votes could be mustered to over-ride a presidential veto.

With this situation in view, administration aides are already at work upon various proposed plans for meeting the bonus problem, in the hope that a compromise which may effect full payment but at the same time satisfy many of those insisting upon early action can be reached.

There is no indication that President Roosevelt nor his leading advisors feel that the government's present financial condition warrants full payment of the certificates, involving an outlay of approximately $2,000,000,000 any more than it did one or three years ago. Nevertheless, they realize that sentiment in favor of payment, which reached a climax when the American Legion national convention voted five to one for payment, is now so strong that either the full compensation, or an acceptable compromise, will have to be made.

This despite the fact that there still remains more than ten years before the certificates mature, and that full payment of their face value at this time would cost the federal government nearly twice the amount originally intended.

The administration has virtually decided to offer the bonus payment adherents a plan whereby the interest payments upon the fifty per cent loans made three years ago would be forgiven.

General Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans affairs, after a recent call at the White House, said he was hopeful that the executive committee of the Legion, when it meets in Indianapolis on November 23, will agree to such a plan.

The proposal would certainly receive almost unanimous support in congress. But where it would be sufficient, despite the fact that the interest payments on the loans, if carried through until maturity date, would virtually eat up the remaining principal, appears dubious.

Frank H. Belgrano, new national commander of the Legion, when questioned upon the suggested plan, pointed to the overwhelming vote by the national convention in favor of full payment, and declared that this vote was a mandate to Legion officials to work for full payment.

The only other alternative yet proposed which appears to some officials as feasible, and which is believed might prove a successful compromise if approved, is the old Garner plan submitted to congress in 1930 when the Texan was yet the Democratic minority leader of the house.

Under the plan suggested by the new vice president, veterans who desire to cash their certificates at the present time would be permitted to do so. They would not, however, receive the face value of the certificates, but their present value, which is substantially under the maturity amount.

The veteran would nevertheless, receive the full principal of his certificate, together with four per cent compound interest since 1925. What he would lose, if accepting payment and relinquishing his certificate, would be the interest which would accumulate between now and 1945.

What this plan would cost the government if put into effect now has not and can not be accurately estimated. This because those who strongly favor this proposal feel certain that many veterans, not hard pressed for funds at the present time, would permit their certificates to mature in order to receive the full interest payment. There would be, however, a savings of hundreds of millions of dollars to the government under the immediate full payment plan, it is generally conceded.

Edwin S. Morrissey, Cincinnati attorney, believes the appalling number of automobile accident deaths would be lowered if each driver were required to take a solemn oath in regular courts to obey traffic laws.

FEAST OF LIGHTS TO BE OBSERVED

Temple B'Nai Israel To Celebrate Hanukkah For Eight Days

The congregation of Temple B'Nai Israel will observe, beginning next Saturday, the Feast of Lights, known in Hebrew as Hanukkah. The Feast will be celebrated for eight days and is dedicated to the qualities of "endurance, courage, and fidelity of the Jewish people as exemplified through centuries."

The historical background of the Feast of Lights dates back to about 200 B. C. E., when "Palestine was the bone of contention between the Syrian and Egyptian rulers. In the year 168 B. C. E. Antiochus Epiphanes, king of Syria, made his way into Jerusalem, put a great number of its inhabitants to the sword, plundered their homes, and desecrated the temple.

"In order to assure himself of complete domination of the land of Judah, he sought to destroy the spiritual and cultural forces of the Jewish people. He burned the scrools of the Torah and forbade its study under penalty of death. He tortured those who observed the Sabbath, and who continued to cling to the Jewish faith and observances. He defiled the altars by swinish sacrifices. Under the duress of the sword, Antiochus Epiphanes sought to impose upon the Jewish people the half-hellenized culture of Syria, which was hardly more than a degraded paganism.

"In that crucial hour, Mattathias, the aged priest in the village of Modin, and his five valiant sons began with unswerving courage a struggle against the edicts of the Syrian king. With Judah, the Maccabean, as the leader, and with a small courageous group of men, they rose in rebellion. They took up arms against the overwhelming Syrian forces, fought with perseverance and heroism, and finally defeated the mighty army of Syria. In the year 165 B. C. E. Judah the Maccabean entered Jerusalem, purified the temple, and re-dedicated it to the worship of God.

"Through the generations the Jewish people commemorate this historic event by lighting candles in the home and the synagogue, and by recounting to their children the unabating valor and heroism of Israel in its perennial fight against continuing tyranny and oppression,"

MORGAN NOTED BIBLE STUDENT

Distinguished Scholar To Start Conferences Here Today

Dr. Frank Crossley Morgan, who will conduct a six-day series of Bible conferences at the First Presbyterian church during this week, is one of the most distinguished Bible scholars of the English-speaking world. He is a veteran of the World war, and was decorated for gallantry in action at a time when the Allies were "fighting with their backs to the wall," as Marshal Haig said. That was in 1917, more than a year before the close of the war. Following the war he came to this country to complete his training for the ministry under his famous father, Dr. G. Campbell Morgan.

He has served as pastor of Presbyterian churches in several cities of the country, and in 1925 resigned from his church at Augusta, Ga., in order to devote his whole time to evangelical work.

He will speak at both morning and evening services of the Presbyterian church today, and will conduct Bible conferences each morning and night during the week through Friday. This will include two services Thanksgiving day.

The week-day morning meetings will begin at 10 o'clock and the night services at 7:30.

Druggist, Dentist Boom Seen In Big Enrollment

IOWA CITY, Ia., Nov. 24.—(AP)—There'll be a big crpo of dentists and druggists in Iowa in a few years if the record number of students enrolled in those colleges of the University of Iowa this fall complete their courses.

Dean Alvin W. Bryan of the dental college says the enrollment of 148 students is the largest in two years, while in the college of pharmacy a five-year record was broken when 44 freshmen signed for the course.

Room, Board Take Half Of Collegians' Budgets

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A survey of student expenditures, conducted at the University of Minnesota by Erwin Gaumnitz of the school of business administration, disclosed that board and room take nearly one-half from collegians' pocketbooks—48.5 per cent.

Fees and books absorb 29.5 per cent, clothing 8.2 per cent, amusement 6.9 per cent, tobacco 1.2 per cent, candy 0.8 per cent, and miscellaneous items 11.1 per cent.

ANGOLA CONVICT IS STILL FREE

Two Men Who Escaped Are Captured Soon After Getaway

ANGOLA, La., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Eluding pursuit which overtook two fellow convicts with whom he executed a freakish break from the Louisiana penitentiary, James "Slim" Hall, with a bad criminal record and believed armed, late today baffled a strong posse which sought to corner him before he could escape into southern Mississippi.

Irvin Moon and Fred Middleton, serving robbery and burglary sentences respectively as habitual offenders, who with Hall escaped from the Angola state penal farm after disarming a guard and herding ten other convicts and a work foreman along with them, were caught after relatively brief freedom.

Hall, serving 9 to 14 years as a robbery second offender, proved more difficult to catch, and as more than two score trusty and freemen guards beat the underbrush and roved over wooded hills near the farm vigilantly but vainly hunting him, belief grew that he might have successfully crossed the state line.

Hall, Middleton and Moon overpowered a guard and took his gun away while working with nine other prisoners in a carpenter's detail.

Abducting the foreman as a hostage, and prevailing upon the other detail prisoners and another convict group they encountered to accompany them by force or persuasion, they fled in a truck beyond the prison reservation borders.

The other prisoners, unwilling to escape, lost no time returning. Middleton was quickly surrounded by the posse and Moon was taken not long after.

Since neither Middleton nor Moon was armed when caught, Hall was believed to have the gun taken from the guard.

Hall is under concurrent robbery sentences from both Caddo and Winn parishes. Middleton is a third offender under 7 to 9 years for robbery in Natchitoches parish, and Moon is a sixth offender serving five years from Caddo for burglary.

Coroner Finds Live Negro When He Goes To Conduct Inquest

Responding to a telephone call in which it was stated that a negro had been fatally injured in an automobile accident near the Guy Stubbs place on the Rayville road, Dr. C. L. Mengis, parish coroner, found Julius Hill, the victim, calmly sitting before a fire. He had been only slightly injured.

When the coroner told members of the negro's family that persons he visited were supposed to be dead, they informed him he was the first doctor they had ever seen who wanted a patient to die before he arrived.

The negro was struck by an automobile driven by Herman Bailey of Sterlington in what was said to have been an unavoidable accident. Hill, who has been partly paralyzed, mentally defective and blind in one eye since he was two years old, was stooping over in the road to pick up a stalk of sugar cane when hit by the car.

Since the negro was not a subject for an inquest, Dr. Mengis had him taken to the negro ward of St. Francis sanitarium. He remained there only a short time, returning home when it was found that he was suffering only from bruises.

SETTLEMENT OF BONUS PROBLEM SEEMS CERTAIN

Saved by the senate during last congress from acting upon the demands that full payment of the adjusted service certificates be made at once, President Roosevelt can look for no such help this winter. Informal polls of the senate and house of representatives show that a majority of the members of both houses favor immediate full payment, with a likelihood that sufficient votes could be mustered to over-ride a presidential veto.

With this situation in view, administration aides are already at work upon various proposed plans for meeting the bonus problem, in the hope that a compromise which may effect full payment but at the same time satisfy many of those insisting upon early action can be reached.

There is no indication that President Roosevelt nor his leading advisors feel that the government's present financial condition warrants full payment of the certificates, involving an outlay of approximately $2,000,000,000 any more than it did one or three years ago. Nevertheless, they realize that sentiment in favor of payment, which reached a climax when the American Legion national convention voted five to one for payment, is now so strong that either the full compensation, or an acceptable compromise, will have to be made.

This despite the fact that there still remains more than ten years before the certificates mature, and that full payment of their face value at this time would cost the federal government nearly twice the amount originally intended.

The administration has virtually decided to offer the bonus payment adherents a plan whereby the interest payments upon the fifty per cent loans made three years ago would be forgiven.

General Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans affairs, after a recent call at the White House, said he was hopeful that the executive committee of the Legion, when it meets in Indianapolis on November 23, will agree to such a plan.

The proposal would certainly receive almost unanimous support in congress. But where it would be sufficient, despite the fact that the interest payments on the loans, if carried through until maturity date, would virtually eat up the remaining principal, appears dubious.

Frank H. Belgrano, new national commander of the Legion, when questioned upon the suggested plan, pointed to the overwhelming vote by the national convention in favor of full payment, and declared that this vote was a mandate to Legion officials to work for full payment.

The only other alternative yet proposed which appears to some officials as feasible, and which is believed might prove a successful compromise if approved, is the old Garner plan submitted to congress in 1930 when the Texan was yet the Democratic minority leader of the house.

Under the plan suggested by the new vice president, veterans who desire to cash their certificates at the present time would be permitted to do so. They would not, however, receive the face value of the certificates, but their present value, which is substantially under the maturity amount.

The veteran would nevertheless, receive the full principal of his certificate, together with four per cent compound interest since 1925. What he would lose, if accepting payment and relinquishing his certificate, would be the interest which would accumulate between now and 1945.

What this plan would cost the government if put into effect now has not and can not be accurately estimated. This because those who strongly favor this proposal feel certain that many veterans, not hard pressed for funds at the present time, would permit their certificates to mature in order to receive the full interest payment. There would be, however, a savings of hundreds of millions of dollars to the government under the immediate full payment plan, it is generally conceded.

Edwin S. Morrissey, Cincinnati attorney, believes the appalling number of automobile accident deaths would be lowered if each driver were required to take a solemn oath in regular courts to obey traffic laws.

What Will Daring Lady Godiva Do Next?

Now Modern Beauties Even Are Emulating the Famous Heroine By Riding the Tops of Airplanes

LADY GODIVA!

For almost 900 years now that name has represented to all women the spirit of gallantry in their sex. And down through these nine centuries many women living in all climes and in all ages have sought in one way or another to emulate the spectacular and courageous feat of the English noblewoman who rode unclad through the streets of Coventry on a horse to save her subjects from oppressive taxation.

So diversified have these imitations of Lady Godiva been recently that one cannot but wonder what her modern female admirers can do next to pay homage to her memory.

For centuries in Coventry, during the great fairs held every few years there, pageants and festivals have celebrated the remarkable ride of this heroine of the Dark Ages. A great feature of these fairs generally is the passing through the town on horseback of a beautiful woman—covered with little more than her long and luxuriant hair—through the very streets of the town where the original Lady Godiva won her niche in history's gallery of courageous and self-sacrificing women.

But mechanical progress, as the philosophers of this Twentieth Century are fond of saying, changes all things. No longer are those who wish to celebrate the notable achievement of Coventry's most famous lady satisfied to be carried with solemn majesty through the streets of a city. One need not designate any particular community for, from quaint old Coventry, the custom of reminding the world in a spectacular fashion of Godiva has spread to the far corners of the earth.

Compare the old prints reproduced on this page with the modern photographs. Innovations, it will be seen, have been made in the traditional custom. Nowadays, the Lady Godivas ride with hair flying not only on high-jumping horses but also on airplanes.

It is true that these beautiful and daring young women usually find it wiser to emulate their heroine dressed in something a little more substantial than their own hair. In fact, because of the widespread custom of bobbing the locks modern ladies sometimes find it necessary to repair to the hairdresser's and borrow the raven or blonde tresses clipped from the lovely noggin of some beauty of a previous generation. But if they deviate in this way from the original they remain true to the spirit of their idol.

Psychologists tell us that the famous ride of Lady Godiva had far-reaching effects, much more extensive than the mere lifting of oppressive taxes from the purses of the good citizens of Coventry. What she did seems to us today a breaking of barriers that hemmed in the women of her time. In the Eleventh Century women were held by their husbands to be mere chattels. They belonged to their lords and masters just as did the fireplace in the home, or the furniture.

It would be an exaggeration to say that Godiva's stirring deed changed all this. No single act of any single individual ever overcomes a tradition or custom. Habits are worn away often as slowly as stones upon which water drips one drop at a time.

But certainly Lady Godiva was one of the first and greatest of the feminists. She proved that women could be something more than chattels and playthings for the so-called stronger sex. She proved that women could force the changing of laws, had minds of their own and knew how to use them.

Godiva was born in 1040 and died only forty years later. She was a Saxon lady, the wife of Leofric, Earl of Mercia and Lord of Coventry. The Earl was like all of the masters of men of his time. He believed that commoners were only on earth to furnish the means for him to live in luxury, conduct exciting wars and indulge himself in expensive whims.

The woman he married was beautiful. When she undid her hair at night it reached almost to her feet. It was wavy, golden hair. But even more unusual than her great comeliness was Godiva's goodness of heart. Her charitable work was the talk of the countryside. No cottage was so humble or mean that the wife of the Earl of Coventry had not visited it, bringing food for the hungry and medicine for the ill.

The capricious, cruel Earl was amused by his wife's tenderness to the poor. Each time she spent some of the royal funds in helping the helpless of the county, he would impose more taxes. Vainly the citizens pleaded with him that they were being impoverished by the heavy duties levied on them.

Finally, the desperate taxpayers appealed to the Earl's kind-hearted spouse. The first time she found her husband in a good mood she asked him to remit the tolls.

Jokingly, he said: "If you love the poor so much, surely you would make a great sacrifice for them, Godiva?"

"I would do anything you suggest, my lord," she said humbly.

"Would you ride naked through the streets of Coventry on a white charger?" Godiva did not hesitate. "I would, my lord, if in return you would lift these oppressive taxes."

"It is agreed," cried the Earl.

It was agreed and it was done. But the Earl had not counted on two things—Godiva's long hair and the adoration in which the people of the town held her.

Before starting off on her never-to-be-forgotten ride, the Lady of Coventry issued proclamation that all persons should keep within doors and shut their windows as she rode past. With her beautiful white body draped only in her wealth of hair, Godiva set out through the silent and deserted streets of the town.

But one man, the legend says, looked through the shutters of his home.

He was Tom, a tailor, and was struck blind, supposedly in punishment for his crime of disobeying the order. It was this unfortunate man's fate to go down in history's pages as "Peeping Tom" and all men who look when it is forbidden are called "Peeping Toms" after him.

All of the good citizens of Coventry who had not surreptitiously stolen a glance at the nude lady felt rewarded for their obedience to Godiva's wishes for not having looked. They say a cat can look with impunity upon a king but poor Tom the Tailor found peeping at a high-born lady very costly.

When Leofric learned that his wife had outwitted him and taken the ride through the town he was furious. But being an English knight he felt he had to keep his word and he revoked the oppressive tax laws.

Today, however, we find girls playing her role in many cities most of whose inhabitants never heard of Coventry. For example, just glance at the photograph of Miss Evelyn Thompson taking the novel costume jumping race garbed somewhat as Lady Godiva was.

Miss Thompson won the race. Certainly Lady Godiva, who dared expose her shapely form hidden only by her hair, might have been scandalized if she could have seen her Baltimore emulator go over the barrier with hair flying indecorously. Of course, Miss Thompson has something on (if not too much) as she goes galloping and leaping aboard her steed on the course on the huge estate of Victor P. Noyes.

Even more modern was the ride that Miss Louise Fernande is shown taking. Dressed in a bathing suit, Louise says: "California, here I come!" to Los Angeles from the eminence of a plane-top. It was a good way of showing how far women have come along in the matter of daring since brave Lady Godiva's time.

But the city fathers of Agua Caliente, Mexico, must have decided that Lady Godiva should be honored also in the traditional way, for another photo shows Miss Alice Caldwell, of Los Angeles, riding a white steed. Miss Caldwell had plenty of competition for the little job for thousands of other California girls wanted to play Lady Godiva. Alice was chosen as the most graceful and beautiful and also as being the ideal type to represent the heroine of Edward the Confessor's time.

Yes, if you compare the old print and the modern photographs on this page you must admit that the Godiva business has advanced a long way since the days of the original.

What Will Daring Lady Godiva Do Next?

LADY GODIVA!

For almost 900 years now that name has represented to all women the spirit of gallantry in their sex. And down through these nine centuries many women living in all climes and in all ages have sought in one way or another to emulate the spectacular and courageous feat of the English noblewoman who rode unclad through the streets of Coventry on a horse to save her subjects from oppressive taxation.

So diversified have these imitations of Lady Godiva been recently that one cannot but wonder what her modern female admirers can do next to pay homage to her memory.

For centuries in Coventry, during the great fairs held every few years there, pageants and festivals have celebrated the remarkable ride of this heroine of the Dark Ages. A great feature of these fairs generally is the passing through the town on horseback of a beautiful woman—covered with little more than her long and luxuriant hair—through the very streets of the town where the original Lady Godiva won her niche in history's gallery of courageous and self-sacrificing women.

But mechanical progress, as the philosophers of this Twentieth Century are fond of saying, changes all things. No longer are those who wish to celebrate the notable achievement of Coventry's most famous lady satisfied to be carried with solemn majesty through the streets of a city. One need not designate any particular community for, from quaint old Coventry, the custom of reminding the world in a spectacular fashion of Godiva has spread to the far corners of the earth.

Compare the old prints reproduced on this page with the modern photographs. Innovations, it will be seen, have been made in the traditional custom. Nowadays, the Lady Godivas ride with hair flying not only on high-jumping horses but also on airplanes.

It is true that these beautiful and daring young women usually find it wiser to emulate their heroine dressed in something a little more substantial than their own hair. In fact, because of the widespread custom of bobbing the locks modern ladies sometimes find it necessary to repair to the hairdresser's and borrow the raven or blonde tresses clipped from the lovely noggin of some beauty of a previous generation. But if they deviate in this way from the original they remain true to the spirit of their idol.

Psychologists tell us that the famous ride of Lady Godiva had far-reaching effects, much more extensive than the mere lifting of oppressive taxes from the purses of the good citizens of Coventry. What she did seems to us today a breaking of barriers that hemmed in the women of her time. In the Eleventh Century women were held by their husbands to be mere chattels. They belonged to their lords and masters just as did the fireplace in the home, or the furniture.

It would be an exaggeration to say that Godiva's stirring deed changed all this. No single act of any single individual ever overcomes a tradition or custom. Habits are worn away often as slowly as stones upon which water drips one drop at a time.

Here is a good catch that your friends will find impossible and yet it seems absurdly simple. Take an ordinary wooden match—not a safety, but the large size—and have your friend hold it in his fingers as pictured. He cannot break it, no matter how hard he may try. All you have to do is insist that he keep his fingers straight and not rest his hand on anything.

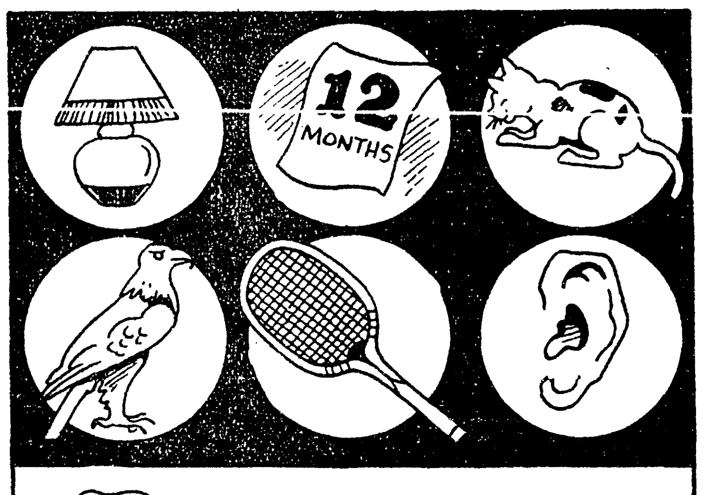
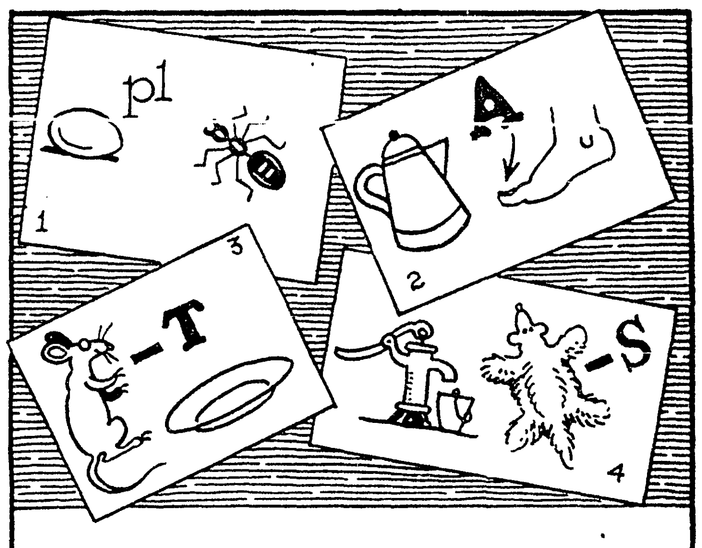
Can you catch at least 16 lbs. of fowl for the Smiths' Thanksgiving dinner? You are required to start from any four stars you choose and then trace along on the zigzag lines to the birds. Add the four numbers to see if you win this maze game.



By taking the initial letters of the six objects shown above and then rearranging them we can spell the name of a vegetable. Can you do it?



What four vegetables do these pictures represent?

Use your pencil to fill in all the little sections in which you see a dot to make a handsome picture. Sometimes a pretty effect is obtained by filling in the dotted sections with one solid color, and then coloring the other spaces with different tints, making the drawing look like a stained-glass window.

You will then see what you may have for your Thanksgiving dinner.
